HOOVER VIEWS MIMIC BATTLE OF U. S. FLEET

Massed Naval Strength of Nation Appears in 3-Hour Review.

GUNS ROAR SALUTE TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Plane Squadrons Spring From Wide Decks of Giant Carriers.

SINGLE CRAFT HOOKS TO HUGE DIRIGIBLE

President, Speeding Home, Wires Appreciation to Commander.

Aboard U. S. S. Saratoga off Cape Henry, Va., May 20 (A.P.).—For more than three hours the massed naval strength of the United States played games of mimic warfare on the Southern drill grounds today, with the commander in chief, President Hoover, looking on.

Battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and airplanes by the hundreds took part in the great naval pageant and maneuvers, with the huge noncombatant airship Los Angeles, circling above as a spectator. Only one element of the maneuvering involved the giant silver dirigible. That was the successful accomplishment for the first time at sea of the booking on of an airplane in flight beneath the ship and its relaunching in air to return to the Saratoga.

The President viewed the great fleet commanded by Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States Fleet, sweep past from the bridge of the new 8-inch-gun cruiser Salt Lake City.

Force Steams Southward.

At daylight the force was steaming southward far off shore under blue skies flecked with soft white clouds but with a haze near the horizon that narrowed the range of vision.

Admiral Pratt, aboard the battleship Texas, had ordered his command by divisions into formation in which they were to pass the Salt Lake City at a given point at sea at 11 a. m.

First rolled the two big V-type submarines built for deep sea work with the fleet. Then came the destroyer forces with a light cruiser. Behind steamed the cruiser division of 6-inch gun ships and then the battleships organized in three divisions, moving in parallel columns. Last of all steamed the Saratoga and Lexington, cluttered with planes, and flanking each carrier on either hand came four escorting destroyers that trailed them in every twist and circle of the day.

Los Angeles Passes Over.

Long before the reviewing point was reached a silvery ball in the sky astern gave notice that the Los Angeles was rapidly overhauling the surface vessels. She passed over the fleet as it swung in the single maneuvers of the southward trip, a swing obliquely to port by the whole column, spread out over miles of sea in order to hit the reviewing point more exactly.

The Salt Lake City was still vague in the haze and far off to starboard when the faint, distant drumming of the first salute guns of the advance guard came throbbing back to the ears of those aboard the Saratoga. Just as the guns rumbled into the 21-gun national salute that the President and the flag alone receive, six

Mangin May Obtain Davis Cup Position

Georgetown Star Will Join American Squad if Mexico Is Beaten.

Philadelphia, May 20 (A.P.).—Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the United States Davis Cup committee, announced tonight that Gregory Mangin, of Georgetown University, would join the Davis Cup Squad and be taken abroad, provided the Americans come through the tie with Mexico at Chevy Chase, Washington, D. C., later this week. The United States Team plans to sail on the Berengaria June 3.

Mangin won the Eastern intercollegiate tennis championship in 1929 and was runner-up to Berkley Bell, of Austin, Tex., for the national intercollegiate title. His home is in Newark, N. J.

Bell also will accompany the United States Team abroad if it survives the American zone matches. Whether he and Mangin get into the European zone play will depend on their showing at Wimbledon and other places, Mr. Wear said. Other members of the squad are George Lott, Chicago; John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J.; Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., and John Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif. This quartet defeated Canada, 5—0, in the first American zone tie here last week.

Johnson-Reed Clash Marks Pact Hearing

Californian Objects to Attitude of Delegate Toward Chase.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

A dramatic clash between Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator Reed provided an unexpected ending to yesterday's session of the foreign relations committee, which is investigating the London naval treaty. The right of a senator to negotiate a treaty and then act as judge of his own work in connection with ratification appeared directly involved.

Senator Johnson became aroused by a disparaging remark which Senator Reed injected respecting testimony of Admiral J. V. R. Chase, member of the general board, who had been subjected to prolonged questioning.

Cutting short the activities of Mr. Reed, on the ground that he was misquoting the witness, Senator Johnson warned his colleague that he was displaying the role of proponent, advocate, witness, judge and jury at the same time and therefore should be

LUMBER INTERESTS HOLD TARIFF'S FATE

House Surrender to Permit Levy for Northwest Is Forecast.

CONFEREES MEET AGAIN

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Northwest lumber interests yesterday had the fate of the tariff bill in their hands after fighting all these months with their backs against the wall.

If anything has been definite as to the administration's attitude toward the bill since the beginning of its consideration back in the extra session, it was that it was definitely opposed to a levy on lumber. And so strong did this attitude seem to be that the House in that admittedly high-binding bill which it first turned out would give the Northwesterners nothing but a little tax on shingles.

Over in the Senate, where there are such capable workers as Senator McNary, the lumber people fared better and after a trade that was instrumental in breaking up the coalition and changing the complexion of the entire bill, they obtained $1.50 per 1,000 board feet on all softwood lumber.

They thought they were riding high then, only to become almost completely disheartened a few weeks ago when the measure went back to the House for separate votes on controverted items. The House then knocked out not only the levy on lumber, but that on shingles which it had previously given.

There came then the deadlock between the conferees on the flexible provision in which the President is so vitally interested. Senator Dill, of Washington, traded his vote which he had previously given against the administration on this item for lumber. It was enough to cause a tie, which Vice President Curtis broke in favor of the administration.

Senator Trammell, of Florida, who had previously voted for the Senate

ROBERTS CONFIRMED FOR SUPREME COURT

Approval by Senate Marked by Absence of Debate and Record Vote.

SUCCESSOR TO SANFORD

(Associated Press.)

Without debate or a record vote, the Senate yesterday quickly confirmed the nomination of Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

In marked contrast to the bitter controversy ending in the rejection of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, who was previously nominated by President Hoover for this post, the nomination of Mr. Roberts was declared confirmed yesterday within a minute after it was taken up by the Senate.

The lawyer who prosecuted the Govrnment's oil fraud cases against Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheny will take the seat on the Supreme Court left vacant by the death of Edward T. Sanford, of Tennessee.

Roberts is a Republican, although not identified with any of the factions of the Pennsylvania party. He is 55 years old and has never before served on the bench. He is recognized as an outstanding lawyer and was appointed by President Coolidge to serve with Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, as special counsel for the Government in the oil fraud prosecutions.

When the nomination was reached yesterday in regular order in the Senate, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, inquired whether it had been unanimously reported by the judiciary committee. Chairman Norris, of that committee, replied that it was unanimously for the nominee.

"I have no objection to the confirmation of this nomination," said Senator Robinson, and in the next breath Vice President Curtis declared the nomination confirmed.

A bitter contest also marked consideration by the Senate of the ap-

Poison Killer Avoids Death In Chair by Plea of Guilty

James Baker, Confessed Slayer of Watchman, Halts Trial to Admit Second Degree Murder; State to Ask Baumes Law Life Term.

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—A life sentence in Sing Sing Prison instead of death in the electric chair is faced by James Baker, confessed killer of Henry Gaw, who pleaded guilty today to second degree murder.

Counsel for Baker, on trial charged with first degree murder for the poisoning of the laboratory watchman, halted the court proceedings at the start of the second day, after eight jurors had been selected, and entered the new plea. Baker had pleaded not guilty to the first degree indictment.

The district attorney announced that a mandatory life sentence under the Baumes "fourth offense" law would be sought for Baker because of his four previous convictions of felonies.

Confronted with records from the Ohio State Penitentiary and Reformatory, Baker admitted he had been sentenced from Warren in 1917 to a one-year term for burglary and larceny and in 1918 to a similar term for assault with intent to kill.

He received a two-and-a-half-year sentence in Warren in 1920 for burglary and in 1923, in Haskell, Mo., received an eight-year penitentiary term for robbery, the record disclosed.

State alienists reported Baker to be "medically and morally insane, but legally sane."

Baker, arrested in Detroit after eluding officers for more than a year, was accused of killing Gaw a year ago last December in the Guggenheim laboratory in the Bronx. He confessed to the Gaw murder and told of eight other poisonings, of which no record could be found.

GRAF SIGHTED PASSING OVER CANARY ISLES

All Is Going Well on Air Giant En Route to Brazil.

RADIO KEEPS WORLD POSTED ON PROGRESS

German Zeppelin Will Be First Dirigible to Cross Equator.

LONG ATLANTIC TRIP MAY END TOMORROW

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, May 21 (Wednesday) (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin passed over this town, chief port of the Canary Islands, at 3 a. m. G. M. T., 10 p. m. E. S. T.

Seville, Spain, May 20 (A.P.).—With evenly purring motors the Graf Zeppelin tonight swept along, under the brilliant tropical skies, toward the Equator, which no dirigible ever before had crossed, on her voyage to the New World.

All was well aboard the giant of the air. Only a slight change in her route had manifested itself in dispatches. Friedrichshafen learned by radio that Capt. Lehmann had veered westward slightly in the direction of Madeira.

Reported by Steamers.

Well past the half of her first 1,000 sea miles, the airship was reported by several steamers in the vicinity of the Canary Islands, first of the few dots upon the South Atlantic, of which the German craft's 22 passengers had hoped to catch a glimpse of before arrival in Pernambuco, Brazil, possibly on Thursday.

Wireless advices in the early evening indicated that the Graf had covered a total of more than 2,000 miles since leaving Friedrichshafen on Sunday.

She took the air for the second leg of her journey at Seville at 9:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m., Eastern standard time) today amid scenes of great enthusiasm, with a distinguished passenger list and many thousands of pieces of mail.

Began Long Hop Early.

One of her passengers was Mrs. Mary Pierce, an American woman whose last Graf voyage nearly upset two diplomatic offices.

Cadiz reported the graceful ship passing out of view upon the broad Atlantic at 4:45 a. m., Eastern standard time, when she bade farewell to the Old World for her adventurous trip. Again at 10:15 a. m. the Graf was reported picked up by wireless by ships which in turn informed the Canary Islands. A further item in the chronology of her travels was the report of the British steamship Orita, 350 miles of the Canaries, which sighted her at 12:24 p. m., Eastern standard time.

Las Palmas, largest city of Great Canary Island, heard from several

HOUSE REPORT TO FAVOR BILL ON CITY FUNDS

Opposition of Simmons Fails to Halt Moore Fiscal Measure.

URGES COMMISSION FIXING FEDERAL AID

District Auditor States That He Approves Proposition.

ONLY SURPLUS KEPT TAX DOWN, HE AVERS

Author of Proposal Says Idea Is Only to Agree on Fair Amount.

Notwithstanding the opposition of Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, the House District committee will make a favorable report on the Moore fiscal relations bill, it appeared yesterday after a hearing on the measure.

The bill, designed to end a controversy that has raged for years, would create a commission to study the fiscal relationship between the Federal and District governments and to recommend what amount Uncle Sam should contribute toward the cost of running the city.

Had there been more time, the committee would have approved the bill yesterday. As it was, the motion of Representative Mary Norton (Democrat), of New Jersey, for a favorable report was superseded by one made by Representative John W. Palmer (Republican), of Missouri, to adjourn. The hour for adjournment having arrived, Acting Chairman McLeod had no choice but to put the Palmer motion.

Statement by Moore.

At the outset of the hearing Representative R. Walton Moore (Democrat), Virginia, declared that his bill should be approved by the members regardless of what they thought of the present lump sum contribution of $9,000,000 that is made to the city by the Federal Government.

"Some think that $9,000,000 is too much," he said, "others think it is not enough. All, it seems to me, ought to be interested in finding out what would be a fair sum."

To insist on continuing the contribution of $9,000,000 when conditions are always changing, Mr. Moore said, would be "absurd."

Objections by Simmons.

Representative Simmons, who is chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that writes the District appropriation bill, said he was opposed to the Moore bill on two grounds.

First, he said, joint commissions are never satisfactory for the reasons that House members do all the work and Senate members take all the credit.

Second, he said, the proposed fiscal commission would have on it officials outside of Congress and three District civilians who are in no way responsible to Congress.

Moreover, Mr. Simmons said, there would be a question as to what com-

Business in Washington

By WILLIAM F. HAM,
President Potomac Electric Power Co.

Washington appears to be in excellent position now, and faced by growing prosperity, but I am unable to feel quite so optimistic over conditions throughout the counttry at large.

Reports from various sections show that, bad as the situation was in January and February, it is even less satisfactory now, and I feel that we are in for a long, trying period of readjustment, with conditions growing worse before they improve.

Babson's reports show that earnings of 148 industrials in the first quarter this year were 24 per cent less than a year ago, while class A railroads declined 21 per cent. My present opinion is that the figures for April will be at least equally discouraging.

It must be recognized, of course, that 1929 was a phenomenal year. The entire period from 1922 to 1929, in fact, showed tremendous advances in prohibition caused principally by increases in mass-production facilities and increases in distribution made possible by the spread of installment buying.

This last factor, tying up as it does the earning capacity of the working man is, in my opinion, making recuperation much more difficult and prolonging the readjustment period.

The Government building program, on the other hand, offers a highly promising future for the District, not only because of governmental operations alone, but also because of the readjustments of private enterprises which become compulsory thereby.

WILLIAM F. HAM.

The money we must put into circulation for building and moving our plants to make room for Government requirements is merely indicative of similar activities throughout the District.

It is noteworthy, too, that the population of the District is gaining steadily and rapidly, which is always a factor making for prosperity anywhere. Thus, while it may be that the immediate future here may not be quite as flourishing as it was during the abnormal conditions last year, nevertheless I feel confident that Washington is in an enviable position

Big Cities Give Advantage to Ticket Headed by Cabinet Member.

Wet Candidates Run Third as Tabulations Are Slowly Made Through State.

Philadelphia, May 20 (A.P.).—Large pluralities rolled up for the slate backed by the Vare organization in the City of Philadelphia gave Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and Francis Shunk Brown a lead of nearly two to one in their fight for the senatorial and gubernatorial Republican nominations in today's primary on the basis of returns tabulated less than three hours after the polls closed.

Returns from 1,092 districts, of which 410 were in Philadelphia, gave Davis 97,266 compared with 54,290 for United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy. The same districts gave Brown 94,293 and Gifford Pinchot, his principal opponent, 55,823.

The wet candidate for the Senate, Francis H. Bohlen, polled 31,284, and his running mate for governor, Thomas W. Phillips, jr., 34,737 from the same districts.

Philadelphia Goes to Davis.

The 410 Philadelphia districts gave Davis 58,555; Grundy, 9,663, and Bohlen, 18,797. The same districts gave Brown 58,361; Pinchot, 8,244, and Phillips, 19,599.

Scattered returns from upstate counties indicated large pluralities for Grundy and Pinchot in the smaller cities and in the rural districts.

The first 24 districts of Erie county were unique among the early returns in that they gave Phillips more votes than either of his two opponents. These districts gave the wet candidate 1,666 votes, compared to Pinchot's 1,344 and Brown's 988. In these districts Phillips ran far ahead of his slate, but Bohlen also ran ahead of his opponents.

Republican voters of Pennsylvania trooped to the polls today to give their verdict in one of the most extraordinary primary elections ever held in this State. Between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 Republicans were estimated to have cast their ballots when the polls closed at 7 p. m. (E. S. T.).

Senate Agents Watch Voting.

Under the watchful eyes of investigators of the United States Senate committee on campaign funds, the majority party voters decided between United tates Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in their contest for the Republican nomination for senator, and between Francis Shunk Brown, of Philadelphia, and Gifford Pinchot, Pike County forester, in their battle for the gubernatorial nomination.

The situation was given added complications by the presence of an entire wet ticket, headed by Prof. Francis H. Bohlen, of Philadelphia, and Thomas W. Phillips, jr., of Butler, for senator and governor, respectively.

The Democratic party had no contests for major offices, their choice of Sedwick Kistler, of Lock Haven, for the Senate, and John M. Hemphill for governor, being unopposed.

While the individuals heading the Republican ballots today are such that national interests has been drawn to Pennsylvania's primary, the issues were numerous and involved Senator Grundy.

Senator Grundy, appointed to take the seat made vacant by the Senate's refusal to seat William S. Vare,

DISTRIBUTION LAGS, ADVERTISERS HEAR

Conditions Represent Pause in Business Progress, Federation Told.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Present economic conditions represent "a pause in the progress of business" while distribution methods catch up with modern scientific developments in mass production, Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, told delegates to the convention of the Advertising Federation of America at their annual banquet at the Willard Hotel last night.

Pointing out that some may think that the more than $1,000,000,000 spent annually for advertising is too much, Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times, declared that "the way to bring back prosperity is by hard work and sales effort, of which advertising is a prime essential. The lesson for today is to work and advertise our way back to our normal state, which is prosperity and progress."

William R. Ewald, of Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit, was reelected chairman of the Advertising Club board at a meeting of club presidents at noon, the ballot automatically continuing him as a vice president of the federation.

At a meeting of the affiliated American Community Advertising Association at the Washington Hotel, Charles F. Hatfield, of St. Louis, was reelected president, and Don Mowry, of New York, was retained as secretary and treasurer.

Speaking before the broadcast advertising group of the federation at the Willard yesterday afternoon, Frank A. Arnold, director of development for the National Broadcasting Co., declared that "the radio audience in the United States today totals 52,581,860, and 12,824,800 families in the United States, or 43 per cent, own and operate radio receiving sets."

These figures, he explained, were compiled recently by Dr. Daniel Starch, of Cambridge, Mass., in a survey made by individual canvassers who visited 18,024 families scientifically located by cross sections of the country. The figures showed further that more than 75 per cent of the sets now in operation have at least 5 tubes, and 81 per cent of the families listen in two hours or more daily. The total value of radio receiving sets, parts and accessories sold in the last nine months of 1929,

CANNON ERROR PLEA WINS FORGIVENESS

Bishop Admits Wrongdoing in Bucket Shop Deal and Says He Is Sorry.

FRESH CHARGES LOOM

Dallas, Tex., May 20 (A.P.).—The climax of a two weeks' religious controversy was reached today when Bishop James Cannon, jr., of Washington, D. C., begged and received the forgiveness of his church for speculating in stocks with a New York firm since taken over by Federal authorities.

Delegates to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South watched the gray-haired temperance leader tensely as he listened to the report of the episcopacy committee clearing him of blame. He sat with bowed head.

Then leaning heavily on his crutch, Cannon came to the front of the platform and told the delegates what he had already told the committee—that he had made a mistake and that he was sorry.

His eyes filled with tears as he spoke and when he had finished and returned to his chair, for a long time his face was hidden from the audience.

Almost an anticlimax was the statement of G. T. FitzHugh, of Memphis, that he had additional charges to lodge, made available by the unsealing of the records of Kable & Co., the bishop's brokers. Mr. FitzHugh, leader of the score of laymen who brought the charges, grew angrily red as the committee's report was read by the secretary. He leaped to his feet when it was finished. Insistently he sought recognition from the chair and when it was gained, declared the committee had acted illegally. He promised a formal protest, including the new charges.

The gist of the committee's report was that it had once decided to bring Bishop Cannon to a church trial; that he had then expressed his contrition in a letter; that the committee had reconsidered its action, and decided that the interests of the church and the church's attitude toward speculation had already been demonstrated; and that a trial would not help matters further.

Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy and one of more than twenty laymen who preferred charges of stock market gambling against Bishop Cannon, tonight issued a statement upon the Cannon exoneration.

"The quality of mercy," said the statement, "is not sprained. It drop-

Baker Suspect's Clothes To Be Examined for Blood

Hygiene Laboratory Will Put Coat Under Microscope in Effort to Bolster or Discount Soldier's Confession He Slew Navy Clerk.

Evidence that will either bolster or disprove Private Harold L. Brewster's confession of the murder of Mary Baker is being sought by authorities as medical officers prepared last night to subject the soldier to mental observation.

Inspector William S. Shelby yesterday sent Brewster's clothes to the hygiene laboratory of the United States Public Health Service, where they will be microscopically examined for traces of blood.

Brewster told officials that after he had placed the girl's body in the culvert he wiped his blood-stained hands on the front of his coat. Afterward authorities say, he washed the stains from the clothing at Rice Pond on the Department of Agriculture experimental farm.

No report of the examination is expected for several days.

Search for the gun was conducted all yesterday in the woods skirting Cemetery road just west of the culvert. Department of Justice agents directed the quest of the men who scoured the dense foliage into which Brewster says he tossed the gun.

Justice agents are inclined to view Brewster's statements regarding the commission of the crime with more credence than other authorities. To substantiate his admission that he threw the gun from the left front wondow of Mary Baker's car, the agents hope for the recovery of the weapon.

Authorities at District police headquarters said yesterday that in order to prosecute Brewster it will be necessary to locate the weapon and trace it to his ownership before any hope can be entertained for an indictment. Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth last night averred that prosecution of the soldier on the sought the nomination of a platform of continuance of his strenuous labors in behalf of a high tariff. During the campaign he bitterly attacked the Vare organization of Philadelphia, of which William S. Vare is the titular head.

While Senator Grundy and Mr. Pinchot at no time during the campaign asked for voters for the other, they were united in their fight against the Philadelphia organization. The senator announced after he had voted today that he had cast his ballots for Mr. Pinchot for governor. Mr. Pinchot declined to reveal his choice for senator.

The major opposition to Mr. Grundy and Mr. Pinchot was supplied by the candidates slated by the Vare organization. Mr. Davis, Secretary of Labor under three Presidents, was given the Vare indorsement for senator after Mr. Vare himself had been persuaded to give up his plans to be a candidate in an effort to win vindication following his rejection by the Senate on account of his primary campaign expenditures.

Mr. Vare never fully recovered from a paralytic stroke suffered while his case was before the Senate.

Brown Runs With Davis.

Secretary Davis' running mate was Francis Shunk Brown, former State's attorney general and descendant of two Pennsylvania governors.

Pinchot campaigned as an out and out dry. Brown declared for a referendum on the question of the repeal of the State prohibition law. Davis and Grundy declined to be drawn into debate on this subject, stating that they stood by the Republican national platform as drawn up prior to the election of Herbert Hoover as President.

The wet candidates hammered insistently on the subject of prohibition and formulated plans to preempt a place on the ballot in November for a wet ticket if they were unsuccessful in obtaining the Republican nominations.

Guardianship matters affecting some 60,000 beneficiaries and other legal problems are being considered at a two-day session of the Fifth Legal Advisory Council of the Veterans' Bureau called by Gen. Frank T. Hines, director, and Maj. Wolff Smith, general counsel.

In addition to guardianship matters, which have particular reference to the uniform veterans' guardianship act enacted into law by more than half the States, and which serves to make uniform probate court procedure affecting many of the beneficiaries of the bureau, other topics under discussion are legislation affecting the Veterans' Bureau now pending in Congress and litigation affecting the bureau in a large number of war risk insurance suits now before Federal courts of the country.

The members present are Gen. James A. Drain, chairman, Spokane, Wash.; Mr. Volney P. Mooney, jr., Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. George M. Napier, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. Hazen I. GREEN TAKES G.O.P. SOUTH DAKOTA RACE

Dark Horse Beats Woman and Three Others as Choice for Governor.

PARTY URGES REFORMS

Pierre, S. D., May 20 (A.P.).—Warren E. Green, of Hazel, "dark horse" candidate, was nominated for governor by South Dakota Republicans at their State convention late today over four other candidates, including Miss Gladys Pyle, secretary of State.

Miss Pyle led in most of the ballots, but was defeated when Brooke Howell, of Frederick, her strongest opponent, withdrew. Howell's support then was thrown to Green, who received more than the majority of 55,995 necessary to nomination on the eleventh ballot. The final vote was: Green, 64,223; Pyle, 47,985; Trygstad, Brookings, 4,340; Howell, 3,441, and Carl Gunderson, Mitchell, none.

Campaigning without support of recognized party leaders, Miss Pyle surprised the State by leading in the primary, which, however, was indecisive, since she failed to poll the requisite 35 per cent vote.

The Republican nominee will oppose D. A. McCullough, of Sioux Falls, Democratic choice, in the general election in November.

The convention adopted a platform advocating reforms in State government practices.

London Times' Aid To Address Clubs

Wilmot Lewis to Speak at Annual Convention of Cosmopolitan Group.

Adoption of a tentative program for the annual convention of the Capital District Federation of Cosmopolitan Clubs, to be held here next Wednesday and Thursday, featured a meeting of the general committee on arrangements, of which Paul F. Brandstedt is chairman, at the home of William L. King, 3315 Ross place northwest, last night. A dinner and dance at the Congressional Country Club and a golf tournament at the Indian Spring Country Club were two of the outstanding features embraced in the program of entertainment.

Wilmot Lewis, correspondent for the London Times, will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner and dance, and the evening will feature "A Night in Radio Land," with Miss Hazel Arth, winner of the 1928 Atwater Kent contest, and other radio stars present in person.

Headquarters for the convention will be at the Carlton Hotel and visitors from the other member clubs at Baltimore, Richmond, Norfolk and Newport News, as well as local club members, will register Wednesday morning. At 1 o'clock, Gov. Fred J. Rice will call the federation to order for the first business meeting, while the visiting ladies will be taken sight seeing by the Washington Cosmopolitan ladies committee, of which Mrs. Paul F. Brandstedt is chairman. At the dinner and dance Wednesday night, James J. Fulton, first governor of the federation, will be presented with a jewel by the present governor.

bells—11 a. m.—sounded on the ships. They were on time to the dot at their sea-set rendezvous.

As the battleships trudged by and swung eastward into battle line to meet the coming assault of the cruisers and destroyers, the two airplane carriers with their nearly 200 fighting aircraft clustered on deck with motors already roaring in warm-up, sounded their salute to the President.

Planes Take to Air.

He was to see the strange sight of the planes spring into the air from the wide flying decks of the strange craft close at hand, however. The Salt Lake City had left her reviewing station and was speeding down toward the Saratoga. Aboard the Saratoga her men, more than 1,000 strong, were drawn up in line along that wide empty foredeck, at salute to the President. The Lexington had similarly dressed ship in his honor.

The carriers swung inshore to head into the light breeze to help their brood get into the air. The first little pursuit ship from the leading Saratoga went sweeping ahead down the deck in a frenzied clamor of sound. With amazing speed the entire fleet was into the air, one by one like seagulls frightened from a rocky roost. It was only a matter of minutes before they were gone and soon after them the Lexington's warrior flying crews took to the air.

The Salt Lake City and the two carriers swung to race away into the East, where the line of battleships had all but vanished.

The big ships were coming almost head on and in line. At a distance of 2 miles and on radio order from the fleet commander they swung sharp to port like soldiers on parade and a moment later were heading back eastward again in line of battle.

The air fleets above were waiting their own signal. Three planes came leaping down in close flying formation to sweep a swift triple bank of white smoke cloud down one side of the battle fleet. Three more crossed this with another cottony mass, and the big ships vanished utterly from view.

With the sun slowly dipping westward, President Hoover aboard the fast cruiser was far inshore toward the harbor and the bulk of the battle fleet was lost over the horizon seaward, taking its leisurely course to port.

Hoover Congratulates Pratt.

Aboard Hoover Train En Route to Washington, May 20 (A.P.).—President Hoover was speeding back to the Capital tonight after witnessing the first maneuvers of the United States ever staged in battle formation for a Chief Executive.

After it was over, he sent his congratulations to Admiral William V. Pratt, in the following message:

"The President wishes to congratulate the commander in chief of the fleet on the smart and efficient manner in which the individual units performed their tasks."

Before leaving the Salt Lake City, Mr. Hoover climbed down the narrow ladders into the hold of the vessel to examine the huge oil burning engines. On deck, he inspected the 8-inch guns of the craft, whose merits over 6-inch gun cruisers now are being debated by a Senate committee.

Plane Hooks to Dirigible.

Aboard the Dirigible Los Angeles, off the New Jersey Coast, May 20 (A.P.).—This great ship of the Navy's sky sailors was homeward bound late today after putting on some thrilling acrobatics for President Hoover off the Virginia Capes.

Commander C. A. Nicholson took off in a little biplane from the Saratoga and started up toward a metal trapeze hung under the Los Angeles. Four times he flew under the great bag and brought the hook on his upper wing almost within inches of the waiting bar and each time dived away.

Reporters aboard the ship thought a stiff breeze was driving him down, but they later learned he had been signaled each time to wait. The fifth time he received the signal to hook on, and as lightly as a bird settling on a tree he hung his plane on the bar. The reason for delaying was so that the maneuver which had never before been accomplished at sea might be done directly over the cruiser President Hoover was on, so that the haze that blotted out the coastline might not interfere with his view.

Commander Nicholson returned to the Saratoga after riding some minutes under the Los Angeles, and then the dirigible headed back for Lakehurst, N. J., which it left this morning.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover returned to Washington shortly after 10 o'clock last night from his trip to the Virginia Capes where he reviewed the United States fleet.

MORROW TO REMAIN IN SHORT-TERM RACE

Decides to Stay in Senate Contest for Unexpired Time of Edge.

KELLY LONE OPPONENT

Newark, N. J., May 20 (A.P.).—The Republican nomination for New Jersey's short term in the United States senate—a term of four months—was won today in the eyes of his followers by Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow.

The term, representing the lapse between the November lection and March 4, 1931, was caused by the resignation of Walter E. Edge, upon his appointment as Ambassador to France.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen withdrew his candidacy for the period yesterday and Franklin W. Fort, who supports the eighteenth amendment in opposition to Mr. Frelinghuysen and Mr. Morrow, is candidate for the six year term only. Only John A. Kelly, of Newark and Belmar, who describes himself as the original Republican candidate against prohibition, will make the race for both terms against Mr. Morrow.

The primary will be held June 17. Alexander Simpson, former State senator of Hudson County and an antiprohibitionist, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the long term, and Miss Thelma Parkinson, of Vineland, for the short term.

Ambassador Morrow, whose advocacy of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the return to the States of the power to control liquor traffic attracted Nation-wide attention, decided to remain in both contests after all-day conferences with his campaign managers.

Douglas G. Thompson, manager of the ambassador's campaign, said:

"It is Mr. Morrow's belief that since there is a vacancy for the short term in the Senate to be voted upon at the same time as the election for the regular senatorial term is to be held, the only honest and fair thing to the voters is to have the man who offers himself to the voters for the United States Senate stand for both terms."

CONGRESS MAY END SESSION BY JUNE 10

Date Depends, However, on Program for Disposition of London Pact.

HARBORS BILL PUSHED

(Associated Press.)

With the end of the sixteen months' tariff struggle in sight next week, congressional leaders are looking to an adjournment of Congress by June 10.

This depends, however, on some program for disposition of the London naval limitations treaty by the Senate. A move is well under way in the Senate to defer the treaty until next session, but sponsors of the pact believe they have the votes for ratification and may force the issue at this session.

Should an immediate showdown be forced House leaders point out that the Senate can have a special session of it sown next month to dispose of the pact. Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, yesterday predicted an early adjournment.

Only the Navy and second deficiency appropriation bills remain to be passed before all the neressary business for this session will be over. It is agreed that these can be put through before the June 10 date.

Administration leaders long ago gave up hope for disposing of any other of the law enforcement commission recommendations at this session except that relating to transfer of the prohibition enforcement service from the Treasury to the Justice Department. The transfer bill is now at the White House.

A final effort is being made to get a rivers and harbors bill to the Senate. House leaders have threatened to block an adjournment unless this legislation is enacted at this session, but the prospect for the ibll is still doubtful. Should the contest over the rivers and harbors measure and over the London naval treaty get out of hand, an adjournment before July is regarded as impossible.

Bill Urges Marine Band For G. A. R. Gathering

(Associated Press).

President Hoover would be authorized under a bill passed by the House yesterday to permit the United States Marine Band to give concerts at the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Cincinnati, Ohio, during the week beginning August 24, 1930.

The bill, introduced by Representative Hess (Republican), Ohio, now goes to the Senate.

LOS ANGELES TO ATTEND

The Anacostia Naval Air Station is grooming itself for the reception Saturday of the greatest fleet of naval aircraft ever seen in Washington as an incident to the eleventh running of the Curtiss Marine Trophy races for seaplanes over the Potomac River. On that day, 130 airplanes of all types from lumbering bombers to swift little fighters will pass in review over the city and will land at the air station afterward for inspection by visitors.

For more than four hours, the air will be filled with the roar of airplane engines as one event follows another in rapid succession. The aerial review of the battle fleet planes will occupy the half-hour from 12:30 o'clock until 1 o'clock, when the planes will begin to land, all to be on the ground by 1:40 o'clock. From 1:40 until 2 o'clock, Navy planes will stage a fighting exhibit, followed by 20 minutes of fighting by flying Marines. After they have finished, Lieut. R. S. Barnaby will drop from the airship Los Angeles in a glider and Lieut. Comdr. C. A. Nicholson will hook onto the big ship with an airplane.

The race itself will begin at 3 o'clock, and will last until the final plane has landed. While it is known that all planes in the fighter class will finish the 100-mile grind before the expiration of an hour, the slower planes will require somewhat longer.

Lieut. W. G. Tomlinson, who won the race last year in a Wasp-powered Curtiss Hawk at a record speed of 162.5 miles an hour, again will race this year.

According to Navy officials, no admission charge of any kind is to be made, the station being turned over to the public for the day. Seating accommodations have been arranged along the shore near the home pylon, where Lieut. M. B. Gardner will perform acrobatics after the race.

M'BRIDE AND BLAINE DISPUTE AT HEARING

Antisaloon Head Objects to Inquiry Methods of Wet Senator.

RUM SCORE CARD SHOWN

(Associated Press.)

A heated exchange between F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, and Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, threw the Senate lobby committee into an uproar yesterday and caused an early adjournment until today.

Mr. McBride took offense at the method employed by Senator Blaine, the only wet on the committee, in questioning him concerning a "score card" prepared by H. E. Dawes, superintendent of the South Dakota League, for "judging the qualifications of candidates for office."

Mr. McBride contended that Mr. Blaine was not asking questions, but was making statements, while Mr. Blaine accused the witness of not being candid.

The exchange continued until Mr. Blaine announced adjournment until today "because of the absence of a quorum and because of the attitude of this witness and the inability of one member to force the witness to answer."

McBride Statement Applauded.

In the midst of the dispute, applause broke out from some members of the audience at a statement by Mr. McBride. Pointing to William D. Upshaw, a former representative from Georgia and a dry, Mr. Blaine asked him to stand.

Mr. Upshaw rose and Senator Blaine asked him if he had applauded.

"I followed the applause and was delighted to join it for such a spunky and brave answer as Dr. McBride gave," Mr. Upshaw said.

Some members of the audience hissed this statement. The "score card" from which Mr. Blaine read would give a candidate for office 50 points for moral qualifications, prohibition sentiment and practice; 15 points for his official or civic record; 10 points for intellectual qualifications; 10 points for ability as a public speaker and experience, and a smaller number of points for other qualifications.

"You are pretty hard put this morning for something on the Antisaloon League to be dragged off into a proposed score card by one of the State superintendents which was never adopted and never used by the Antisaloon League of America," Mr. McBride said.

"Oh, this Antisaloon League superintendent says this has been copyrighted in order to protect the rights of the league in the publication," Mr. Blaine replied.

Dawes Lauds Score Card.

He read from a letter by Mr. Dawes a statement that "This method of judging candidates will be much more satisfactory than the old method of letters, questionnaires and vague, indefinite replies."

Mr. Blaine started to read more of the letter when Mr. McBride interrupted.

"Let me explain it," he said. "You have been explaining it right along. Let me explain something."

"You are on the witness stand," Senator Blaine retorted.

After another interchange, Mr. Blaine said:

"If you expect to get off this witness stand this summer let me advise you to answer these questions. There isn't a quorum here this morning and I shall not proceed with this examination until there is a quorum."

"You ask questions and I will answer them," Mr. McBride shot back.

Blaine Refuses to Continue.

"I am not going to sit here and quarrel with the witness," Mr. Blaine said. "I shall not go on for lack of a quorum."

"You ask questions and I will answer them," Mr. McBride repeated.

"I am going to insist that you be candid and answer these questions," Mr. Blaine said.

"Now, Mr. Senator," Mr. McBride responded, "let us don't get warmed up on this. I want to say to you——"

"You don't need to lecture anybody, Mr. McBride," Mr. Blaine snapped.

"——that I am not in the least fussed by your attitude," Mr. McBride resumed.

Senator Blaine then adjourned the session and Mr. McBride was directed to reappear again today.

After reading that the score card gave 50 points for "moral qualifications, prohibition sentiment and practice," Senator Blaine said:

Blaine Hits Score Methods.

"Now if he shouts dry and drinks dry, he gets 50 points in the score. Now, supposing that he shouted dry and drank wet, what would his score be?"

"Has he got it on the card?" Mr. McBride asked.

"No," Mr. Blaine said.

"You go ahead and read the card and find out," Mr. McBride directed.

"How many points would he be given?" persisted Senator Blaine.

"Probably he says that on the card," Mr. McBride replied.

"You would probably split that and make 25 points where he shouts dry and drinks wet," Mr. Blaine suggested.

"If that is his rule," Mr. McBride said, "it will be on that score card."

Senator Blaine then read that two points were given for church affiliations and observed:

"That will be disappointing to some of your church friends, won't it, who have bragged about the number of members of their church that have been elected to the United States Senate?"

"I think that score card would sound better," Mr. McBride replied, "if you would read it right straight and not try to put so much in as we go along."

Radio Prescription Practices Rapped

Johns Hopkins Expert Sees Diagnosis on Air as Dangerous.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Hugh H. Young, of John Hopkins University, testified before the Federal Radio Commission yesterday that the broadcasting of prescriptions by physicians for unknown patients is a "great public danger."

Dr. Young appeared as an expert witness for the commission at the hearing on complaints that Dr. John R. Brinkley, of Milford, Kans., who conducts a daily medical question box over Station KFKB, had made statements contrary to public interest. Representatives of the American Medical Association have urged the commission to revoke the license of the station.

Dr. Young said that in his opinion it would be practically impossible to make a scientifically accurate diagnosis without a physical examination and that he personally would never be willing to give "longe range" treatment for individual cases.

England Places New Ban on Thaw

American Fares No Better Under Regime of Labor Government.

London, May 20 (A.P.).—The Daily Herald, Labor party organ, today said that the Labor government will not permit Harry K. Thaw to land in Great Britain. Mr. Thaw is now aboard a liner bound for Southampton. In 1928 Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary of the Conservative government, refused him permission to land.

An official of the Labor government on May 16, questioned about Mr. Thaw's reported hope that the Laborites would give him a better welcome than the Conservatives, merely said, "I can't say what Thaw had in his mind when he left the United States. All you can do is wait until he arrives and see what happens."

The Herald tonight received a wireless from Mr. Thaw, aboard the French liner Ile de France, saying that he was "going to Havre." The Herald had previously sent him a wireless asking him whether he intended attempting to land in England.

L'ENFANT OPPOSED AS B STREET NAME

City Heads Tell Legislators Washington on Lincoln Should Be Honored.

NEW BILL INTRODUCED

B street northwest should be renamed, the District Commissioners yesterday told the House District committee in discussing a bill now before that committee, but it should be named Washington or Lincoln avenue and not L'Enfant avenue, as the bill provides.

Since that street will be the ceremonial street of he National Capital, supplanting historic Pennsylvania avenue as the street of state parades, funerals and marches, the present name seems out of place. The present B street will run by the new Government buildings which will be erected or which are under construction at the present time.

"It is fitting," the Commissioners said, "that the street should be given a name more dignified and more appropriate than the name it has at present, but we should give it a name relating more to something in our national history. We should name a square or court directly related to the city plan for the French planner, and leave this more important street for America to remember her greatest men by."

Representative Bacon, of New York, introduced the bill which would call B street L'Enfant avenue. Yesterday Representative Summers, of Washington, introduced another bill in the House which would call the beautiful thoroughfare that is to run through the Mall and hook up with the streets leading to Union Station and the Arlington Memorial Bridge "Memorial Boulevard."

INQUIRY ON TREATY MARKED BY TILT BETWEEN SENATORS

"the last man sitting at this table" to refrain from being fair.

Senator Borah, who refused to become a delegate because he was not willing to act as judge of his own work in connection with ratification, adjourned the public hearing before the spectators had recovered from the effect of Senator Johnson's indignant outburst. Meanwhile Senator Reed promptly announced that he had no further questions.

The flare-up came without warning at the fag end of Admiral Chase's testimony. Senator Black was asking for information and the admiral's replies were being closely followed by Senator Reed. It had become obvious earlier that the senator from Pennsylvania, intended to strike back against criticism of the delegation's accomplishments. After Admiral Chase had testified adversely, Senator Reed undertook to make matters uncomfortable for the naval expert. He asked rapid-fire questions about the thickness of various armour plate, desired to know how many inches represented the thickness in turrets, and other similar minute details. The admiral did not have the detailed figures at the end of his tongue and Senator Reed sought to make the most of it.

He asked a series of questions concerning the admiral's record, whether he was a graduate of the War College, whether he had ever been in command of the fleet, whether he had ever commanded an 8-inch gun in battle, whether he had ever been chief of naval operations. Senator Reed was openly hostile and the admiral was clearly uncomfortable.

But when Senator Reed returned to the attack later, Senator Johnson intervened unexpectedly, and charged that Senator Reed was not accurately repeating the admiral's testimony.

"Let us repeat the witness' testimony with some degree of accuracy," said Senator Johnson, interrupting Senator Reed. "I have not corrected you often, but when we repeat and when we comment, lets do it with some degree of accuracy—I do not say fairness."

"I'm not repeating his testimony. I'd just be wasting time," retorted Senator Reed. This remark aroused Senator Johnson.

"That sort of remark ought not be made by you of all people sitting at this table," he said. "You ought to be here in a judicial frame of mind and you ought to be here willing to listen to the testimony that is given here; sitting here as proponent, as witness, as advocate, as judge and as jury, you ought to be exceedingly fair with respect to the testimony of witnesses."

Senator Reed desisted at once from further questions and the committee went into a short executive session. Public hearings will be resumed at 10:30 o'clock this morning, with Admiral T. M. Reeves, member of the general board, as the first witness.

Admiral Chase read a prepared statement before answering questions. He disclaimed any intention of passing on political questions in connection with the London pact, but he added: "I am unable to imagine the possibility of an equitable agreement emerging from a naval limitation conference if technical considerations be ignored."

"Disregard of fundamental principles, from the standpoint of America's national defense, has made the treaty disadvantageous to the navy," he said. He stressed the importance of allowing America and not Great Britain and Japan to determine vital questions of American naval policy.

"Misfit" Held Inevitable.

"If a nation be required to cut its cloth according to a pattern not of its own choosing a misfit is inevitable." America has been the victim by the decision reached respecting the abandonment of the nation's 8-inch gun program and the adoption of the British 6-inch gun standard, he added. The 5--5-3 ratios of the Washington conference have not been maintained, the statement continued, and figures presented showed the cruiser category to be United States 5, Great Britain 5.58, Japan 3.44. Taking all types of ship, the grand total shows a ratio of United States 5, Great Britain 5.2 and Japan 3.26.

The admiral also objected to the effect of the escalator clause on the United States Navy and objected particularly to the fact that America is bound under the treaty to build cruisers by subcategories, in conformity with Great Britain's plan, instead of remaining free to build types needed by America to the limit allowed by the category.

Questions asked of Admiral Chase developed the fact that he agreed with Admiral Hilary Jones, Admiral Bristol, the general board and the Naval War College in respect to all essential matters of naval policy. But Admiral Chase admitted absolute disagreement with Admiral Pratt, who advised the American delegation in favor of accepting the London pact. Admiral Chase said the treaty permits Great Britain to replace 6-inch cruisers with 8-inch cruisers and also permits Great Britain to replace 83,350 tons of cruisers as compared to a replacement tonnage of 14,000 for the United States.

Question by Johnson.

"Is it necessary to maintain the ratio of 5-5-3 to defend our country and protect our commerce?" asked Senator Johnson.

"Yes, sir," replied the admiral.

"Is that ratio maintained by the London treaty?"

"No, sir."

Senator Hale continued hearing of the naval affairs committee. Rear Admiral Pringle, president of the Naval War College, was the first witness. He was with the delegation at London, but opposed concessions on cruisers and was not thereafter asked for advice, according to his testimony.

"Without disrespect, I hope you had a pleasant time," said Senator Tydings.

"You were not overworked," interposed Senator Hale.

"I was on duty to answer questions," the admiral replied.

Admiral Pringle's testimony is in line with that of Admiral Hilary Jones and naval authorities who have so far testified. He sees danger to the Navy in concessions made to Japan and he contends that America surrendered to Great Britain the American right to adhere to a program of cruisers adaptable to America's national defense needs and that Great Britain maintained the British program of getting the kind of ships suiting British needs.

Foresees Japanese Parity.

Rear Admiral H. E. Yarnell, chief of the Bureau of Engineering, also testified. He assisted Admiral Pratt and adopted the Pratt view respecting 6-inch-gun cruisers when he was informed that he was going to London. Prior to this time, he said, he had an open mind on the question of 6-inch and 8-inch gun cruisers. He stated that the treaty will help the Navy to a marked extent if the treaty limits are built up to. He admitted that America has not attained the promised parity by the London treaty, and he foresees a successful Japanese demand for parity with America at the next conference.

Under present conditions, America is at a great disadvantage in the event of war with Japan, he contends, and adds that America should lay down two ships to every one ship for the Japanese to be on the side of security.

Capt. W. W. Smyth, ordnance expert, and Commander H. C. Train testified during the afternoon. The proposed treaty terms with Japan are disadvantageous to the United States, according to the testimony.

ADVERTISING GROUP SELECTS OFFICERS

CAPPER WILL PRESIDE

Mr. Arnold said, was more than $3,000,000.

Edwin S. Friendly, business manager of the New York Sun, addressing the public utilities group, declared that public utilities are spending entirely too little in advertising and presenting their story to the public, and cited statistics which showed that the average amount spent for advertising by the utilities is only a fraction of that spent by other industries.

This session was opened by Owen A. Conner, financial editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and the general topic was the public's right to information about utilities. Mr. Conner dealt with the great difficulty confronting newspapers of sifting rumors pertaining to utilities, particularly those of proposed consolidations.

"There is a new one of those rumors in circulation almost every day," he declared. "Some can easily be rejected as groundless, but others look plausible and still others appear to be based on logical plans. The newspaper does not wish to snoop around for information to which it is not naturally entitled. It does not wish to jeopardize the projects of business men, either in the power field or any other, but it must, however, try at all times to procure the facts for its readers."

Want Public to Know.

B. J. Mullaney, president of the American Gas Association, declared that "the utilities very much want the public to know, and are increasingly disposed to employ advertising to that end."

Chain stores and their allied interests spent $200,000,000 for advertising last year in newspapers, R. W. Lyons, executive vice president of the National Chain Store Association, told the newspaper advertising executives group, and pointed out that the daily press of the country, through its advertising columns, is "the chief spokesman of the chain store to the public, and gives it immediate contact with its customers."

Speaking before the country newspaper departmet of the federation, he declared that "to infer from the admitted fact of thinning out of the farm population of the United States that the purchasing power of the farmer's town is declining is an unwarranted conclusion."

Americans to Remain Rural.

He concluded his talk with the assertion that "rural Americans will remain rural, never fear. The so-called urbanization of the country will stop short of a certain boundary line between conservatism and radicalism in all respects. The farmer of the future will be in the market for high-grade goods of demonstrated worth. His habits of thrift, however, will prevail, and he never will overbuy, for he expects to pay for what he buys."

The sometimes ridiculed advertising calendar was defended at a meeting of the advertising specialty group at the Raleigh by Rolland Doane, advertising manager of the Lehigh Portland Cement Co., who insisted that "the money we invest annually for art advertising calendars is well worth while."

P. L. Thompson, director of public relations for the Western Electric Co., told the general advertisers group that talking pictures should appeal to both manufacturers and merchants "because they can speed up the distribution process and eliminate waste."

Capper Makes Address.

Several speakers of national prominence addressed the agricultural publishers' group at the Washington Hotel. Among these were Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, and chairman of the Senate District committee, who declared that a new agriculture is being established and methods of production and marketing have been recast to conform to the conditions of today, this having a profound effect upon the economics of farm-paper publishing.

The coming of motor cars and better roads in the rural sections, almost completely changing rural merchandising methods, and the outlook of farm dwellers, he cited as perhaps chief of these developments. Dr. O. E. Baker, economist of the Bureau of Economics of the Department of Agriculture, related the activities of his organization in compiling statistical information.

Considerably more than $500,000,000 was spent by retail stores for advertising last year, according to Hubert S. Waters, sales and advertising director of James McCreery & Co., New York, addressing a luncheon session of the retail advertisers' group. He declared that the small city today stands on an equal basis with the large city in accomplishing good advertising "and in many instances does a decidedly better job."

The convention today will center around a general luncheon in the ballroom of the Willard, at which Senator Capper will serve as chairman; C. C. Younggreen, president of the federation, will preside, and speakers will include James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor; Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, of Illinois, Macolmn Muir, president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., of New York, and Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

At 4 o'clock there will be the annual business meeting of the federation, while at the same hour the feminine delegates and guests will be the guests of Representative McCormick at a tea at the Congressional Club.

Unitarians Favor Control of Birth

Adopt Resolution Urging Support for Promotion of Movement.

Boston, May 20 (A.P.).—Delegates to the annual meeting of the American Unitarian Association today adopted a resolution favoring birth control "that they may support all reasonable efforts in their communities for the promotion of the birth-control movement." There were only a few dissenting voices.

The resolution was presented by Dr. Minot Simons, of New York, who made an impassioned plea for its adoption and urged the delegates to work intensively to eliminate opposition to the movement.

"Birth control is here," Dr. Simons said. "It is among the well to do and not the ill to do who need it most. It is not here in the way where the question of the health of the mother and child might be determined by information given through proper channels."

WILLIAM R. EWALD,
Of Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit, was reelected chairman of the Advertising Club board at the convention of the Advertising Federation of America at the Willard yesterday. The election automatically continues him as vice president of the federation.

CONTRACTOR SEEKS WRIT AGAINST HYDE

Boston Firm Says Official, Through Threats, Has Hurt Its Business.

SAYS ROAD AID DENIED

Justice Jennings Bailey in District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday took under advisement a petition for injunction filed by Carlos Bianchi & Co., Inc., of Boston, Mass., against Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Charge is made in the petition that the Secretary of Agriculture has made threats that he will deny Federal aid for road construction to States which make contracts with the plaintiff company unless the company makes a settlement with the State of Maine in connection with contracts for two roads, both of which were completed more than a year ago and both of which are said to have received the approval of Mr. Hyde's predecessor.

The petition sets out that the action of Mr. Hyde in attempting to reopen the Maine case after the work had been approved by his predecessor is illegal. It also is set out that the States of Massachusetts and New Hampshire are prepared to make road contracts and are in a receptive mood to receive bids from the plaintiff, except for the fact that Federal aid may be denied if it should be the successful bidder.

The suit is said to be the first of its nature ever filed in the local court and the first ever brought against the officials in charge of Federal aid for State roads.

Justice Bailey is holding up his decision as to the injunction pending the filing of briefs by attorneys for each side.

BUILDING LOAN MEN TOLD TO COOPERATE

Capital Association Hears President of National Group Speak.

INFORMAL DINNER HELD

The need for national cooperation on the part of building and loan units to cope with great problems coincident with the tremendous growth of the business as stressed last night by ernest A. Hale, of Boston, president of the United States Building & Loan LeLague, speaking before the Washington Building & Loan Association Council at an informal dinner meeting at the Ambassador Hotel.

Reminding the city's prominent representatives of the business that while it was 100 years old, its progress had, in the last ten years, been more rapid than in the preceding 90, the chief executive urged a complete exchange of ideas and experience from a Nation-wide standpoint as imperative in solving the many problems attendant upon such phenomenal expansion.

Emphasizing the value of experienced leaders, strong and well-financed group organization and helpful publicity, Mr. Hale suggested a group conference including States in the local district to assist in promoting the welfare of a business now representing 12,000 units and millions of dollars.

The human worth of the movement was extolled by Representative Robert Luce, of Massachusetts, and by Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue R M. Estes. C. Clinton James, who represents the local district on the national league's board, gave a review of the legislative program and presided at the meeting.

Besides the foregoing, those in attendance were Edward C. Baltz, president of the local council; William S. Quinter, Edward L. McAleer, W. S Pratt, J. L. Sherwood, Charles H. Kndle, Guy M. Neely, Thomas E. Petty, C. E. Kefauver, Maurce Otterback, Thomas M. Cahill, George A. Baker, William P. Richards, Fred A. Smith, J. Mitchell Owens, Roland M. Brown, Joseph F. Zagowitz, John B. Geier and Francis L. Neubeck.

H. M. Packard, R. E. Buckley, W. A. Johnson, R. S. Antrobus, Raymond K. Espey, Dr. William G. Schafhirt, A. G. Bishop, James N. Shea J. E. Connelly, Martin A. Cook, George T. Borger, Howard S. Gott, E. V. Crittenden, D. R. Luttrell, E. T. Warwick, Alfred B. Baker and J. Leo Kolb.

UNIFORM MAN HEAD OF NEW YORK POLICE

Edward P. Mulrooney, Chief of Detectives, Gets Post as Whalen Resigns.

HAS SERVED 34 YEARS

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—Grover Whalen, New York's natty police commissioner, resigned today.

Edward P. Mulrooney, 34 years on the force and chief inspector of the detective division, was named to succeed him.

The resignation and appointment will become effective at noon tomorrow.

Mr. Whalen's retirement and return to the John Wanamaker store does not mean he will pass entirely from the public eye. He will continue to act as chairman of the mayor's committee on reception of distinguished guests, the city's official greeter.

Known as "Good Cop."

Succeeding him as head of New York's finest is a quiet-spoken man of 56, reddish haired, of Irish origin, blue eyed and soft spoken, appointed to the department 34 years ago by Theodore Roosevelt, then police commissioner.

There has been nothing spectacular in Mulrooney's record, but his rise has been steady. For several years he was captain of the district in Harlem embracing the Polo Grounds and was intrusted with handling the crowds there at baseball games and boxing contests.

In the department he is known as "a good cop," a man who makes few mistakes, is slow to express an opinion, but can act quickly when necessary. He was made deputy chief inspector and put in charge of the detective division by Mr. Whalen.

Second From Ranks.

Mulrooney is said to be writing a play dealing with the underworld.

The new commissioner is married, the father of two daughters. A son was killed in an automobile accident several years ago.

Mulrooney is the sixteenth police commissioner of the city, but only the second to be elevated to that post from the ranks. Richard C. Enright, Mayor Hylan's police commissioner, was the other.

Mr. Whalen was "drafted" from his $100,000-a-year job for the $10,000-a-year commissionership a year ago last December after the Arnold Rothstein killing, when the department was under fire over its failure to find the slayer of the Broadway gambler.

Settled Traffic Problem.

He took command, releasing a number of old-timers, appointed his own ranking officers. He attacked the traffic problem in the theater district, settled that to his own satisfaction and started a war on the Communists.

At the head of his men he broke up an attempted march on City Hall from Union Square last March 6, "Red Thursday," and arrested five Communist leaders. They were convicted and are serving jail terms.

Mr. Whalen is 44 years old, a native New Yorker, well to do, married, father of two daughters and a son.

CANNON FORGIVEN AT CHURCH HEARING

peth as the gentle rain from Heaven alike upon erring bishop and erring Congoan.

"The laymen who preferred the charges against Bishop Cannon have the consciousness of rendering a real service to their church. The episcopacy committee ordered a trial on the basis of charged preferred by them, exemplified by indisputable proof that Bishop Cannon had been engaged in bucketship transactions The committee took this action after hearing Bishop Cannon's defense The trial was halted only when Bishop Cannon, who hitherto defended his course, confessed his sin and pleaded for clemency.

Church Policy Stated.

"It is the preaching of Methodists that confession of sin, followed by repentance and promise to sin no more, should meet with clemency and forgiveness. It was this attitude and this alone that stayed the trial of Bishop Cannon. Many laymen did not share the feeling of the preachers, because the statement of repentance and pledge to reform did not come until after a trial had been ordered. They doubted the belated penitence was genuine.

"The world now knows that bucketshop gambling is abhorred, if not punished, by the general conference, no matter who is guilty of it."

Another comment came from John T Scott, Houston banker, and lay delegate, the only Texas layman to sign the accusations. He expressed satisfaction with the outcome.

"Bishop Cannon," he said, "came forward in many fashion and admitted his wrong. It seems to me that his action was a proper one, and his conduct manly."

Two Bishops Elected.

Arthur J Moore of Birmingham, Ala., and Paul B Kern, of San Antonio, Tex., today were elected bishops at the general conference here of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Moore received 233 ballots and Kern 227. The number necessary to elect on the third ballot was 217.

Others still in the running and their votes on the third ballot were: T. D. Ellis, Louisville, 175; Forney Hutchinson Oklahoma City, 149; A Frank Smith, Houston 132; W A Shelton, Emory University, Georgia 108.

Dr. T. D. Ellis, of Louisville, led on the fourth ballot with 154 votes. He needed 222 votes for election. Dr. Forney Hutchinson, of Oklahoma City, received 120 votes and Dr. A Frank Smith, of Houston, 84 votes.

On the fifth ballot Dr. Ellis received 173 votes and Dr. Hutchinson 152. To elect 221 votes were needed. A sixth ballot was taken but the votes were sealed and the result will not be announced until tomorrow.

SPORADIC DISORDERS VEX POLICE OF INDIA

Two Hurt as Crowd Pelts Constables With Rocks After Arrest.

BIG SALT RAID PLANNED

Bombay, May 20 (A.P.).—Sporadic disorders occurred today in the civil disobedience campaign of India's Nationalists, but no important disturbances were reported.

Police at Decca stopped a youth who was riding a bicycle without lights, and a crowd which gathered pelted the constables with stones. Two policemen were injured. The others used their sticks to disperse the gathering. Another disorderly scene occurred at Gudivaba. A message said police clashed with civil disobedience volunteers and that some persons, the number unidentified, were injured.

The situation throughout the Indian Peninsula was generally reported to be more transquil for the British authorities than in some time. Few unpleasant incidents occurred, and the northwest frontier, over which Simla officials have had some anxious days, continued quiet.

Son of Haji Wounded.

From Peshawar came the news that Badshah Gul, son of the Haji of Turangzai, had been wounded by a recent bombing raid, which was a punitive expedition against the activity of his father. His gathering near the Afghan frontier was reported likely to disperse. Several arrests were made by police who surrounded the village of Kurvi, near Akbarpura, in the Peshawar district.

While one salt campaign—that at Shiroda—was called off today by Indian leaders combating the government salt monopoly, another was strengthened by plans for mass action tomorrow at Dharasana. Volunteers who have been endeavoring to enter the salt works at Dharasana since last Thursday were told to adopt any means, short of violence toward the police, to get through the wire fence surrounding the salt plant and seize the pans.

They also were told not to return to the volunteers' camp until they had done what they set out to do. The plans were worked out by captains of the various volunteer groups who met with the "war council" of Mme. Sarojini Naidu.

Police Kept on Jump.

Mme. Naidu, the poetess who leads the civil disobedience workers since the imprisonment of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji, started the salt raids at Dharasana last Thursday. Since then her volunteers have kept the police constantly on the jump, groups of them dashing for salt while the busy constabulary had its hands full dispersing other groups. Hundreds were arrested.

Nationalist leaders said they called off the Shiroda raids because police, using sticks on them, had created a violent atmosphere.

Capt. Gokhale, of Maharashtha Volunteers, who has been active at Shiroda, said in a statement that the police tactics had created an air of public violence which was harmful to the cause of Indian independence, sought by nonviolent means. He added in the raids thus far 1,000 maunds (about 82,000 pounds) of salt had been seized and sold. Three hundred and twenty-one volunteers were arrested.

Kermit and Clyde, also convicted of transporting whisky, were sentenced to a year and a day in the National Training School, Washington, and Atlanta Federal Prison, respectively.

POLICE HEAD OUSTED BY DETROIT MAYOR

Department of Justice Man in Capital to Ask Leave to Take Post.

RAIDS HELD "ILL-TIMED"

Detroit, Mich., May 20 (A.P.).—Affairs in the Detroit police department came to a head today. Mayor Bowles announced the dismissal of Harold H. Emmons as police commissioner and the appointment of Thomas C. Wilcox, of the United States Department of Justice, in his place.

The mayor announced his action this afternoon, making public letters to both Mr. Emmons and Mr. Wilcox. Soon after this announcement the former indicated that "under no circumstances would he step out," thus placing the mayor in the position of handing him a summary discharge.

Mr. Wilcox, head of the Department of Justice in the Detroit area, was in Washington tonight to arrange a leave of absence that would allow him to assume his new post.

The request for Commissioner Emmons' resignation today climaxed one of the most turbulent periods in the history of the police department. Mr. Emmons, who entered office January 20 with the department in the throes of an investigation of the shooting of Inspector Henry J. Garvin, tonight found himself discharged, less than four days after taking a determined stand against downtown gambling places.

In his letter to his commissioner, the mayor said that he was requesting his resignation because he felt that "circumstances" demanded it. Other than this he offered no explanation for his action.

The first indication that the mayor had split with his commissioner came Monday after the executive resumed his duties following a three-day vacation at the Kentucky Derby. In the interim, Commissioner Emmons had authorized a series of police raids on handbooks, resulting in the arrest of almost 300 persons. Friends of both men thought the mayor might consider the raids of racing "handbooks" while he was attending a horse race "ill timed."

Monday both Mayor Bowles and Commissioner Emmons denied there was any friction.

LUGGAGE

The Common Carrier of a Community's Success

When we see the passenger train pull in at the station we are apt to think of it only in terms of personal convenience and the luxury which it affords us as individuals. We forget for the moment about the freight trains, work trains, yard engines and section gangs necessary to keep the road going.

It was said recently of one great railroad genius that if he could have his way completely he would have a railroad without any passenger trains—nothing but freight trains! His life has been spent in building up great freight roads.

Rich cream, pure milk, fine butter and delicious ice cream come to your table, like the luxurious passenger train comes into the station. But does the picture recur to you often enough of the tremendous task involved in organizing, systematizing and carrying on this extremely important industry? The milk product industry is one of the very great common carriers of the country's prosperity, the effects of its activitv reaching far and wide.

Southern Dairies faced a big task, as a new organization, when it began formulating its plan of development of the milk industry of the South, only five years back. It was a task that required a long look ahead and full realization of the responsibilities entailed.

The first responsibility — the one to the public, demanded that higher standards of quality than had hitherto existed be set and maintained.

This primal responsibility has been faithfully discharged—the products of Southern Dairies today ranking second to none in America, even surpassing in quality those of sections where the dairy industry has been established for many years.

Responsibility to the producers, to the workers, to the investors of millions required in the great work, all had to be taken into account.

This co-related work, extending throughout the Southeastern States, today is well along its way, a carrier of prosperity—a system constantly being extended and adjusted to work more smoothly and efficiently, expanding a great market and providing the public with one of life's greatest necessities.

GRAND JURY IGNORES DRY AGENTS' CHARGE

Action Is Refused on Complaints Made Both Against and by Officers.

25 FACE INDICTMENTS

Charges of interfering with prohibition agents in their efforts to serve a search warrant on him last April 25 were ignored by the District grand jury yesterday against Bernard Clark coincidentally with the ignoring of charges of assault with a dangerous weapon against the agents—Henry J. Doyle, John T. Wiegel, John T. Fisher and M. E. Thompson.

Clark had charged that the agents had maltreated him while searching his home, while the agents countered with the charge the he had interfered with them in their official duties.

Ignorances featured the work of the grand jury last week, charged against 17 persons being ignored, while indictments were returned against only 25.

Wilson Temple Stokeley, who was named defendent in a recent padlock proceeding instituted against proceeding at 308 E street northwest, was exonerated by the grand jury on a Jones-Stalker charge.

Others against whom charges were ignored are: William Scott and John A. Smith, joy-riding; John Shymanski, impersonating an officer; Betty Allen, false pretenses; Leroy Johnson, Harry Jackson and Lawrence Young, housebreaking and larceny; Clarence J. Small Loan Bill Passage Is Urged Subcommittee, by 3 to 1, Favors Restrictions on Loan Sharks.

By a vote of 3 to 1, the judiciary subcommittee of the House District committee made a favorable report on the Bowman small loans, or anti-loan shark, bill yesterday morning.

The bill, sponsored by the Russell Sage Foundation, would permit the lending of money here at an interest rate of 3½ per cent a month and is designed to help those who, unable to get loans in the standard banks, frequently become the victims of loan sharks.

Those who voted for the bill were Representatives Bowman (Republican), of West Virginia; Reid (Republican), of Illinois, and Hall (Democrat), of Mississippi. The lone vote against it was cast by Representative Lampert (Republican), of Wisconsin, who declares that the bill would legitimatize loan sharks. He served notice that he would continue his fight before the full committee.

MacDonald Labor Cabinet Suffers First Resignation

Sir Oswald Mosley Quits; Act Declared Blow to Government.

London, May 20 (A.P.).—The Ramsay MacDonald labor cabinet today lost its first member and the incident has created high interest in political circles.

Sir Oswald Mosley, the millionaire Socialist baronet, resigned as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Opponents of the Labor government hailed the resignation as a shattering blow to the government's prestige. Even Labor supporters lamented the loss to the ministry of one of its most active and able supporters.

Sir Oswald's action arose out of dissatisfacton wth the government's policy toward unemployment. It had been said from the beginning of the present Parliament that the government would stand or fall by its handling of this problem, and the opposition lost no opportunity to tell the country that both J. I. Thomas, whom they called "minister of unemployment," and the government as a whole had "failed dismally" in this task.

More seriously still for MacDonald's ministry, a revolt against the Thomas policy in Labor's own ranks has been growing. In a division on a question last night several Laborites, as well as certain Liberals, abstained from voting. The MacDonald government scraped through by only fifteen votes.

The personal aspect of the resignation is much discussed, for both Sir Oswald and his wife, Lady Cynthia, also an M. P., have attracted great attention from the moment they first appeared—immaculately clad—on Labor platforms to proclaim the doctrine of Socialism to the working classes.

Lady Cynthia is a daughter of the late Lord Curzon and Lady Curzon, the former Mary Leiter, of Chicago.

BAKER MURDER SUSPECT'S CLOTHES WILL BE EXAMINED

basis of what has been established would be futile.

Brewster was given a brief questioning yesterday by authorities, after which he was permitted to exercise in the yard at headquarters company of the Sixteenth Brigade, to which he is attached. At that time Capt. A. R. Bolling, his superior officer, whose investigation of the suspect resulted in Brewster's first confession, engaged the soldier in conversation.

In spite of the barrier that has been erected between the inquisitions and the press it was learned that Capt. Bolling made an unsuccessful attmept to glean information from the prisoner that would be incriminating.

Maj. Charles L. Maxwell yesterday was appointed head of a medical board, which will test the mentality of the suspect. Maj. Patrick S. Madigan and Maj. William C. Porter will constitute the rest of the board, which will bgein the examination today.

May Last for Week.

Maj. Maxwell could give no intimation last night as to the length of time it would take to determine the soldier's mental responsibility. He intimated that the psychiatric observation may last a week.

Capt. Bolling requested the medical board when it seemed evdent that the man suffered of hallucinations.

Notwithstanding his admission that he had an altercation with Mary Baker on the night of April 11, he steadfastly denies that he shot the girl at the same time. He admits that he attacked her and threw her body in the culvert, police say.

Brewster yesterday told Capt. Bolling that he had never owned a .32-caliber gun. On the day before he was shown a gun of similar caliber and police said he told them that it was the kind of a gun he had on the day of the murder.

Following the identification of the soldier as the person who had annoyed a Washington woman while in West Potomac Park, near Seventeenth street, police expressed the hope that others would come forward with similar stories. In this manner, police declared, his movements on April 11 might be checked.

Authorities have expressed their intention of concentrating on the soldier's story until some conclusive evidence is produced to show he is not implicated.

Meanwhile the search is being continued for a World War veteran who is known as a "tent dweller" and who is said to have professed an acquaintanceship with the Baker girl. Inspector Shelby and Lieut. Edward J. Kelly have no idea of his whereabouts. Lieut. Kelly had traced the man to Philadelphia a few weeks ago, but the trail was lost there.

Authorities last night received information that the man was seen in a small town in Pennsylvania. An attempt to substantiate this information was unsuccessful. Local police who communicated with officials in the town received a reply that he had not been there.

Lewis Court Case Marked by Fight

Two Miners Are Separated Following Legal Tilt in Union Charge.

Springfield, Ill., May 20 (A.P.).—Legal skirmishes within the courtroom and a fistic row outside today marked the second session of the contempt case brought by Harry Fishwick and other officials of the Illinois Mine Union against John L. Lewis, of Indianapolis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, on charges of interfering with district affairs.

Shortly after attorneys had concluded two hours of fiery wrangling before Master in Chancery Frank L. Trutter, two coal miners attempted to engage in fisticuffs in the Sangamon County courtyard. Police broke up the threatened fight.

Floyd E. Thompson, chief counsel for Fishwick, engaged in vigorous debate with Edmund Burke and Moses Pulverman, counsel for Lewis. The legal argument was brought about in the questioning of A. M. Thompson legal investigator for Fishwick, whom Pulverman asked if her had been instructed to withhold service on death and compensation claims from members of local unions that had failed to pay their dues to Walter Nesbit, secretary and treasurer of Fishwick's organiation.

Committee Urges Road Patrol Bill

Measure to Let City Police Protect Highways to Arlington Reported.

The Moore bill to authorize the local park police to patrol the Federal military roads leading from Washington to Arlington Cemetery and the one circling the cemetery was favorably reported yesterday by the House military affairs committee.

These roads now are entirely unprotected, the Federal Government having thus far failed to provide protection and the Virginia authorities being without authority to patrol them.

In the hearings on the Moore bill, Representative McSwain (Democrat), South Carolina, declared that, had there been policemen on these roads, it was conceivable that Mary Baker would never have been murdered and her body dumped outside the cemetery wall.

Basket Picnic Planned At Old Brick Capital

A basket picnic will be held in the garden of the old brick Capitol at 25 First street northeast Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock under the auspices of Miss Anna C. Stanard, who is shortly to petition Congress to allow the building to remain standing until after the Washington Bicentennial in 1932.

Under the present plans the building is scheduled to be demolished, beginning June 1, to make way for the new Supreme Court Building. At the picnic an historical program will be presented entitled, "Turn Back the Pages of History to the Year 1814."

WASHINGTON'S CENSUS.

The preliminary report of the Census Bureau does not reflect the actual growth of Washington as a municipality during the last ten years. It shows a substantial increase in population, amounting to 11 per cent and bringing the total for the District up to 485,716, but it does not account for the extensive suburban development in nearby Maryland and Virginia. Washington has overgrown its boundaries, and the actual size of the city can no longer be indicated by an enumeration in the District of Columbia. Other cities extend their limits to include their new suburbs, but Washington is denied this privilege by its unique standing as the Federal City.

Recent estimates of the District's population have probably been exaggerated. In view of the exodus of Government workers following the World War and the popular suburban movement an increase of 11 per cent in ten years is substantial growth. The country as a whole has experienced a decided check upon its usual increase because of immigration restrictions and a declining birth rate. As the country reaches maturity it is inevitable and highly desirable that its rate of growth be diminished. Washington is developing much faster than the country as a whole and faster than most of the cities of its class. There is nothing to be regretted in the fact that its growth is steady and consistent, or that the city is overflowing into the charming nearby suburbs.

If there is any question, however, as to the accuracy of the census enumeration an immediate check ought to be made. Answers to newspaper questionnaires and indications from various other sources suggest that some residents have been overlooked by the enumerators. In some instances the census takers merely left blanks in apartment houses to be filled out by the tenants. Has as accurate check been made to determine whether all such blanks have been returned? What has been done to account for citizens who were in the process of moving when the enumeration was going on? Have those temporarily out of the city been counted?

The census has little value unless it is accurate. Many agencies estimate the population and approximate much of the information contained in the biennial enumeration, but the public depends upon the Government to get the facts, and all of the facts. In former years fraud and exaggeration were sometimes brought to light in the census returns. At present the public takes the honesty of the enumerators for granted, but there is some concern over the accuracy of the returns due both to the complicated mode of modern living and the complicated nature of the enumeration. These conditions demand special caution to insure the accuracy of the new national index.

FINANCING THE DISTRICT.

A forewarning of the fate that awaits the District bill is contained in the debate that accompanied the appointment of conferees in the House on Monday. Representative Garner, minority leader, asked to be informed as to how the conferees would deal with the Senate amendment increasing the lump sum contribution to $12,000,000, whereupon Representative Simmons, chairman of the District appropriations committee, replied: "There is no disposition on our part to yield to the Senate on that proposition." As has been the case year after year since the House substituted the lump sum for a proportionate contribution, the House intends to bludgeon the bill through, disregarding the dispassionate judgment of the Senate.

Representative Simmons pointed out that the Senate approved the provision of the House bill specifying that there shall be no reduction of the local tax rate during the next fiscal year. An increase in the lump sum, he said, would have no effect upon next year's tax payments, but would serve merely to preserve the surplus deposited to the District's credit in the Treasury. It is difficult to see what bearing this argument has on the justice of continuing the $9,000,000 lump sum.

The House passed a bill that, under the existing tax rate, the District could not finance. At that, the bill is inadequate and must be regarded a compromise with necessity. Fortunately the District has accumulated a small surplus through the years which can now be drawn upon to make up the deficit involved in the House bill. But what of future years? What economic justification is there for a bill that carries a total appropriation greater than the anticipated revenues? Next year there will be no surplus in the Treasury and the total budget will have increased. Before long the District will have reached a point where needed improvements no longer can be postponed. Then a real emergency will have arrived.

The local tax rate can not be increased without causing local taxpayers to suffer unduly and without reacting against the prosperity of the District. Either the future development of the Capital will have to be held to the level of that of a tank town or Congress will have to increase the Federal contribution.

The Senate should stand firm for its amendment increasing the Federal contribution to $12,000,000. If the House attempts to exact a $9,000,000 lump sum as the price for the bill, a joint resolution could be passed before the adjournment carrying forward for next year the appropriations made available this year, and an impartial, expert investigation of the whole question of fiscal relationships could be got under way. A lump sum appropriation of even $12,000,000 will not permanently settle the fiscal controversy. The Federal contribution should be elastic. Fiscal equity and justice for both the District and the Government will not be attained until the proportionate principle is again recognized.

HENRY FORD AND THE TARIFF.

Nothing could be more logical than Henry Ford's opposition to the tariff bill. The American automobile industry, in which Mr. Ford is the dominating personality, has established virtually a world monopoly. More than 80 per cent of all motor vehicles produced in the world come from American factories. The industry has grown beyond the need of tariff protection. Quite naturally it wants America's markets open to foreign goods so that it can sell more automobiles abroad.

Automobile manufacturers agreed that the industry has little need of protection, and Congress cut the duty on passenger cars from 25 to 10 per cent ad valorem. Now that his own industry has reached such gigantic proportions under the protective system Mr. Ford sees no need for duties for the benefit of industries that have been less fortunate. His statement betrays a selfishness that the country has not looked for in him.

Another potent reason why Mr. Ford opposes higher duties is that he is himself an importer. Mr. Ford moved his tractor plants to Ireland and now ships his product into the United States. His protest against the tariff is typical of that group which is seeking to establish factories abroad, where labor is cheap, to supply the great American market. What would become of American workmen if Congress made it possible for capitalists to employ the cheap labor of Europe and ship finished products into the United States duty free? The public is intelligent enough to know that Mr. Ford is not talking economics but boosting his own business.

RADIO PATENT MONOPOLY.

The Government's suit against the Radio Corporation, the Westinghouse Co., the General Electric Co., the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and others, alleging that they have formed a monopoly in restraint of trade and petitioning that they be enjoined from pooling radio patents and otherwise attempting to dominate the radio industry, may be regarded as a test case. Since 1919 charges that a radio trust is in existence have filled the air. The companies under fire have not denied the charges of patent pooling, &c., but they have insisted that they were breaking no law. The public, however, has become persuaded that a monopolistic combination has been created, and if the courts find that the Radio Corporation and its codefendants have not violated the law it is certain that an effort will be made in Congress to amend the patent laws so as to prevent the creation of combinations such as unquestionably has been formed in the radio business.

There are thousands of patents around which modern radio equipment is built, of which the Radio Corporation and the codefendants in the suit own or control some 4,000. Among the 4,000 are basic patents essential to the construction of modern radio equipment. These patents are available to the independent manufacturer only by license and the payment of a royalty. As a result, every piece of radio equipment that is constructed and sold pays tribute to the Radio Corporation and its allies. The corporation contends that by making its patents generally available by license it avoids violating the law.

Certainly the inventor deserves full protection from the Government for the product of his discovery. On the other hand, the monopolization of all the patents necessary for the survival of an industry that has come to be essential may be looked upon with disfavor. The questions involved in the suit and in the legislative maneuvers that promise to follow its decision are whether it is proper for the Government to restrict the use which patentees may make of their patents, and how, if it is held proper, restrictions may be set up that will not react against patentees.

Senator Wheeler says: "When the patent laws were first written, they were written to protect the genius of individuals in inventing something new, and the idea of great monopolies getting control of all the patents of an industry was beyond the conception of the lawmakers at that time. The patent laws were created to protect the little fellows, but today they are being used by the monopolies and trusts to crush the little fellows." It is up to the courts to decide whether patents are being used by the dominant figures in the radio industry to crush the little fellows. If the courts decide in the affirmative it will be the task of Congress to work out a remedy that will prevent monopolistic absorption of patents while protecting individual patentees.

THE WEATHER MAN.

Alfred Judson Henry, of the Weather Bureau, is attempting to give the public something to say about the weather besides the trite expressions that are heard every day. In an 80-page pamphlet he tells just how weather forecasts are made. The information is presented in the belief that "many persons have an abiding interest in the scientific work of the Federal Government." It might be more correct to say that many persons have an abiding interest in the weather, and feel they have a grievance against the forecaster when his predictions run awry.

Why do the weather prophets wish to give away their secrets? Since the art of weather forecasting was first practiced the public has imputed uncanny powers to the "weather man." He has frequently been suspected of supernatural alliances, and whether or not at fault he is often blamed for inclemencies. Of course, those few who have come to know the "weather men" realize that they are quite congenial fellows who hold no malice whatever for mankind. Some people are even broad-minded enough to give the forecaster credit for using his honest judgment, based on a set of uncertain conditions. But the idea of his mysticism persists.

The publication of Mr. Henry's pamphlet seems to indicate a new approach to the public. Forecasters continue to draw forth the invectives of shoppers, golfers and picnickers, not to mention the farmers. Why not educate the public and avoid abuse? The bureau's disavowal of any desire to enable laymen to forecast for themselves carries with it an unexpressed plea for greater tolerance for the professional. Let the public understand how pressure, temperature, direction and speed of wind, the appearance of the sky, and the general state of the weather is charted in every locality; how the forecaster compares today's charts with those of previous days and forms conclusions which go out to the public in every newspaper. Give the public a little "inside dope" on how the weather made in the forecaster's office may be completely upset by unforeseen local conditions without his consent. It's about time the Weather Bureau was coming to the defense of its abused meteorologists.

Since prohibition became an issue, "fencing" has become the most popular American sport for politicians.

Stanford University is seeking $10,000,000 to enable more girl students to enter so that its male students won't desert. That shows what coeducation can do for a college.

After the country has heard so much about prohibition that it's sick of the whole thing, along comes Senator Allen with a scheme to advertise it.

NEW FILIPINO ATTITUDE

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

A new era has dawned in the Philippines, the era of fact-finding and fact-facing in connection with the independence question.

The Philippines Herald, the mouthpiece of Filipino nationalism, leads with the courageous editorial declaration that "immediate independence would mean economic disaster and would be unfair to the Filipino people." Stressing the unwisdom of such a step, the editorial pleads that "the Filipino is entitled to be given a chance to adjust himself to changed conditions and prepare himself for economic freedom." Then this suggestive interrogation: "Does America think that to attain this condition 10 years, 15 years, 20 years or 25 years are necessary?"

Reinforcing its new position, the paper said in a subsequent editorial: "Immediate independence is a mere slogan, an ideal . . . Ultimate or eventual freedom at some fixed date, 10, 15 or 25 years hence, would seem more practical, and more in harmony with the conservative elements in Congress and with the sense of justice of altruistic Americans who would do the right thing by the Filipinos."

The Tribune, a member newspaper of the most influential group of Filipino publications in the islands, redefines its position thus: "No thinking Filipino would vote for immediate and absolute independence, if he could have an independence in 10 to 30 years as a period of preparation for the economic disturbance sure to follow upon a rupture of political relations with the United States. Its markets are too valuable for Filipino trade today to permit a real Filipino patriot to sanction the disaster inherent in an abrupt termination of the present relations."

Of the Filipino leaders who would not face the situation squarely, the paper declares: "They lack the courage of real leadership. They are opportunists, seeking the path of least resistance, apparently more interested in perpetuating their own political hold upon office and its perquisites than in a courageous stand for public welfare, regardless of irresponsible and carping criticism."

To epitomize the new position, it is as follows: Immediate independence is a calamity to the Filipinos; permanent annexation of the Philippines to the United States is not desired; the Filipinos will cheerfully assume any reasonable sacrifice if and when nationhood is granted; if independence is given tomorrow or 30 years from tomorrow the Filipinos will accept it with resolution and confidence; the ideal of international independence at a time certain in the future stands intact.

The American position has been restated variously as follows:

Representative Knutson, expressing the views of those who look at the Philippine question solely from the standpoint of their local interests, announced in the House: "I am in favor of the immediate independence of the Philippines because their retention adversely affects American agriculture and labor." To clarify his motives, he added: "If the necessities of the American people required that we retain the Philippines I would be willing to spend the last dollar and last drop of blood to retain them."

On the other hand, Secretary of War Hurley, speaking the more liberal thought of the American people, declares in a recent communication to the Senate committee on territories and insular affairs, in effect that America can only act in the Knutsonian spirit to her national shame and dishonor, and America will not permit her escutcheon to be so tarnished.

The Democrats reiterate their historic position, urging the concession of independence, irrespective of whether immediate independence is good or bad for the Filipinos and regardless of whether it means ill or well to America.

Verily, the time is here when the United States, either through a congressional enactment or a presidential declaration, should define its Philippine policy as nearly as possible with the authority and finality characterizing its major foreign policies of the Monroe Doctrine, the open door of equal opportunity, and the nonentangling alliances with foreign powers.

AVOIDING STINGS.

Rapid increase in bee shipments in Canada in recent years has given a new problem to express companies, says the Wall Street Journal.

In instructing its agents and employes on proper methods of handling such shipments, the Canadian National Express has seen fit to add this word of advice: "It is pointed out that these bees (loose bees which have escaped from the hive or box) will not sting unless considerably disturbed. If you fight, the bees will fight right back; otherwise you need not fear. You can pick them up, handle them gently without fear of being stung. Go ahead and handle the shipments, disregarding the loose bees. Don't fight them."

It is reported at the company's head office that employes have heartily concurred in the last sentence of these instructions.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE CANVASSER.

I trudge all day the narrow street
And never know what I shall meet.
I practice, as I ring the bell,
My little speech designed to sell,
But canvassing from place to place
One has so many odds to face.

From door to door with goods to sell,
At every house to ring the bell,
I risk with every whim and mood,
Where grief sits weeping I intrude
Or rouse the lady from her sleep
To look at things which dust and sweep.

A woman with a meal to cook
Won't stop at salesman's wares to look.
The mistress, playing bridge, will say,
"There's nothing which I wish today."
And who, where death is drawing nigh
Would leave the sick room brooms to buy?

It's easier in shop and store
Than canvassing from door to door.
At counters, minds to barter meet,
But men like me who trudge the street
And ring strange door bells tremble lest
They break a sick child's needed rest.

I Don't Care for Your Criticism Unless Your Opinions Have Made You Successful.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"IF I were in Lindbergh's place," you say, "and had his wealth and fame, I shouldn't risk my neck or keep on working for a boss."

And that, my friend, is one of the reasons why you aren't in Lindbergh's place.

"If I were President," says the goods-box critic, "I'd quit wasting time and get results if I had to use the regular army."

And that is one reason why he isn't President.

Has it ever occurred to you that the soundness of an opinion depends very much on the soundness of the man who holds it?

To say that you disagree with a wise man is merely to confess your lack of wisdom.

It isn't necessary to tell the world that you wouldn't act as a great man does.

Of course you wouldn't, for you aren't directed by a mind like his.

If you possessed a mind like his, you would be a man like him.

The mere fact that you are a comparative failure is proof enough that your mind doesn't function as his does.

Each of us thinks his own way wisest and best, else he wouldn't be following it; but a little exercise of common sense should convince the failure that his method has a flaw in it.

If you are catching no fish and your neighbor is catching many, isn't it reasonable to suspect that you are using the wrong kind of bait?

Many amateur writers fail to find a market because they use the wrong bait or the right bait in the wrong place.

If you should write the world's greatest short story, and its heroine should be a liquor-drinking woman of the underworld and its hero a blasphemous home-wrecker, you couldn't get it past the first girl reader in the editorial offices of any leading magazine.

To sell anything to a magazine editor, study the kind of stuff he has been buying and send him more of it.

In other words, to achieve success you must learn from successful men.

You have a right to your own opinion?

Of course you have—also a right to your own faiths and standards.

But if they have brought you nothing but failure, they are the ideas, faiths and standards of a failure.

Don't boast of the ammunition you use until you can show a bag of game.

While you feel wiser than more successful men you never will use successful methods.

This is the season when the flora and fauna vandals are getting their big annual workout. Wherever you go in the country districts these spring days you see automobile tourists engaged in a frenzied attempt to make but on bush grow where a dozen grew before.

* * * *

When the family sedan gets back from the Sunday auto trip these days it looks like a decorated float in a mardi gras parade. Father has a couple of trees in his lap, mother looks like a display at the Garden Club exhibit, the children are buried under a half-ton of assorted boughs, branches and bulbs, and the dog is all tangled up in a miscellaneous collection of cut flowers.

* * * *

These spring bush ghouls say they do it only through a love of nature, and they merely look blank when you ask if they would dash into a farmyard and break a leg off a cow to show their love of cattle.

* * * *

A few days ago the country looked very beautiful in bud and bloom. Today wherever there are good roads it looks like a Christmas tree about the third week in January.

* * * *

The flowers that bloom in the spring,
tra la,
To the back of an auto should cling,
tra la.

* * * *

The Sunday motor tourist is the big bough-and-branch bandit. No tourist seems to regard the trip as complete until the car has been stuffed with dogwood, lilacs, azalias, forsythia and a few small shrubs torn up by the roots to hide the ash can in a city back yard.

* * * *

A "no trespassing" sign is accepted as something in the original Greek, and "pick no flowers" is regarded as a message meant for mountain deer.

* * * *

"Oh, look!" screams mommer, as the jitney reaches the suburban zone.

"What?" cries popper, thinking she has sighted a Graf-Zepperlin or something.

"A dogwood tree!" gasps mother.

"In full bloom?" asked father, feverishly.

"Perfectly gorgeous!" cries mommer.

"All out!" orders dad. "Hatchets, knives and shears. Surround the tree and close in with a rush when I give the signal. I expect every man, woman and child to fight to the last bud. Forward!"

* * * *

The spirited maneuver overwhelms the three in no time. Father captures a dozen of the largest boughs in one minute flat. Mother executes a daring flank movement, and comes in with a dozen branches in full bloom. Little Willis climbs the tree and takes some of the topmost boughs captive. Sister Arabelle at this point discovers a lilac bush in a private estate and signals for the attack.

* * * *

The lilac bush goes down before the wave of dusty motorists. Out comes the owner to register a protest, but he retires in good order, fearing that in their present mood the gang may tear out a lock of his hair and cut off an ear to add to the table decorations.

* * * *

And he's right. The Sunday tourist will rip off anything that sprouts.

THE PICKAX MIGHTIER THAN THE PEN.

Mr. Gutzon Borglum, it develops, has been editing former President Coolidge's 500-word history for the side of Mount Rushmore. You can imagine how it must seem to write something and then see it deleted with a pickax or a nice long stick of dynamite.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Lynchburg Attorney Says Jack Garner Is Right in Claim Regarding Texas States.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am a daily reader of The Washington Post and nearly always yield hearty approval of your editorials.

I have just read "Garner's Iridescent Dream" in the issue of today after reading in the New York Times of May 16, 1930, the statement of Representative Garner, of Texas, about the possibility, by an act of the Legislature of Texas, to create five States contained in the present area of Texas.

If the Congress of the United States admitted Texas into the Union in accordance with the act of the Legislature of Texas cited by Mr. Garner, why is he not entirely correct in his statement about creating four other States within her territory?

Article IV, Section 3, of the Constitution of the United States reads as follows:

"New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the consent of the legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

"The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State."

It would seem that in the light of this provision of the Constitution your statement in the editorial under consideration that "under the Constitution no new State can be created within the jurisdiction of any other State without the consent of both the State legislature and Congress," is both inapplicable to the case stated by Representative Garner and also erroneous totally as constitutional law.

Gov. Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, denounced the erection of the State of West Virginia, every foot of it, out of the territory of old Virginia.

Please give your readers your views in another editorial on the Virginia-West Virginia case.

As for the lapse of 85 years since Texas was admitted into the Union, it would seem that the situation would be covered by the maxim, "mullum tempus occursit regi"—lapse of time does not run against the king, or, since we no longer have kings in this country, the maxim may be freely and practically translated as meaning that "no statute of limitation which shall not in express terms apply to the commonwealth shall be deemed a bar to any proceeding by or on behalf of the same."

Opposes Custom of Applauding at Theaters—Actors Vain Enough Already.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am in favor of a constitutional amendment, or anything that will prohibit applause in moving picture and other theaters. Folks who give vent to their enthusiasm over a scene or song in a movie are either too young to know better, or are "off" somewhere north of their collar button or lavalier. The movie "star" is unable to hear their applause anyway. As to musicians, vaudeville artists and "dramatic" actors, they are vain enough as it is, without people clapping their fool heads off at the end of an act, show or performance.

Why should patrons of these stage folk be obliged to pay good money and then be expected to applaud away for from one to five minutes in order to "entice" the artist to "graciously condescend" to repeat the chorus of his or her song, or whatever he or she may have been doing? Why should these artists expect hilarious applause at the end of their stunt? Do not we pay them their salaries? Do folks tumble all over themselves when we do that for which we ourselves are paid? Some of these artists even go to the extent of insulting their audience by giving them a "dirty look" if there is no applause following their pet joke, wisecrack, stunt, song, or whatnot.

In a "movie"—and certainly in a "legitimate"—there should be absolute silence, before, during and following the entertainment. If the show is "rotten," as many of them are, that fact should be indicated to the artist, not by the paucity of applause, but to the theater management in some convenient manner, perhaps by slips dropped into boxes provided for the purpose. Even this, however, is a waste of time and effort, as in the last analysis it is not the amount of applause but the number of seats occupied that determines the quality of performance rendered. E. J. S.

30,000 Americans Condemned to Death by Automobiles.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It has always been the true and honorable boast and promise of the United States Government that it would protect the lives of all its citizens in every country in the world. Most unhappily this protection is not now granted to them in their own country.

It is estimated that 31,500 human beings (men, women and children), were recklessly killed by motor vehicles in the United States in 1929. These killings are rapidly becoming more numerous. As speed increases, year by year, the harvest of death grows larger.

It is evident, therefore, that in the course of the next twelve months, 30,000 or more free American citizens are condemned in advance, without trial or offense, to a death more terrible than hanging or electrocution, on the streets and roads of their own country; and no effective means are taken to save them.

Their only hope of a reprieve would lie in a drastic reduction, or, let us rather say, an automatic limitation of speed. I fear, however, that these 30,000 American citizens will have to be destroyed, because a reduction of speed might possibly reduce the sales of the millionaire manufacturers of automobiles and interfere with the amusements of their customers.

LOS ANGELES SEEKS FOURTH CITY RATING

Detroit Also Hopes to Pass 1,000,000 Mark in Census Tabulation.

NEW HAVEN SHOWS LOSS

(Associated Press.)

What city Los Angeles will dislodge when she catapults into place among the five leaders of American metropolises has become a matter of conjecture among those watching the 1930 census returns.

The West Coast city, tenth in size, with 576,673 persons ten years ago, is expected to scramble with Detroit for fourth place this year.

Cleveland, fifth in 1920, reported yesterday a gain of 12.6 per cent for the ten-year period, to bring her from 796,841 to 897,458. Detroit had 993,678 in 1920 and both that city and Los Angeles are hoping to pass the million mark in this count.

New York and Chicago are, of course, certain of first and second places, respectively. Philadelphia, with a population of 1,823,779 ten years ago, will remain third, in all probability.

Hartford Gains on New Haven.

Children who intoned the capitals of the country 30 years ago giving two for Connecticut—Hartford and New Haven—learned that New Haven was far larger than Hartford. But New Haven, coming in yesterday as nearest stationary of any city of more than 150,000 thus far reporting, barely held her lead on Hartford. New Haven's population was 162,650 in 1930, as against 162,537 in 1920. Hartford's was 161,324 in 1930, as against 138,036 in 1920, a gain of 16.8 per cent.

New Haven was passed by Youngstown, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dayton, Ohio; Memphis, Tenn., and Dallas and Houston, Tex.

Wilmington, Del., joined Lowell, Mass., in a fall to the foot of the 100,000 list. Wilmington fell from 110,168 to 104,941, not quite such a thud as Lowell, falling from 112,759 to 100,050. The Wilmington loss was explained by the general "urban to suburban" trend among folk of the Eastern cities.

New Jersey Towns Grow.

This trend was also emphasized by large increases in small New Jersey towns, which in this auto age lay about the fringe of New York.

Three New Jersey towns have increased by more than 100 per cent, and nine by more than 50 per cent, a majority of them being newcomers in the 10,000 class.

Minneapolis, reporting a 21.5 per cent increase to a 1930 population of 462,611, caused no change in ratings. None of her nearest competitors—New Orleans, Cincinnati and Newark, above her in the 1920 list, and Kansas City, Seattle and Indianapolis, below her, has yet reported returns.

Favorable Report Due on Gibson Bill

Action Expected Today to Provide Judges for Appeals Court.

The Gibson bill to provide two additional judges for the District Court of Appeals probably will be favorably reported today by the House judiciary committee.

Representative Christopherson (Republican), of South Dakota, chairman of a subcommittee which already has approved the bill, said that he would seek to have this measure called up at the same time the House considers the Gibson bill to provide two additional judges for the District Supreme Court. This latter measure already has been reported out.

Mr. Christopherson said that he expected that both judgeship bills would be passed and sent to the Senate before the end of the week.

Brickbats & Bouquets

—By JAMES HAY, JR.—

WHEN that illustrious Belasco of Elizabethan days inquired with a charming indifference, not to say ennui, "What's in a name?" he had not seen, sensed or imagined the Honorable Furnifold M. Simmons, senior senator from North Carolina.

Mr. Simmons right now is in the act of showing the Tarheel boys that a name can be full of danger, dynamite and side-swiping political damnation.

He is, in fact, enjoying the knowledge that his name, fame and reputation threatens his enemies with enough uneasiness, anxiety and insomnia to bring on neurasthenia and nervous breakdowns.

A month ago "the Senator," as he was called in Tarheelia before he bolted Al Smith, was jubilantly advertised by the supporters of Josiah Bailey as beaten to a pulp. He stood, said the Baileyites, not so much as a hairline ghost of a chance to be renominated. From Mantua to Murphy the funeral dirges for Simmons and the bridal marches for Bailey were crashing loud against the mountainsides.

* * * *

THIS week, however, the musicians are not so active with the drums, trumpets and cymbals.

"It looks like Bailey in a walk," said a shrewd Tarheel herder of voters yesterday, "but—but—" And he paused, either for reflection or to swallow that Adam's apple of doubt which mounts to the throat of any man pursued by jeopardy.

"But," he continued, "overconfidence may hurt the Bailey crowd. When Simmons bolted Al Smith, we lit a lot of bonfires, figuratively speaking, and did a lot of scalping and boiling in oil, and we announced that he was dead and buried beyond the hopes of resurrection. His arrogance in trying to throw North Carolina into the Hover camp struck us as being as ridiculous as it was atrocious.

"And what happened? North Carolina went for Hoover. During the past month Simmons has been doing a man's sized job of campaigning and organizing. Nothing much on the surface, you understand, but quiet, intensive work. And when he gets to work something is mighty apt to drop if his opposition doesn't watch every cornor.

* * * *

"YOU see, Simmons is a sort of tradition in North Carolina. He has cracked the whip so often that every time he lifts his arm, the boys expect to feel a stinging sensation on or in their more or less yielding dermis. He's a haunt. He's hard to throw off. He's like a poor relation. Every time you run him off the place he pops up for another meal.

"That's why I say it's all Bailey. Bailey's bound to win. But—but look out for Simmons."

That's the story of Tarheelia at present. Bailey seems certain to walk off with the nomination. That is, if his crowd doesn't get careless and let Simmons in again.

And here's another Tarheel story: They say that, if Simmons is renominated, the Republicans will run up a bigger vote in the election. The reason they give is that many Democrats hate Simmons so heartily for bolting Al Smith that they reserve the right to bolt Simmons. Thus, we see, the dynamite packed in the Simmons name is liable to explode in several different directions.

LUMBER INTERESTS DECLARED TO HOLD TARIFF BILL'S FATE

flexible provision, also switched, but he had been expected to do so at the first request from the administration forces.

As to whether Senator Dill now has any assurances that the House will yield and permit a levy on lumber is not known. It would be quite some yielding by that body, and offered another amazing insight into the workings of the legislative branch, because before it not only turned down the $1.50 Senate tax, but rejected a plea for even 75 cents.

The best guess is that the House will yield. It will have to do so because if it does not Senator Dill can become a warm supporter of the Senate flexible plan again. No one has heretofore been a stronger advocate of it than he.

The Northwest interests do not hope in the great final trade to get what they consider adequate protection for their interests. Their great effort now is to remove lumber from the free list and place it on the protective list. Then they intend to begin work upon the President for further protection under his flexible power. The President, under the flexible power, can not touch an item on the free list.

The Senate conferees, relieved from their pledges to insist upon the Senate debenture and flexible provisions, met with the House conferees for the first time in two weeks yesterday.

An agreement is expected now in short order and hope is entertained that the tariff may be finally disposed of next week. It probably will be if an agreement is worked out on lumber. It has the upper hand.

The argument was made by the Senate conferees that they had to be released from their pledge on the flexible provision in order to work out a compromise by which Congress would be given a hand in the flexible provision, at least. Of course, this was not so. The compromise could have been worked out, and it had been understood all along that one would be. The House leaders had said as much.

But as the matter has now been maneuvered it is expected that the original House provision will be maintained. This not only retains the flexible power for the President, but increases it by making "competitive conditions" a basis for boosting rates, whereas "difference in production costs" is the present basis.

Hoover Submits Items For Capital Funds Bill

Through the Bureau of the Budget, President Hoover yesterday asked Congress to include four supplemental items in the second deficiency bill, all of them of local interest.

The estimates submitted are as follows: For additional White House policemen and for uniforms and equipment, $20,800; for the expenses of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, $364,875; for the relocation of the Botanic Gardens, $404,190, and for the settlement of claims against the District government, $98,242.

CRIME STUDY FUND ACCOUNTING URGED

Glass Seeks to Determine How Law Commission Spent $250,000.

WOULD FORCE REPORT

(Associated Press.)

Protesting that "no adequate report" has been made by the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission of its activities for the first year, Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, yesterday introduced a resolution directing the comptroller general to inform the Senate just how the commission has spent its $250,000 fund.

The Virginian's move was regarded as a threat against the additional $250,000 recently requested to permit the commission to continue its studies for another year and also was looked upon as a move to force an early detailed report from the crime investigators.

The resolution went over for future discussion without any debate. Senator Glass was the sponsor of the original $250,000 fund used by the commission and he has complained repeatedly that the investigators have ignored the order of Congress to study prohibition conditions while making a general survey of law enforcement.

In his resolution, the Virginia senator asserted the commission has "made no adequate report of its activities in connection with prohibition enforcement."

"The comptroller general is directed to furnish the Senate as soon as practicable a comprehensive statement of the expenditures made by or for the said commission to date," it said.

SENATE CONFIRMS ROBERTS FOR COURT

pointment of Chief Justice Hughes, the other nominee of President Hoover to the Supreme Court, but he won by a wide margin.

Both Hughes and Parker were opposed by Senators Norris, of Nebraska, and Borah, of Idaho, Republicans, who contended that their economic views unfitted them to judge in disputes involving human rights.

The late Justice Sanford and Judge Parker both were Republicans.

Roberts Receives News.

Philadelphia, May 20 (A.P.). — Informed by the Associated Press late today that the Senate had confirmed his appointment to the Supreme Court bench, Justice Owen J. Roberts said:

"I can only add to what I said when the President nominated me, that the confidence evidenced by the Senate's confirmation is a call to me to give to the country the most faithful service within my power.

"I shall endeavor to justify the trust thus reposed in me."

Justice Roberts was reached by telephone at his estate near Phoenixville, Pa.

TWO MEN ARRESTED IN TOBACCO THEFTS

Action Follows Conviction of Another Pair on Similar Charges.

DOZEN CASES REPORTED

With the arrest of two men yesterday, coupled with the conviction of two others last week in the county police court, Prince Georges County police believe they are making headway in their effort to clear up a series of robberies from tobacco barns in the last few weeks near Marlboro.

Raymond R. Chaney is said by police to have admitted robbery of the barn of Mrs. Sallie Allen near Marlboro and to have implicated Charles F. Rawlings. The two men have been charged with larceny after questioning by Sheriff Charles S. Early. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff L. E. Dutrow.

Sheriff Early, Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Hepburn, Harry Robinson and Dutrow and County Policemen V. M. Nichols and Frank P. Prince have put forth intensive efforts in the past two weeks to clear up the robberies, which number about a dozen. The stolen tobacco is valued at more than $2,000. The tobacco was purchased by Albert Ireland, of Marlboro, police say, and efforts are being made to check his purchases to see if any other stolen tobacco was sold at his warehouse.

Two colored men, James Swann and Gramond Swann, were sentenced to terms in jail last week for the theft of tobacco owndе by Samuel Wyville, of Marlboro.

MOORE FISCAL BILL PASSAGE PREDICTED

mittee would act on the commission's recommendations, the District committee or the appropriations committee.

Acting Chairman Speaks.

Acting Chairman McLeod pointed out that the Park and Planning Commission is made up of members of Congress and persons outside of Congress, and yet manages to function very well. Mr. Moore agreed with him.

"You wouldn't want to deny the citizens a place on the commission, would you?" the Virginian asked. "You wouldn't want a dictatorship here, would you?"

Mr. Simmons said that citizens are always welcomed before his subcommittee.

Continuing his attack on the bill, the Nebraskan said that it would tie the hands of the appropriations committee, that it would impose upon Congress the judgement of men who are not members of Congress, and that, in the final analysis, it was just a scheme to get more money out of the Federal Treasury for the District of Columbia.

Query of New York Member.

Replying to a question by Representative James L. Whitley (Republican), of New York, Mr. Simmons said that, in his opinion, not $9,000,000, but a little more than $7,000,000 should be the amount of the Federal contribution toward upkeep of the city. This, he said, represented a tax on the value of the Federal property here.

Representative Moore said that this was a good argument in favor of his bill. If it be true that $9,000,000 is too much, he said, the proposed commission could establish that fact.

"I don't think we members of Congress ought to assume that we know it all," Mr. Moore said. "You may be right in your views. I might be wrong. Here is a chance to find out."

Decrease Is Predicted.

Mr. Simmons declared that at one time it was proper that the Federal Government should contribute 50 per cent of the cost of running the city. But the time is coming, he predicted, when the Federal Government will not contribute more than 10 per cent.

"Who is going to determine that?" asked Mr. McLeod.

"The committees of Congress, and nobody else," Mr. Simmons replied.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, auditor of the District and the only other witness, told the committee that there was no more vital question confronting the city than that of fiscal relations. And the Moore bill, he said, seemed to offer the best method for a solution.

Tax Boost Avoided.

Had it not been for the surplus the District had in the Treasury, Maj Donovan said, it would have been necessary to boost the tax rate from $1.70 to $2 to raise the amount of money that is called for in the pending appropriation bill.

"Do you know of any city that has a tax rate as low as $1.70?" Representative Whitley asked him.

Maj. Donovan explained that in many cities the assessed value of property is actually only about 50 per cent of the real value, whereas here it is more than 90 per cent. On the basis of assessments in other cities, he said, the local tax rate would now be about $2.20.

Bureau Survey Cited.

This statement, he said, was based on a survey of 15 cities made by the Bureau of Efficiency.

On behalf of the Commissioners Maj. Donovan offered four amendments to the bill for these purposes: To limit expenses of the proposed commission to $20,000 a year, to require the commission to report every two years instead of every four, to require citizen members to be bona fide citizens with a residence of at least three years, and to eliminate language in the bill authorling the commission to make recommendations for legislation not dealing with the fiscal problem.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT IN WIDENING OF PIKE

Suit Filed by Pair in Upper Marlboro Court, Citing Alleged Injustice.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PARLEY

Seeking to enjoin the Maryland State Roads Commission and the mayor and council of Laurel from widening the Laurel section of the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard, George W. S. Musgrave and his wife, Mrs. Anne S. Musgrave, have filed suit in the Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro. A rule to show cause returnable Monday was issued by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly.

Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave claim in their petition that they have spent a large sum of money to build a concrete sidewalk 6 feet wide, concrete gate posts and a specially constructed iron gate and hedges and that these would be destroyed if the widening project is carried out in Laurel. The bill also charges that the town council has no right to grant to the State a public easement on the sidewalks of the town along Washington avenue inasmuch as the sidewalks were built and paid for by residents and not by the town which has never acquired title to the property.

It also is alleged that to widen the boulevard through the town would make Laurel a speedway and that the plan to widen the road to provide for four lanes of traffic is impossible because of two rows of parked vehicles along the curbs and that this therefore is a "shameful waste of the public money."

The annual meeting of the Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Club will be held today in the parish hall of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Bladensburg. The meeting will open at 9:30 o'clock with the registration of delegates.

The Rev. M. W. Derr, rector of St. Luke's, will give the invocation, followed by the Salute to the Flag under the leadership of Mrs. W. E. Thorne, chairman of American Citizenship. The address of welcome will be made by Mrs. W. E. Shegogue, for the hostess club, the Women's Club of Landover, to which Mrs. R. S. Allen, county president, will respond. Mrs. L. G. Sasscer will then report for the program committee and Mrs. T. A. H. Miller, recording secretary, will read the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Reports for the year will be presented by Mrs. G. A. Castle, treasurer; Mrs. W. L. Preston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Sasscer, who is vice president; Mrs. Luther Munson, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the committee's slate, and Mrs. Violetta Donald will report for the auditing committee. Mrs. M. W. Derr will report for the credentials committee and Mrs. C. D. Church, hospitality chairman, also will report.

Mrs. J. Enos Ray, State director, and Mrs. Earl Chafee, State vice president, will addrgss the meeting. Music by the Glenndale School Harmonica Band will conclude the morning session.

Election of officers will be held during the luncheon hour. During the afternoon session there will be a musical program and several talks.

The report of the election will be made at the afternoon session by Mrs. J. H. Hopkins. Musical programs have been arranged by Mrs. H. House and Mrs. R. I. Bowie.

The mayor and council of Laurel have fixed the town's tax rate for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $1 on each $100 of assessed property.

A delegtaion headed by William Coombe, Washington attorney and county resident, appeared yesterday before the county commissioners to present a petition signed by 86 taxpayers and residents asking that Constable A. C. Thompson, of Oxon Hill District, be appointed a county policeman.

The commissioners informed the delegation that appointments to the police force are made upon recommendation of the sheriff, who also is chief of police, and suggested that the petition be taken to Sheriff Charles S. Early for consideration.

BUDDY POPPY DRIVE WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Hoover Commends eVterans of Foreign Wars on Annual Project.

FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

Encouraged by a letter of commendation from President Hoover the Veterans of Foreign Wars will open their annual buddy poppy drive on Friday for disabled veterans in Government hospitals.

The poppies are actually made by veterans in hospitals, and part of the proceeds go to them. Every cent taken in on the sale of poppies goes to the relief fund of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

There are no salaries, no commissions, no paid solicitors and no luncheons.

President Hoover's letter to the organizations follows:

"Commander in Chief,
"Veterans of Foreign Wars
of the U. S.,
"Washington, D. C.

"My Dear Commander: The annual 'buddy poppy' campaign, under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, is a fitting symbol of the sacrifice of those who died in the service of our country, and should remind us of the obligations and sacrifices demanded of all good citizens in times of peace.

"The fact that the funds derived therefrom are being used for the maintenance of National Home for Widows and Orphans of deceased veterans and other relief, including the fact that the manufacture of these poppies gives employment to disabled former service men, in the hospitals and elsewhere, adds to the worthiness of the cause. I am glad to give my hearty indorsement to this worthy enterprise.

"Yours faithfully,
"HERBERT HOOVER."

BANK ROBBER DROPS LOOT AS CLERK SHOOTS AT HIM

Baltimore, May 20 (A.P.).—A robber staged a single-handed holdup of the Calvert Bank's branch at Gay and Mounment streets today but fired at by a clerk, dropped a bundle of bills totaling about $650, and fled with nothing to show for the robbery.

There were no patrons in the bank when the man, wearing spectacles, laid a pistol on the counter and demanded money. Eddie Carr, young clerk, tried to attract the attention of the man in the next cage, but after a delay handed over several packages of bills. As the bandit started out of the door, Carr fired once, the bullet so disconcerting the man that he dropped the bills.

TRAFFIC QUIZ ASKED OF PRINCE GEORGES

Ritchie Wants Inquiry Into Charge Linking Bondsmen and Magistrates.

A. A. A. PROMPTS ACTION

The Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday considered the letter written to them by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie in which they are asked to investigate charges of the American Automobile Association that county constables are collaborating with bondsmen. The letter was referred to M. Hampton Magruder, counsel to the commissioners, for study and recommendation.

The commissioners, however, are believed to have no jurisdiction in the discharge of county constables, it having been asserted four years ago in another case where the governor asked the dismissal of a constable, that the only way to dismiss constables is to convict them of felony in court, which automatically dismisses them from office.

State's Attorney J. Frank Parran, of Prince Georges County, who also received a letter from the governor, said yesterday that he had not completed his investigation of the affair and that he would take appropriate action when he had completed his inquiry.

The automobile association claimed that motorists were being arrested and charged with exceeding a speed of 60 miles an hour, an offense which requires bond in Maryland, and after they had paid $100 for the bond the charge had been changed to exceeding 40 miles an hour, a much less serious offense, before they reached police court.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Learning to drive an automobile is considered by the traffic authorities to be a serious task. If a motorist desires to teach a friend how to drive, he must not only be a licensed driver, but the regulations further prescribe how many persons may be in the car while the lesson is in progress.

The instructor must be seated beside his pupil and no one else may be in the car. One purpose of the regulation is to prevent an unlicensed driver in the case of a joy-riding party giving the excuse that he was learning how to operate the car.

Example: A driver goes out with a friend to teach him how to drive. The pupil's brother goes along to observe the lesson. The regulation is violated even though the third person may occupy a rear seat and in no wise interfere with the safe operation of the car.

Cuban Liberty Day Featured At Reception

Ambassador and Wife Hosts at Brilliant Embassy Event.

By JEAN ELIOT.

"OFFICIAL Washington" seemed to be present en masse yesterday when the Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara entertained at a brilliant and beautiful reception in celebration of the anniversary of Cuban independence. There was present also a distinguished group of resident Washingtonians to take part in this colorful fete to mark the birthday of a neighboring nation.

Guests made their way up the great double marble stairway, carpeted in scarlet, which is the handsomest architectural feature of the embassy, to the drawing room floor and found the Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara receiving in one of the smaller reception rooms. Senora de Ferrara wore black lace—a fabric to which she is partial and which is vastly becoming. Her gown was made in the graceful mode of the moment, with the skirt touching the floor at the back.

Members of the embassy staff, with the ladies of the group, assisted the hosts.

Flowers seemed to be everywhere. All about were great bowls of white peonies, red gladioli and blue larkspur, and on the buffet table, which ran the length of the ballroom, were low placques of yellow roses and blue lupin. Another buffet was laid in the dining room, each serving as a focal point for animated groups. Moreover, many of the guests found their way to the balconies overlooking the garden to smoke and exchange greetings.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, was an early arrival, looking very handsome in a gown of bright blue crepe, with a small black hat. The Senate and the House were generously represented, as well as the administration contingent; and, if there were any of the diplomats missing, they were out of town. Young people were numerously present, as they are at most of the parties given by the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara, who are exceptionally popular with the younger group.

U. S. Artists Tour Europe In Off Season

Mrs. Townsend Seeking Talent for Concerts Next Month.

Traveling through Europe to study the work of new artists—new at least to the United States—who may possibly be presented in her series of morning musicales next winter, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend had opportunity to be present at a music event, which was recognized as important on both sides of the Atlantic—the European debut of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, with Arturo Toscanini conducting. And now she has arrived in London in time to hear Rosa Ponselle in her debut in Traviata at Covent Garden.

Echoes of Toscanini's triumphant progress—and the Philharmonic's—have been heard through the United States. But the account of the ovation accorded him in Paris, where his first European concert was held, as published in the Paris Herald-Tribune, brings a thrill to those of us here who know the work of the great master. It reads, in part:

"An elegant, gray-haired little gentleman with burning eyes walked onto the stage of the opera between a forest of 'cellos and violins last night, waited impatiently and half shyly for billows of applause to die down, rapped imperiously on the stand of the first 'cellist and swung the New York Philharmonic Orchestra into the opening bars of Beethoven's 'Heroic Symphony.' Immediately an incandescent spark ran through the audience, and quite suddenly one of the most distinguished gatherings the famous house has ever held became alive with energy and aflame with the beauty of a miracle taking place under its eyes.

Toscanini, the world's greatest conductor, had come to Paris.

"This rapid enkindlement of an audience drawn by the magic of the name of Toscanini mounted as rapidly through the evening till it literally swept thousands off their feet by the reading of the tremendous delayed climaxes of Isolde's love death at the close, when the amazing little man received one of the greatest ovations a Paris audience has ever given."

Besides Paris and London, Mrs. Townsend has visited such music centers as Vienna, Budapest, Prague and Brussels, in which capitals she met most of the young artists who are regarded as exceptionally brilliant in their own countries. And from this stimulating material she will select the group to appear, with some old favorites, at the morning musicales which she has made so delightful a feature of Washington's winter season.

Mrs. Edgar Kiess, wife of Representative Kiess, will return to her apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel this evening after passing a few days at her home at Williamsport, Pa.

HAVE US CALL for your mattress in the morning and it will be made new and returned the same day.

Six hours of sleep will rest you more on your new mattress than eight hours on one that sags and keeps muscles tense and tired. You rest so perfectly that you will not mind the alarm clock's ring—the rooster crowing—the dog barking—the thud of the morning newspaper on the porch. Even the clatter of the milk wagon may be forgiven.

In a few hours time we make a new mattress of old ones.

First the mattress is sterilized—230 degrees of heat kills all germs. Then the felt or hair is cleaned and its buoyancy restored.

A charming new ticking is put on and you have a new mattress at a cost of $4.00 to $9.00.

DISTRICT WINS POIN IN LABOR BODY FIGHT

Resolution for Separate Federations Loses at Salisbury Meeting.

BALTIMORE ASKED SPLIT

Special to The Washington Post.

Salisbury, Md., May 20.—The Baltimore Federation of Labor received a temporary setback today in their efforts to have the Maryland State-District of Columbia Federation of Labor dissolved in separate federations for the District and Maryland.

A resolution advocating such action was reported unfavorably by the committee by a vote of ten to six. The Baltimore representatives at the afternoon session did, however, succeed in having the resolution sent to the convention's law committee, which will again be before it tomorrow.

Failing to get favorable action then, Henry F. Broening, president of the Baltimore Federation and leader of the "revolt," said the proposal for dissolution will be taken directly to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Convict Labor Criticized.

A tentative canvass of delegates shows Hagerstown and Cumberland members aligned with Washington representatives in opposing separation. Baltimore had planned to have a representative of 59 labor unions at the convention, but 21 of these were not permitted seats or voting power in the convention because of a ruling of President William Green, of the American Federation, that they had not met the requirements of the charter which does not recognize a new member affiliated less than 30 days prior to the convention.

Broening explained his federation's attitude in seeking a Maryland federation is to make "more effective" the operations of State labor unions in economic and legislative matters which concern only Maryland members.

The convention attacked the practice of Marvland in permitting employment of convict labor where free labor may be used.

Baltimore, Hagerstown and Cumberland were put in nomination as the 1931 convention city for the federation.

Capital Men Nominated.

Irving C. Hamilton, Cumberland, was nominated for reelection as president; Frank J. Coleman, Washington, for reelection as secretary, and J. E. Toome, Washington, as treasurer.

Vice presidents nominated were Newton A. James, Washington; Lee Lackey, Cumberland; R. A. Dickson, Washington; John M. Reed, Washington; Charles C. Young, Washington; James J. Brahany, Cumberland; John L. Giest, Hagerstown.

Two Baltimore nominees, Joseph McCurty and F. H. Kirshaw, declined the nominations.

The federation unanimously adopted three resolutions condemning prohibition as having "greatly increased the amount of drunkenness, crime, deaths by alcoholism, and other evils," and urged the repeal of the Volstead act and revocation of the eighteenth amendment by enactment of another constitutional amendment.

Absentee Ballots for Iowans.

Iowans desiring to vote in the approaching State primaries may obtain absentee ballots from W. G. Ladd, clerk's document room, in the House Office Building. Applications for ballots must be made before May 24.

Appendicitis Afflicts Seven Brothers in Turn

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 20.—R. E. Cleek, prominent King George County farmer, is believed to have the champion appendicitis family in Virginia and perhaps in the United States or possibly the world at large.

He is the father of seven boys. At various tmes six of them have been victims of appendicitis and were operated on at the Mary Washington Hospital here.

Today the seventh son, Robert Cleek, age 16, was brought to the same hospital, where physicians diagnosed his case as appendicitis and he underwent an operation. All of the Cleek boys had appendicitis in regular sequence, starting with the oldest until today the youngest fell victim to the same illness.

Six new schools are to be named. Many suggestions have been submitted through coupons that were printed in The Post. All the suggested names will be given to the committee in classified form.

The favored ones will be submitted to the Board of Education. Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, is chairman of the committee. The other members are Dr. J. H. Johnson and Mrs. Philip Sydney Smith.

St. John's Cadet Corps Will Drill on Ellipse

The St. John's College cadet corps will hold its annual competitive drill at 10 o'clock this morning on the Ellipse. A trophy and streamer, donated by Inspector E. W. Brown, of the Police Department, will be presented to the winning company. Other awards will be made also.

The battalion will be led by Cadet Maj. Charles E. Monninger. Previous to the drill the cadets, in full dress, will parade with police escort down Vermont avenue to Fourteenth street, Massachusetts avenue to Fifteenth street and from there to the Ellipse.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS SEE SIGHTS OF PARIS

Four Groups Ready to Visit Graves in Soissons and Verdun Sectors.

MUST CARRY OWN SOAP

Paris, May 20 (A.P.).—All of the American Gold Star Mothers excepting the Suresnes group tonight were out in the old battle zone, at the end of their pilgrimage.

Tomorrow they will kneel beside the graves of their sons in five American military cemeteries and breathe the blessings so long delayed.

The sixteen mothers of the Suresnes party remained in Paris this evening. They visited the Cathedral of Notre Dame this forenoon and shopped after luncheon. Tomorrow will mark their third pilgrimage to Mount Valerien, where their war dead lie.

It drizzled nearly all day in Paris and much of the region traveled by the mothers, but as they were carried in large and comfortable sightseeing buses the rain made little difference.

Four of the five groups reached the towns where they will stay for the next few days, for visits to the cemeteries close by. The St. Mihiel group, going to the cemetery at Thiacourt, requires more than a day's automobile trip to reach its destination and so it remained overnight at Bar le Duc. The mothers will spend their nights at Nancy, a larger town, where the hotels are better.

The Argonne group will spend the night at Verdun and go daily to Romagne Cemetery. The Oise group will remain at Soissons, near Aeringes-et-Nesles Cemetery. The Aisne-Marne group will base at Chateau Thiery, close to Belleau Wood Cemetery and the Somme group will stop at St. Quentin, close to Bony.

All five groups were well to the last mother, including Mrs. Mary Whalen, of Cleveland, Ohio, who, thoroughly rested, had rejoined her companions after a sojourn in a Paris hospital. She went to Verdun.

The mothers were plentifully supplied with soap, having been informed by their guides that the small-town hotels do not furnish that commodity.

Senate Provides Travel Expenses

531 Clerks of Members of Congress Provided For in Amendment.

An amendment to provide travel expenses for clerks of senators and representatives was written into the 1931 legislative appropriation bill yesterday just before the Senate passed that measure.

The mileage would be allowed 531 clerks, one for each member. How much this mileage will cost has not yet been computed. As passed by the Senate yesterday, the bill calls for a total appropriation of $26,556,497, which is $555,656 more than allowed by the House.

Among the Senate amendments is one to authorize the architect of the Capitol to use an unexpended balance of $500,000 to reconstruct and embellish the Senate wing of the Capitol, and also to continue the work of relocating the Botanic Garden. The bill now will go to a Senate and House conference.

"IN THE PLAYHOUSE"

by JOHN J. DALY

PACKED houses on Ninth street attest the popularity of a performer, Hinda Wassau, considered by Jimmy Lake the outstanding drawing card in burlesque. "And if you don't believe me," says Mr. Lake, in passing, "watch what these movie people do when the time comes to feature Hinda in the all-talkies."

* * * *

'TWOULD be nothing new to see a star of burlesque become a celebrity in another field. Take the outstanding comedians of the musical comedy world, Clark and McCullough, Joe Cook, Leon Errol, Bert Lahr and so on down or up the line. They all started on "the circuit," played the Ninth street house year after year, and are now drawing down the big salaries.

SPEAKING of stars, Mr. Steve Cochran has one in his company, an actor who was a leading man in his own company years and years ago, though not so many that he counts himself among the old-timers. He is Ivan Miller, playing an important part in this week's production. He has been with the players for some time, in fact, and has a host of followers in town, but just where they follow him, of course, is a military secret.

SILENCE
"The Secret of Power is Concentration"
Emerson
When the great thinkers of the past had a momentous decision to make, they sought quiet and concentration—away from the noise and bustle of the crowds.
¶ Executives today need quiet for uninterrupted thought in guiding the nation's business.
¶ The Underwood Noiseless Typewriter cuts down office noises. Quiet typewriters bring quieter voices. No more harsh, resounding dictation; no more "broadcasting" of telephone conversations. Concentration, less nerve strain and a smooth-running quiet office are the result.
¶ The stenographer is especially pleased with the Underwood Noiseless—a visible-writing machine; strong and well-balanced; easily operated; and QUIET.
¶ It's more than a Noiseless—it's an Underwood!

650 MILES AN HOUR VISIONED IN PLANE

Motors as Big as Beer Bottle May Solve Ocean Flying.

WILL RISE 40,000 FEET

Berlin, May 20 (A.P.).—A tiny motor about as big as a beer bottle, with characteristics of both a blast furnace and a refrigerator, may solve ocean flying, believes Dr. Paul Heylandt, liquid gas authority.

Heylandt and Max Valier, rocket car pioneer, believe their experiments will lead to development of a special type of rocket-propelled plane which will shoot up 40,000 feet and travel at 650 miles an hour.

The motor, an elongated, pistol-shaped drum of hardest steel. It is a one-cylinder, valveless contraption, devoid of pistons or other movable parts.

Into the front end liquid oxygen is sprayed, while into the further end, near the exhaust, liquid fuel, such as wood alcohol, benzine, gasoline, or even fuel oil is injected.

At the entrance points of both components into the motor there are spraying attachments which diffuse the liquids over the entire hollow inside.

The liquid fuel is ignited as it comes in contact with the liquid oxygen. The result is a continuous, steady combustion which produces a recoil of 220 horsepower with a motor of only 11 pounds.

The best German automobile motors produce only about half a horsepower of propulsive energy per pound.

As the two components explode, they emit a steady stream of smokeless, sootless fire about a yard long. The noise is deafening, and easily greater than that of the 12 motors of Dornier's "Do X" combined.

The heat at the exhaust is such that, when Valier during one demonstration did not mix the two components correctly, the exhaust simply melted away. Cold produced by the liquid air is such that the conducting pipes accumulate a thick coat of frost.

"Our experiments with the rocket car are only a step toward our real goal, a motor for airplanes intended to go up into the stratosphere," Dr. Heylandt observed.

"One essential thing is that both components are so separated as to avert all danger of explosion.

"The rocket car will never be a practical proposition except for racing purposes," Dr. Heylandt stated.

"Naturally, no police authorities could stand for a car making such a noise and speeding along as fast as a rocket car, to be economically efficient, must speed.

"As soon as possible, therefore, we want to experiment with a rocket plane."

Good Posture Necessary For Fine Mental Work

Dr. Wynne Reports Results of Studies Made in New York Schools; Office Output Is Affected; Exercises.

New York, May 20.—Through tests made in the public schools by the health department, it has been found that children with poor posture generally do mental work of inferior caliber and consequently receive lower marks.

This is one of the penalties of poor posture outlined by Dr. Shirley W Wynne, health commissioner, in a radio talk recently.

"Good posture in civilized man is the result of training and the best time to begin that training is in childhood, before the body has become accustomed to wrong positions," said Dr. Wynne. "Parents and teachers can not begin too early to show the child how to sit, stand, walk and sleep so that all his muscles function without strain.

"The value of a good posture is twofold—it has both an esthetic and a physical value. When a man has a good posture he is apt to be both healthy and happy. When a man stands erect and straight he gives the aspect of being proud and courageous in his contact with the world. Timidity, fear and a feeling of inferiority are expressed by the cringing attitude of the slouch.

"In civil, perhaps more than in military, life men and women need the physical stamina acquired by a correct carriage. Good posture habits should commence with the baby when he starts to sit up. See that he has a hard pillow behind his back and does not lean over to one side of his carriage or chair. Do not allow him to become fatigued, for poor posture is often induced by weariness.

"Merely telling a child that he must stand straight is not enough to inculcate a good posture. Look into his diet, his sleep and the ventilation of his surroundings. Sufficient nutrition, air and sleep are necessary attributes of the straight body. The relationship between health and posture is interchangeable. Improper posture may be the result of poor health and fatigue, while poor health and fatigue may be the result of the improper posture. Adolescent boys and girls particularly need corrective exercises in posture, because they suffer from sudden rapid growth, which may cause undue strain on particular muscles. Good posture for a lifetime may be insured by careful attention to one's body at the 'teen age.

"In incorrect posture the normal curvatures of the spine are exaggerated and the muscles no longer bear an evenly distributed burden. When the correct standing position is assumed no muscle, no part of the spine is strained. Try standing correctly. Put your head up, your chin in, square your shoulders evenly, throw your chest out and keep your spine as straight as possible, with your abdomen in and your knees straight. Rest your weight evenly on both feet. An easy way of practicing this position is to stand with your back to a wall with head, hips and shoulders touching the wall and the heels four inches away from the baseboard.

"A practical method of inculcating correct posture is to take this position several times a day, with a member of your family or a friend as a committee of one judge. Or you might stand in front of a long mirror.

"All the effect of a good standing and walking posture is lost through sitting in the wrong position. When working at a desk or machine maintain the same position of the trunk as when standing, bending forward from the hips and not from the middle of the back or the shoulders or neck. Hold the body and the head in one straight line. Have your desk or table near you to prevent leaning over too far."

FRENCH WILL GET BRAZIL AIR LINE

Germans Lose in Vain Attempt to Establish Monopoly.

AWARD LONG CONTRACT

Lisbon, May 20 (A.P.).—France has beaten Germany in a fight for an air concession by which Brazil will be brought 15 days nearer Portugal this fall.

A 15-year contract has been awarded the "Aero Postale" and the "Gnome and Rhone" motor works the companies to furnish and operate planes from Lisbon to Africa and thence across the Atlantic to Pernambuco and Rio Janeiro. The flights are to be made via the Cape Verde Islands where a landing and fueling station is to be constructed, 320 miles out in the Atlantic.

The Junker Co., which is operating the Berlin-Canary Islands route, with boat connections to South America at Las Palmas or Santa Cruz de Tenerife, fought tooth and nail for the monopoly. It even persuaded the German government to lodge a strong protest against the cession to the French.

Germany was the more disappointed because the Junkers already held a concession from Portugal for passenger and mail service from Lisbon to Madrid. The Portuguese government argued that this concession, which was for one year, had lapsed because service between the two capitals was interrupted for the winter.

The French company is capitalied at $1,000,000. It is the first time that Portugal will be equipped with air lines connecting it not only with distant countries and its African colonies but with intranational lines extending throughout the entire country.

Flying fields, hangars, repair shops and stores will be maintained at Lisbon, Oporto, Coimbra, Braga, Aveiro, Santarem and Vizeu. It is even proposed to build an airplane factory, but this is only a remote possibility.

Man Awaiting Hearing Arrested Second Time

A man who described himself as George Wescott, who was scheduled to go on trial yesterday morning in Police Court on a liquor possession charge, was arrested while in a witness room off the jury court and charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Wescott is alleged to have become boisterous and to have declared that he would "beat up" the alleged informer who is supposed to have turned him in. Wescott is jointly charged with Skelly Roach, and both were arrested several weeks ago at Seventh and D streets northwest.

Two Capital Bills Passed by House

Avenue Fountain Is Approved; Naval Observatory to Get $225,000.

Two bills of local interest were passed by the House yesterday, the Watson bill to authorize Pennsylvania citizens to place a magnificent water fountain on Pennsylvania avenue, and the Britten bill authorizing an appropriation of $225,000 for the modernization of the Naval Observatory.

The fountain which the citizens of Pennsylvania desire to construct will rival anything of its kind in any of the capitals of the Old World, according to Representative Watson (Republican), of Pennsylvania.

The appropriation authorized for the Naval Observatory is the first appropriation for anything other than maintenance that has been suggested for the institution in more than 35 years. Both measures now go to the Senate.

KING GEORGE NEAR DEATH FOUR TIMES

World-Wide Travels Have Led British Monarch Into Various Perils.

ONCE DID 45,000 MILES

London, May 20 (A.P.).—Four close encounters with death and wide travels over the earth have colored the career of King George, whose twentieth year on the British throne closed May 6.

Typhoid fever nearly claimed his life in 1891, when, as Duke of York, he was serving as a commander in the navy. Another time, when he was in charge of a whaleboat towing a target for torpedo practice, a badly-aimed torpedo crashed into his boat and all the crew were thrown into the water, but were rescued.

During the World War on the king's second visit to the Western front a horse threw him and then rolled on him, crushing his chest and injuring his lungs.

Last year the king was seriously ill many months and at one time his life was almost despaired of.

King George has visited virtually all parts of the vast British Empire "on which the sun never sets."

He has shot game in China, carved his initial, a big "G," on the Great Pyramid of Egypt, visited the tomb of St. George and bathed in the Sea of Galilee and the River Jordan.

As a young midshipman, treated the same as other naval cadets, he sailed around the world on the H. M. S. Bacchante, an old-time sailing ship.

"A bloodthirsty old chap" was his description of Octewayo, a Zulu King he saw, and he became friendly with the Mikado of Japan.

Later, as the Duke of York, with the duchess, now Queen Mary, he traveled 45,000 miles and visited 17 British possessions. On that trip also he opened the first Federal Parliament of Australia.

The honest reason

THERE IS ONLY one real reason for smoking and that's pleasure. A pretty good reason after all. The cigarette you select in the long run will be the one that can contribute most to your enjoyment.

Camels are made with that idea in mind—the idea that genuine smoke pleasure is what you want in a cigarette.

When you try them you will find a refreshing difference—a mild, mellow richness of choice tobaccos—a blended harmony of fragrance, silky smooth—that makes smoking a delight.

The fact that more millions have chosen Camel than any other cigarette is a tribute to an honest product, marketed for an honest purpose.

Sweet Peas at This Time.

SO many letters are coming to my desk, each bringing the same question: "What shall I do to make my sweet peas bloom? The vines look healthy, but I want flowers, not foliage."

There is only one answer to this question—keep them growing. Early in the season I advised you to sow your sweet pea seed early. I even advocated starting them in the house, in pots, when possible. If you did this they will have had an early start, and should by now have developed a good, strong growth. In this case the dry weather of early summer is not apt to injure them in the least. Four or five days advance sowing of sweet pea seed frequently spells success.

When the dry weather, we are so likely to have in early June sets in sweet peas stop growing. About this time myriads of aphis appear. If however you can succeed in keeping your vines growing you need pay little attention to the aphis, as this insect rarely attacks healthy plants, preferring half-dead, stunted plants on which to feed.

To keep your plants growing you must water them every day that it does not rain. This does not mean merely pouring water on the soil. It means sprinkling the tops of the plants and seeing that water reaches every stem and leaf.

If you give your sweet peas plenty of water and cultivate the soil in which they are growing every few days, and then about the middle of June give them weak liquid manure, all will be well. You will thus force them to start sending out new shoots.

Should a few of the more persistent aphis remain, even after this treatment, you can easily destroy them with tobacco powder. Dust this over the plants quite early in the spring, while they are wet with dew.

Another matter of great importance in sweet-pea culture is that of supports. If you do not give these plants proper supports they will fall over, and after they have once fallen, any flowers that develop will curl up on the ends and be of little further use. From the time the vines are 6 inches high they must be trained, and the more attention you pay to this phase of their culture the more delighted you will be with their blossoms. Well-trained peas always have long, stiff, straight stems.

The most practical and easiest method of support is to drive stakes into the ground 6 feet apart. These stakes are joined by strong twine run from stake to stake close to the ground, and from top to top. Then parallel lines of onion twine are run from ground twine to top twine. This forms an ample support for the vines.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Soft and supple silver lame makes the rich simplicity of this modern wedding gown for the very modern maid. (Courtesy of Jeanne Lanvin, Paris.)

Paris, May 20

DIDN'T I promise to show you the Lavin bride? Well here she is, in all her modernized medieval glory!

One can't help feeling how much in keeping with the elegance of the day is a costume like this, contrasting it with the orange blossoms and frills and ruffles of other days. Of very light silk and soft, supple silver lame, with the sleeves of delicately draped beaded chiffon, this gown after closely molding the figure, extends itself in a huge seven-foot long train cut as a part of the skirt.

In place of a veil, the hair is covered with a little cap of the same material as the sleeves. Really, for the rest the costume tells its own story of elegance and loveliness.

• • • •

Did I forget to remember to tell you about all the brown that is being worn for evening? Oh, lots of it, and the special shades are coffee beige, chocolate beige, and a metallic brown in tulle particularly.

Well, I'm sure I told you about the chocolate brown suede gloves that are worn, even with black, for evening. Sounds strange, but it's quite smart!

• • • •

Thought maybe you'd been making so many things lately for yourself that you needed a change! So what did I do but plan a man's pajama ensemble, the trousers, blouse and dressing robe, to make for him. 'Tisn't the easiest thing in the world to make but it isn't so difficult, either when you have the illustrated leaflet waiting for you in the Dare Department of The Washington Post. It's worth a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to get the leaflet, and worth all the time and trouble you put into it, just to see him "grin and wear it."

• • • •

If you happen to be unusually tall, there are lots of things you can do about it, what with the new modes being so intricate. For one thing, square, wide ruffles cut up the figure and cut off several inches—in appearance.

For another, going across the dress, on both blouse and skirt, will tend to flatten out what the rather long skirt does to height.

• • • •

Did you ever hear of a fur capelet as a part of a fur coat? Well you will hear of them in a few months, so just so that you will remember having read about them in the Dahray Collum, be advised that there will be fur capelets on some fur coats; and to avoid against an appearance of bulkiness, the fur of the coat underneath these capelets will be cut out and replaced with matching cloth.

The weekly Dare fashion letter, you know, appears in the big Sunday Washington Post every Sunday, and you should never miss it.

Au revoir.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

"Nature and Fathers."

DEAR Miss McDonald: I have read your article today on "Why Man is Conceited" and I feel sorry for the woman who is so "devoted" to either her husband or her offspring that she can not break away and maintain her self-respect! I have been married and will say this for my husband that, while we were engaged he took me everywhere and we never "sat out" an evening at home during the period immediately preceding our marriage. It was after we were married and a daughter was born to me that he started going out alone. Five nights of each week he dressed himself with painstaking care and strolled nonchalantly out of the house at about 7:45, often not returning until 11:30 or 11:45. And this, too, mind you, in a small town with only one vaudeville house and two or three movies houses. On the sixth night he would keep on his old working outfit and start off for his mother's house at about 7 p. m., and come back about 10:30 p. m., full of very old "Nick." He had been home to get primed for another week, and his mother, who dislikes me, was a good primer. Fortunately, through the efforts of an older sister, I had obtained a good business education. And after he had abused me to the point where I felt that if I held on any longer I would lose my mind and end my days in an insane asylum, I made the break, clean and swift as a surgeon's scalpel, and have never returned to him, although I have seen him since and he has begged and pleaded with me to return. For the past nineteen years I have been "on my own" and have never asked him for anything. I am earning a good living, own my own furniture, have my own apartment and a pet cat, and I might add here that no man could give me anything better. All because I asserted my independence and while it happened in July, it was not the Fourth, I shall have my independence and expect to keep it until some one can show me something better. Can you explain his behavior?

"LUCKY" PENNSYLVANIAN.

"Explaining the behavior" of husbands is a profession in itself, but here goes. To begin with, we women will never apparently accept the fact that parenthood does not mean to the male of the species what it means to female. Nature willed it so. To the woman, motherhood is all-absorbing. To the man, fatherhood is just one of those things that you've got to make the best of. True there are men who are overjoyed at being fathers. But nature really does not expect such enthusiasm of them. She expects them to go out and hustle for food and clothes for the offspring while the mother stays at home wrapt in wonder at the miracle. It is because the mother must be tied down, that motherhood is made so entrancing for her. If mother felt about parenthood as fathers feel, most of the children would be brought up by the neighbors. But nature took care of all that, and so the young mother can spend hours just adoring her child. But the father, seeing nothing either beautiful or remarkable about a baby's cries, usually steps down the street after dinner to avoid them. And that's the beginning of a bad habit, but one that goes back to the Stone Age.

The wise young mother starts from the first to let her husband hold the baby, whatever the experts may say to the contrary. It may be taking advantage of the man's emotions but it sets up a relation between him and the mite in his arms that never could be accomplished in any other way. It is hard to make a real father out of an average man, but it's every mother's right to do what she can to accomplish that feat. Of course, after the child becomes interesting, then the proud father usually becomes "chesty." But in those first hard days he is small comfort, but that is really nature's fault, not his.

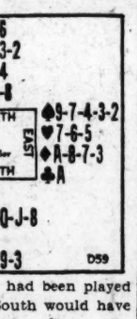
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE MADE MORE?



If the above hand had been played at Auction Bridge, South would have been the Declarer with a Heart contract.

At Contract Bridge South would start with a bid of two Hearts, North would jump to three and South, having more than a minimum two-bid, would make a game-going jump to four; so, in any event, South would be a Heart Declarer trying for a game at that contract.

When the hand was played, West opened with the King of Diamonds and East and West won two tricks in that suit, South ruffing the third lead of Diamonds. Declarer then exhausted the adverse trumps, and after that had to lose to the Ace of Clubs, but won the balance of the tricks.

Declarer, therefore, annexed an easy game; but was he entitled to it?

HOW TO SAVE GAME.

On the first lead of Diar onds, East should have noted the importance of obtaining a ruff and the possibility of doing it if South had two Diamonds West's lead of the King showed that he had the Queen of Diamonds, so East should have overtaken with his Ace at trick 1, and led the Ace of Clubs at trick 2; after which he would lead a Diamond at trick 3. Played that way, West would have won trick 3 and lead a Club to trick 4. East would have ruffed, and the game would have been saved.

Of course, overtaking West's King made North's Jack a third-round winner, but that was immaterial; game would be saved before the conceding of the extra Diamond trick to dummy could affect the play.

Readers of Dr. Work's column can see and hear him give a lesson at the Earle daily this week.

"TAURUS."

IF May 21 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m., and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Depressing influences will affect your mental atmosphere on this date, the time will prove your worries to be phantom ones. Do not try any get-rich-quick schemes, it is poor time for speculation. Unexpected news about an elderly person.

The child born on this May 21 will be highly emotional, and it will be inclined to exaggerate its joys and also its sorrows. If it has a bad temper, do not overexcite it with the prospect of treats, or make it over miserable with punishment—love and patience will win the day. Time will show that it is made of the right clay.

To the world in general, you'll probably put down as a plain John or Mary type person, possessing no spectacular traits. Your material and intellectual strata are probably ordinary ones. In that realm in which reason and intellect are left behind, and faith begins, however, you are big. You feel and believe beautiful sustaining things, which can not be comprehended or visualized by the less spiritual minded. Your religious faith is the illuminating factor in your life, and yet you make no outward demonstration of any creeds or doctrines. Your faith in humanity, your belief in goodness, truth and honesty, are revealed in your everyday life. The charity in your heart does not savour of hypocrisy. You are not a preacher, nor a teacher, but you do a great deal of good through your example, in the upholding of your ideals and principles, under any and all conditions.

There is a great deal of dignity about you, although you are not auster or severe. You have a quiet sense of humor, and there are more laughs than cries in your life. Your tastes are simple, and you enjoy simple pleasures. You know how to find peace and happiness, in spite of environment or conditions. You can sort the beautiful out of the sordid. A few recognize you as one of the salt of the earth.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

LET BOIL BOIL OVER.

DR. Leonard Williams thinks any man who lances a boil should be shot at sunrise. A man who cuts one out should be boiled in oil. This is the substance of his advice, though not his language, nor is it correct as to detail.

A boil lances itself. The ferments produced by the cocci liquefy the tissues around them, forming liquid pus. Given time, they liquefy to the surface and thus open the boil spontaneously. Opening by knife is premature and does harm. The cut goes through uninfected tissue and opens blood and lymph vessels that they may spread the infection. This may not be true if the boil has come to a head and is about to break.

Another cardinal sin in treating boils is to poultice them. The hot, moist mush or meat spreads infection. Secondary boils around the primary fellow is the rule when treatment has been by poulticing.

A third sin, productive of equal or greater harm, is squeezing a boil. Squeezing forces the infection into healthy surrounding tissue. It may cause it to get into lymph vessels and blood vessels and to be widely disseminated.

Having bawled out three common practices, Dr. Williams tells how he treats boils. In the first place, he uses just as little local treatment as possible. He may apply a protective pad to spare the boil from being rubbed or otherwise injured. He may apply glycerine and ichythyol compress. When the boil has opened he promotes drainage, but without pressure. He believes in the use of vaccines against boils. If he has had any experience with the boil phage he does not mention it.

This phage is supplied by some health departments, and it is for sale in the drug stores that handle biologic products. He says he has had good results with diphtheria antitoxin given for boils, though he does not try to explain.

He advises persons with crops of boils to regulate their diet. To start with a short fast, followed by a period of dieting in which sugars and starches are limited. In his British experience, drinking champagne has been highly productive of boils. It is forbidden. The regular diet should be rich in vitamins.

MAY HAVE TWO CAUSES.

S. K. writes: My baby is 10½ months old. Her urine smells like ammonia. Is there anything I can do for it? Have tried to give her plenty of water, but that does not seem to help.

REPLY.

There are two unrelated causes of this. If soap is left on the diapers by the laundry this odor may develop. If the baby is on a diet that is too rich this odor may result. Too much cream in the milk or too much milk may cause a tendency to acidoses which shows itself by this ammonia odor.

No wonder that the Goofus Slub
Is thought to be an awful dub,
He doesn't know the simple things—
Like why a man when bathing sings,
Or what is higher than high noon,
Or rarer than a day in June.
Why any modern child of three
Would know these things, it seems to me!

JEWS HIT PALESTINE IMMIGRATION BAN

General Strike Is Called for Tomorrow After Action by Great Britain.

LONDON GETS PROTESTS

Jerusalem, May 20 (A.P.).—A general strike throughout Palestine by Jews on Thursday in protest against suspension of immigration into the country by the British government has been proclaimed by the Jewish National Council.

The chief rabbinate of the Jewish Community of Palestine also has joined in the call, the first time that the spiritual leaders of the Jewish Community here have called a political strike of the Jewish population. The strike is to continue from Thursday noon until Thursday evening.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said that the meeting of the Jewish National Council, which issued the strike call, was attended by all members of the Palestine Zionist executive and by the Hebrew poet, Chaim Bialik.

Indignation Sweeps Land.

A meeting of the political committee of the Jewish Agency has been called for June 1 by Col. Frederick Kisch, president of the Palestine executive of the agency. The meeting is expected to decide on what political measures will be taken to counteract the decision for the suspension of immigration.

A spirit of intense excitement manifests itself among all parts of the Jewish population and indignation is reported sweeping over the country and reaching out into the most isolated Jewish settlement.

"Close ranks and break through the Galilean wilderness. We are crying out to you come despite the ban." This is the text of a cablegram sent today by the Jewish pioneer settlement Yavneli to the Halutzim (pioneer Zionist group) in Warsaw.

Paper Scores Action.

The Hebrew daily, Ha 'Aretz, said today that the Palestine immigration department while suspending Jewish immigration was permitting Egyptian labor to enter Palestine freely.

Criticizing the government, the Ha 'Aretz declares that it is now no longer conceivable that the constitutional reforms contemplated by the government will be adverse to Jewish interests. "Don't let the colonial office speculate," the paper says, "on the moderates among the Zionists. Constitutional changes will be possible only if Zionism is liquidated."

Huge meetings were planned in Tel Aviv and Jerusalem.

Protests Reach London.

London, May 20 (A.P.).—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency says that Zionist headquarters here have received numerous cablegrams from all parts of the world expressing indignation against the suspension of the Jewish immigration scheduled for Palestine pending the inquiry to be made by Sir John Simpson.

From Vienna, Warsaw, Berlin, Kovno, Paris, Antwerp, Buenos Aires and a large number of other centers of Jewish population protests are coming in. The messages characterize the suspension order as a severe blow to the Jewish National Home movement and urge the Zionist executive to take immediate measures to obtain the abolition of the order.

$10,000 Damage Suit Filed in Car Accident

Arthur E. Sixsmith, of 1629 Columbia road northwest, and his chauffeur, Will H. Contee, of 2921 Sherman avenue northwest, yesterday were sued for $10,000 damages as the result of an automobile accident November 12, 1928, on Fifteenth street northwest, near Euclid street, in which Frank Lewis, of 1510 Fuller street northwest, claims to have been severely injured.

Mr. Lewis, through his attorneys, E. Hilton Jackson and Louis O. Hodges, jr., tells the court that on the date in question he was propelling his push cart along Fifteenth street when the automobile belonging to Sixsmith and operated by Hodges crashed into the cart and threw its cargo of lumber on him. Lewis claims that the chauffeur was negligent in the operation of the automobile.

596 PASS ENTRANCE TESTS AT ACADEMY

152 CIVILIANS QUALIFY

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 20.—Candidates for midshipmen at the Naval Academy, designated from the enlisted personnel of the service, established a far better record in mental entrance examinations this year than did youths appointed from civil life, according to results announced by authorities of the academy today.

One hundred and forty-four men designated from the enlisted ranks took the regular examinations in April. Of this number 91, or 63.20 per cent passed. Civilian appointees who took the regular tests totaled 684, and 152, or 22.22 per cent passed. There were 48 appointees from the Naval Reserve of whom 15, or 31.25 per cent were found qualified. Those taking the substantiating examinations numbered 935, of whom 338, or 36.15 per cent were successful.

Altogether 1,811 boys appeared for the April examinations, of which number 596, or 32.91 per cent were found qualified. In addition, 129 qualified in the February examinations, making a total of 725 appointees who were successful. Out of this number the authorities anticipate the new fourth class will have a roster of approximately 600. Last year the total who passed was 772, and a class of 662 was obtained.

Forty-two young men who received their appointments from President Hoover are included in the list of those who passed. A large percentage of these are sons of officers or former members of the service.

All candidates who are entitled to appointment will be examined as to physical qualifications at the Naval Academy only, beginning early in June. They will be called in groups of between 50 and 100 daily.

Legal Battle Brews Over Spelhouse Will

A contest over the will of the late William H. Spelhouse, who died April 22, developed yesterday when Mrs. Selma Wells, of 4766 Fifteenth street northwest, and Mrs. Theodore Breuninger, of 1317 Decatur street northwest, daughters, filed caveats protesting the admission of the instrument to probate.

Charge is made that another daughter, Lorle E. Mitchell, who is named as the executrix of the will, unduly influenced the father, and that she recived one-half of the estate, while the petitioners received only one-fourth shares. The estate is estimated at $42,000. Attorney Edward S. Bailey appears for Mrs. Breuninger and Mrs. Wells.

Woman Witness Seized In Chicago Gang Death

Canton, Ill., May 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Marshman, 25, was arrested today on request of Chicago police who seek to question her concerning the slaying and mutilation last month of Harry Anthony, of Toledo, whose body, mangled by machine-gun slugs, was found on a prairie.

Police sought Mrs. Marshman after a clerk at the Greenview Hotel, in Chicago, told them she had been a companion of the man slain. She denied Anthony was slain by an avengeful sweetheart and said that Anthony came to his death because of attempts to "muscle in" on racketeers.

How I coaxed him to eat

"ONCE I was worried. Mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just 'minced' at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

It is a known fact that when a man's system gets "run-down," he hasn't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play. It is dangerous to let the red-blood-count remain below normal.

It is natural to expect, when you get your blood cells up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, and those skin troubles to disappear. You should get hungry again, sleep soundly, and firm flesh take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong and your nerves become steady.

You owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S. Its tonic effects will surprise you.

S.S.S.

S.S.S. is daily helping people to regain their strength. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It promotes a keen appetite, gives vitality to the body, clears the skin and wards off disease. All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

The "body" of The Washington Post "van" is constructed to carry your product safely and economically to its ultimate destination. The "engine" is geared to create superlative power and to shorten the time between departure and the arrival at RESULTS.

"Some of these vans go twenty miles an hour, some forty. Some cost $25 a day to operate, some $35. Some are equipped inside so that they can carry a large amount of plate glass, others are equipped to carry shoes. In selecting a newspaper . . . to carry your advertising message . . . it is vital to look under the hood and inside the body, to ascertain how fast it can travel and what it can carry . . ."

It would be foolish to hire a five-ton truck to deliver a basket of groceries, and it is no less ridiculous to buy thousands in newspaper circulation that is not productive when you can secure SELECTIVE circulation that most efficiently meets the requirements of your product.

The Washington Post is the ONE newspaper in Washington that offers concentrated circulation in the homes best fitted to appreciate and to respond to announcements of new products and services and most worthy of cultivation in promoting the sale of established commodities.

Capital City League Heads To Hear Two Team Protests

PROTESTS growing out of the initial Capital City League games of last Saturday and Sunday will be settled Thursday night at a meeting of the Capital City League officials.

Protests were filed by the Ballston A. C. Team of the Virginia section of the unlimited class and the Clark Griffiths of the insect class.

Loos and Deuterman Are at Odds.

Manager Loos of the Ballston Nine claims that the Bauserman Motor Co. Nine used a player named Layne in right field Sunday in a game with Ballston under the name of West. Manager Deuterman, of the Bauserman Motor Nine, maintains that he made an agreement with the Ballston manager before the start of play whereby Layne was to be permitted to play in the game. Managers of the two teams will meet at The Washington Post Thursday night at 8 o'clock to settle the dispute.

Two charges were placed against the Chevy Chase Cardinals by Morris Neidorf, manager of the Clark Griffiths. He claims that Dan Simpson, who hit a home run for the Cardinals Saturday, is under contract with two teams in the league, the Cardinals and Lionel Midgets. He also claims that the Cardinals batted out of order in the seventh or eighth inning and that he called the infraction to the attention of the umpire without any action being taken.

First Round Midget Schedule Out.

The Chevy Chase Cardinals were credited with an 11-to-10 win over the Griffiths. The Bauserman Motor Nine was credited with an 8-to-7 victory over the Ballston Team in eleven innings.

Alabama Declines V. P. I.'s Challenge

Tuscaloosa, Ala., May 20 (A.P.).—Wallace Wade, head coach of the University of Alabama, today declined the offer of Virginia Polytechnic Institute for a three-game series in a neutral city to decide the Southern Conference baseball championship.

The rival nines finished the season with the same average, .833, the Crimson Tide winning 15 and losing 3 while the Virginia Team was winning 10 and losing 2. Wade declined on the grounds several members of the team have finished final examinations and gone home.

Special to The Washington Post.

Farmville, Va., May 20.—Under sunny skies, the second day of Virginia Conference tennis tournament at Hampden-Sidney wound up with singles play through the semifinals and the doubles coming up to the semifinals.

Perhaps the best tennis of the day's play was provided in the semifinal match of the first division when Talbot, Hampden-Sidney sophomore star, took a fast match from Joslyn, of W. and M., runner-up last year in the tournament, repaying the Indian in like for the defeat at the same stage of the tourney last season.

Grinus, V. P. I. Frosh Star, Leads in Studies

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., May 20.—William Grinus, jr., the second freshman ever to win class numerals in four sports at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, stands at the head of a class of 500 in academic work. Grinus is from Orient, Ill., and met requirements for athletic awards in football, boxing, baseball and track.

He played tackle on the freshman football team which copped the State title last fall, boxed in the heavyweight class on the first-year boxing team last winter, set new records in the weight events on the freshman track team, and alternated in left field on the yearling nine. In the State track meet on May 10 Cadet Grinus shattered the V. P. I. State, and possibly the Southern record for freshmen in the shot put with a heave of 51 feet 8½ inches, using the 12-pound ball. He was undefeated all season in the shot and discus and led the team in scoring with 70 points.

He is setting new records also in the classroom, where his averages for the three-quarters rank with the best recently made by any first-year student in electrical engineering.

9.5 Century By Tolan Is Accepted

International Track Group Recognizes 16 New Records.

Spencer, Barnes and Krenz Are Honored; Hamm Topped.

BERLIN, May 20 (A.P.).—Eddie Tolan, Negro flier of the University of Michigan, was officially recognized today as the world's record holder for the 100-yard dash and the first sprinter in history to cover the distance in less than 9 3-5 seconds in a well-authenticated race run without starting blocks.

The little, bespectacled sprinter from Michigan was clocked at 9 5-10 seconds in the Western Conference championships at Evanston, Ill., May 25, 1929. This performance was accepted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation this afternoon as the official world's record.

Tolan's time, made in a memorable race in which he defeated, among others, George Simpson, of Ohio State, supersedes the 9 6-10 figure, which several sprinters were able to equal but never to beat officially in the long history of the sport.

Wykoff's Recent Record Not Considered.

Charley Paddock once turned in a 9.5 but it was refused recognition because the I. A. A. F. did not approve of tenth-second watches at that time. A 9 4-10 performance by another californian, Frank Wykoff, was too recent for submission to the present meeting of the international body.

Four other records made by Americans were accepted by the federation at its session today, but the application of Simpson for approval of his 9 2-5 mark, made last year, was denied because starting blocks were used.

All told, sixteen new world marks were inscribed upon the record books as the federation considered for the first time the great performances registered in the Olympic year of 1928 and in the period since then.

The four records set down to the credit of Americans in addition to Tolan's "9.5" 100 were:

47 seconds flat for the 400-meter run, made by Emerson Spencer, former Stanford University track captain.

14 feet 1½ inches for the pole vault, made by Lee Barnes, former University of Southern California athlete.

3 minutes 13 4-10 seconds for the one-mile relay, made by an American Olympic quarter consisting of George Baird, Morgan Taylor, Ray Barbuti and Emerson Spencer in a dual meet with Britain shortly after the last Olympics.

In addition to this, Tolan was credited with having equaled Charley Paddock's record of 10 4-10 seconds

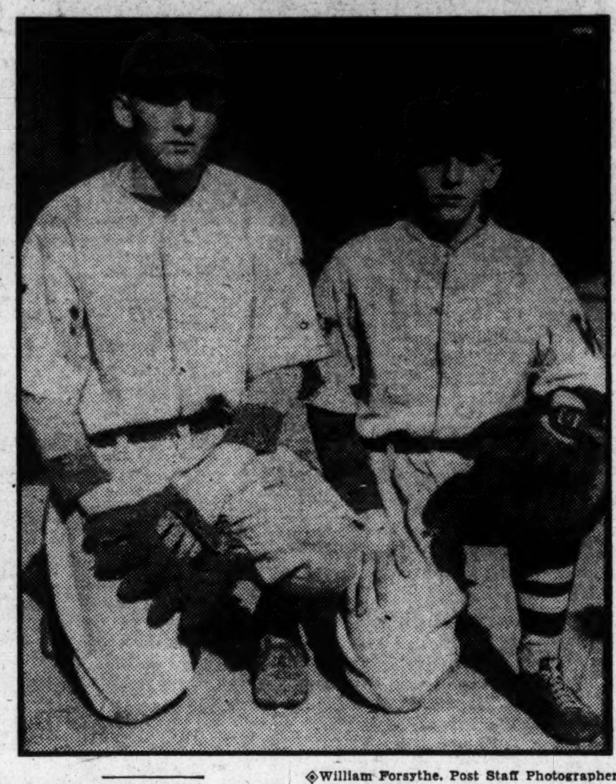
Central Defeats Western, 11-2; Cooke Brothers Star



William Forsythe, Post Staff Photographer. Jack (left), and Dick Cooke, sons of Representative Edmund F. Cooke, of Buffalo, N. Y., proved heroes for Central High in yesterday's 11-2 victory over Western in the championship series.

Family Battery Turns in Best Performance of High Series.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

'TIS a well-known and admitted fact that "too many cooks spoil the broth," and this proved to be the case in the Wilson Memorial Stadium yesterday when Pitcher Jack Cooke and his brother Dick, who did the receiving, featured the play in Central's 11-to-2 victory and spoiled Western's afternoon.

While these two sturdy sons of Representative Edmund F. Cooke, of New York, were showing local fans how they used to perform for their old high school team in Buffalo, when they established quite a reputation as a "brother battery," Central looked like an entirely different team in ringing up its first triumph of the championship series.

Lowest Scoring of Series Is Done.

With Jack on the mound and Brother Dick behind the bat, Western was held to the lowest number of runs of any losing team so far in the series, and had not an error cropped up with two out in the seventh inning, but one run would have been gleaned from Jack's slants.

It wasn't hard to believe that this pair had often worked together in the past, so well-teamed did their actions seem to function for the good of the team, and the only question asked by Central's fans was, "Where have these boys been all year?"

The few times that Jack was in trouble, Catcher Dick would stroll out to the pitcher's box to admonish words of brotherly love, and in no instance did Jack fail to benefit from the advice. And once, when Jack uncorked a wild pitch with Eastern Nine Faces Test Against Business Today

Eastern High's Baseball Team can clinch its third successive interhigh title this afternoon by defeating Business in the second game in as many days at the Central Stadium. By winning today the Lincoln Parkers would ring up their third victory in the series, a feat impossible for any of the other nines, who have all played three games. Although still having the Western Nine to play, Eastern could lose that game and still retain its position at the top of the heap.

Although prospects are gloomy for a victory in its last game of the series, Business still hopes to upset the two-time champions, in order to assure itself of some share in the title. A win for the Stenogs would give it no worse than a tie for the championship at the end of the regulation season, necessitating a play-off should Eastern defeat Western in the last regularly scheduled game.

Max Punched In Workout, Likes It

Schmeling Gets Hard Work From New Sparring Mates.

By MAX SCHMELING
(As Told to Jimmy Powers).

ENDICOTT CITY, N. Y., May 20.—I have just had the worst workout of my training and everybody seemed to get excited about it and I even saw some of the people laughing because this time I was getting the punches and not the sparring partners. That is good.

I am pleased at finding two such clever young men in Don Petrin and Stan Poreda. They are ten pounds lighter than me, are very fast and have two good left jabs. I need them to sharpen my punches. I thanked each one of them after the workout and that is unusual, don't you think? Ha, ha! I take a lot of lefts and I thank them for it.

You see, I know I have power in my right and left. I tested it out on Vincent Babin and Henry Gerkin. I see them fall day after day, and so I know my punch is there. Now I need to box more and develop my own left and learn how to avoid those lefts of Petrin and Poreda. Swish, I hit Gerkin and down he falls. Swish, I hit at Petrin and he is not there. I speed up my feet. I sharpen my eyes. I speed up my arms and I sharpen my jabs.

Thinks Jacobs Is Shrewd.

There is method to my work. I think Joe Jacobs is very shrewd to pick me such men and I know he knows how to train me correctly. I do not care if some days I look what you call bad or sour. That fight that I want to win is not in the gymnasium here at Endicott. It is in that Yankee Stadium in New York. The man I want to hit is not a light, shifty clever fellow like Petrin. The man I want is 20 pounds heavier, bigger and slower. I will get the range hitting small fast men and then I go in the ring against a big man and a better target.

A good left hand is the hardest thing in the world to get away from. I am going to work now more and more on by left hand. My right is o. k. I am satisfied and confident of

Yanks Beat Red Sox, 7-4, in Ten Innings

Boston, May 20 (A.P.).—Two relief pitchers, Herb Pennock, of the New York Yankees and Ed Durham, of the Red Sox, staged a great battle from the fourth through the ninth innings today, but Durham weakened in the tenth and gave the Yankees three runs and a 7-to-4 victory.

Durham gave the Yankees just one hit from the time he relieved Horace Lisenbee with none out in the third until the extra inning began. Then he walked Combs, Lary and Lazzeri singled and Gehrig doubled to score the three counters. Pennock also went in in the third and gave the Red Sox only three hits in eight innings.

Lou Gehrig hit his seventh home run of the season in the second inning with Lazzeri on base.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

Jones, Liska Named by Johnson

Boston Here for Six Games; Double Bill for Tomorrow.

Cochrane Proves Real Scribe in Comparing Nats and Macks.

By FRANK H YOUNG.

FOLLOWING a two-day respite, Manager Walter Johnson has his Nationals ready to step out against the Boston Red Sox, who open the final series of the present home stay with double-headers this afternoon and tomorrow. It will be the old-timer, "Sad Sam" Jones, and the young underhanded flinger, Adolph Liska, who draw the Washington hurling assignments today, with Milton Gaston and Danny MacFayden probably doing the mound work for the Red Sox.

These bargain day bills will be the first home ones of the 1930 season and will play an important part in the Nats' battle to maintain their one-game lead over the Mackmen in the league race. Incidentally, the Indians are only 2½ games back, in third place, and any faltering on the part of Johnson's men might prove mighty costly.

Particular interest will be shown in the work of Liska He was slow starting this spring, failing his first start and then doing well in relief roles on several occasions before being given another chance. He drew this latter against the world's champion Mackmen in a double-header in the Quaker City last Friday and how he fared is now ancient history. One swallow does not make a summer, however, and, before the underhander can be taken seriously, he must repeat

According to Manager Johnson, Liska, with any kind of breaks, should be one of the Nats' best pitchers this season. "He's finally gotten back the good curve he had when he started off so well last season before being knocked out of his stride by an injury, has a zip on his fast one, and has good enough control so that he does not have to sacrifice stuff to get the ball over," the Washington skipper commented last night, "and that's all a winning pitcher needs."

Liska's Work Highly Praised.

Some of Liska's mates have even gone further in their praise, one, a veteran on the team, too, going on record that he can not see how Liska will lose another game, provided he keeps in his present condition. In PHILADELPHIA, May 20 (A.P.).—With Babe Herman in the lead, the Brooklyn Robins assaulted three Philadelphia pitchers for 18 hits today and strengthened their hold on first place in the National League with a 16-to-9 victory.

Herman hit a home run and four singles in six times at bat, driving in six runs. The homer was his seventh of the season. Al Lopez also hit a homer. Every Brooklyn player got at least one hit.

Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban hurler, pitched the entire distance for Broklyn with only a few bad innings. The Phillies scored four of their runs in the fifth as Chuck Klein hit his tenth homer of the year with two on.

Browns Push Tigers Back Into Eighth Place

Detroit, May 20 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns pushed the Tigers back into the American League cellar today by winning the series final, 8 to 2, after dropping the first three games. The win put the Browns in seventh place.

The Browns put on a five-run rally in the seventh, driving Elon Hogsett off the mound. Heinie Manush was put out of the game in this inning by Umpire Van Graflan for heckling the umpire. Lena Blackburn, coach of the Browns, was ordered off the field for objecting to this action. McNeely replaced Manush and drove in two runs.

Garry Herrmann Granted $8 Weekly Typo Pension

CINCINNATI, May 20 (A.P.).—Recipient of $10,000 a year from the Cincinnati National League Baseball Club and believed to be wealthy in his own right, August (Garry) Herrmann, former dictator of organized baseball, applied for and was granted an $8 weekly pension by the International Typographical Union.

"Garry," for 25 years president of the Cincinnati Reds and chairman of the National Commission, ruling power of professional baseball, started life as a printer's devil. Although he left his boyhood profession, entered politics, succeeded in business and became a prosperous major league baseball magnate, he always paid his annual printing industry dues and took pride in belonging to the Typographical Union.

Several weeks ago old-time printer associates suggested that Garry was entitled to a union pension. Herrmann consulted Ben L. Mullich, secretary of Local Union 3 and found the union granted pensions after members reached the age of 60 and had served 25 years. Garry is 71 years old and became a member over 40 years ago. The executive council, International Typographical Union, Indianapolis, acted favorably upon Mullich's recommendation.

Mullich said pensions were granted only to members who had no income. Informed that Herrmann received $10,000 annually from the Cincinnati Reds, Mullich said he knew nothing about it and that under the union constitution all pensioners were given the right to work two days a week to add any possible income to the $8 weekly pension.

Herrmann and three associates purchased the Cincinnati Reds in 1902 for $150,000. The former served as club president until ill health forced him to resign in 1927 and the directors voted him a $25,000 bonus and $10,000 annuity the remainder of his life.

Sidney Weil bought the club last fall and announced he would pay Herrmann $10,000 annually until the former baseball leader died as an appreciation of services that "Garry," the father of the world series, had given to the national pastime.

Karl B. Finke, Herrmann's son-in-law, said Weil made good his promise and is paying Herrmann's annuity.

Cincinnati, May 20 (A.P.).—The Reds dropped their fourth straight game today when French, Pittsburgh portside pitcher, held them to four hits, the Pirates winning, 5 to 0. Bool's double, a balk and Bartell's sacrifice, accounted for the first and winning run in the second inning.

Miss Jacobs, Partner Win In French Title Net Play

AUTEUIL, France, May 20 (A.P.).—Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., was the only American to see action in the French hard court tennis championships today, but two of her compatriots advanced without striking a blow.

While Miss Jacobs and her Belgian partner, Irene Sicard, played in a drizzling rain to defeat a team of sisters, Veronique and Josephine Gallay, of France, 6—3, 3—6, 6—0, the All-California combination of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan was spared the trouble of playing at all.

Mrs. Moody, Miss Ryan Win By Default.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan advanced to the third round through the default of their adversaries, two obscure French girls, who took one look at the soggy courts and decided they did not want to get their feet wet. Mrs. Moody, the champion of the United States, England and France, was ready to go on and so was Miss Ryan.

A scheduled appearance of Bill Tilden and Cecile Ausem, of Germany, in mixed doubles was postponed.

Because of the disagreeable playing conditions, only a few matches were played and much of the interest centered about the committee rooms where the tournament officials announced the seedings for the singles championships.

That Tilden still ranks second only to Henri Cochet, now that Rene Lacoste is not playing, was shown by the fact that the seeding committee named him immediately after the 1929 world's championships on the list of leading players.

No Hesitancy in Rating Tilden No. 2.

The American title holder was given the No. 2 position in preference to such players as Jean Borotra, of France; Jack Crawford and E. F. Moon, of Australia; Lyttleton Rogers, of Ireland; Baron H. L. De Morpurgo, of Italy, and Takeichi Harada, of Japan. Wilbur Coen, of Kansas City, was named twelfth of the men's list.

There was no hesitancy about giving Mrs. Moody the No. 1 position in the women's singles, but the committee deliberated long about second place, finally deciding in favor of Elia de Alvarez, of Spain, followed by Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, of England, and Miss Jacobs, of the United States.

PARRISH STABLE WINS TWO AT CHURCHILL DOWNS

Stock Market, Rich Widow Winners

Jean Valjean Beaten by Nose for Shed Rownes Purse.

Donoghue Scores at Belmont With Tara's Hall.

CHURCHILL DOWNS RACE TRACK, Ky., May 20 (A.P.).—J. W. Parrish scored a double win today when his 3-year-old chestnut filly, Rich Widow, captured the Shed Rownes Purse, a sprint of 6 furlongs for 3-year-olds and upward. Retort, from W. Reed's Stable, was second, and Dr. Parrish, coupled with Rich Widow, was third. The distance was covered over a heavy track in 1:17. The race was worth $1,100 to the winner.

Rich Widow, away slowly, gradually improved her position, but was forced to give up ground rounding into the turn. She then came to the outside of the leaders where the going was best, and under a good ride by Jockey P. Neal was up to win in a hard drive by a head.

Retort, always close up, raced courageously through the stretch and disposed of Dr. Parrish near the end to take the place by two and a half lengths.

Dr. Parrish went into the lead right at the start and only faltered in the final drive to take the show by a nose from Jean Valjean, the favorite. Five started and the winner paid $5.76 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

The Parrish Stable had previously won when Stock Market led home a field of nine in the fourth number.

Pat Donoghue Earns High Rating.

Belmont Park Race Track, May 20 (A.P.).—Pat Donoghue, son of the famous English rider, Steve Donoghue, is making quite a name for himself as a steeplechase pilot at this course. Young Donoghue has shown himself to be an artist at the difficult business of guiding horses over the jumps. He has also shown fine judgment in rating his mounts. Last Saturday he rode a perfect race to get the Dorwood Stable's Bangle home the winner of the Coligny Chase and today the lad came back and scored astride E. M. Byers' Tara's Hall by fifteen lengths.

E. M. Byers' Tara's Hall, 9-to-10 favorite, and ridden by Pat Donoghue, the Britisher, scored in a common romp in the Highlander, claiming steeplechase, run over the 2-mile course. It was really no contest, as Donoghue had the gelding under stout restraint for the entire trip and when ready let him breeze to the front. In the last half-mile Tara's Hall drew away and at the end won galloping by fifteen lengths. Bold Knight was second, two lengths before Stoney Lonesome.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WHISK ARROW, $10.48, $5.90, $5.80; ARLINE CONNOR, $5.50, $4.10; BONOBY, $4.10.

WHISK ARROW was sent into contention at once, raced around ARLINE CONNOR at head of the stretch and, taken in best going, began drawing clear after a brief drive. ARLINE CONNOR gradually disposed of BLEWAWAY in first three furlongs, saved ground into stretch, but could not withstand winner's challenge. BONOBY, never far back, but in close quarters to the far turn, moved up steadily thereafter and closed strongly to outgame DAVID L. Latter broke sluggishly and, forced wide first half mile, loomed up dangerously midway of the stretch, but faltered badly in final drive.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds, colts and geldings. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:34¼. Off at 2:38½. Winner, J. and V. Dodge's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLYING CHEROKEE, $12.24, $7.54, $4.64; AERIAL PRINCE, $42.54, $15.92; BRETT, $3.72.

FLYING CHEROKEE, away fast, but outrun to the final eighth where, taken to outside in firmest footing, wore leaders down and was going strongly at the end. AERIAL PRINCE raced on outside of BRETT most of the trip, gradually disposed of the latter a sixteenth out, but could not withstand winner's rush near end. BRETT, under pressure and kept in deepect going, tired when the final issue came. TRYOR, far back and losing ground most of the journey, closed stoutly after reaching home stretch. BIG DOUG was in close quarters all the way.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:03½. Off at 3:05. Winner, Leader Stable's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOB KERNAN, $9.44, $4.24, $3.18; RUANE, $3.02, $2.38; MYTH, $3.64.

BOB KERNAN saved ground inside while improving position on back stretch, gradually disposed of AIMEE GOLDSMITH and, although holding a big lead near the end, was sharply ridden out. RUANE BEGAN slowly as usual, came with a rush on outside in stretch, but faltered in the final drive and just lasted to outstay MYTH. Latter suffered from much crowding and was used up racing into contention, then weakened badly in the stretch drive. MAIDEN'S TRYST came again in last furlong after being forced back on the turn. THISTLE STAR had no mishaps. AIMEE GOLDSMITH stopped after five furlongs.

FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:35. Winner, J. W. Parrish's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—STOCK MARKET, $11.84, $6.86, $5.76; UNCLE MATT, $6.80, $5.54; CHARIOT, $18.98.

STOCK MARKET, away fast, but taken back and reserved to stretch turn where, taking the lead with a rush, drew clear and was going handily at the finish. UNCLE MATT raced in close quarters first half mile, moved up determinedly when straightened in stretch, but was not good enough. CHARIOT raced sluggishly first five furlongs, then came with usual rush on extreme outside and was going best of all at the wind-up. VALDOSTA came strong from a slow beginning, raced into contending position midway of the stretch, but faltered near the end.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:00. Off at 4:02. Winner, J. W. Parrish's ch. f. †J. W. Parrish entry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RICH WIDOW, $5.76, $2.64, out; RETORT, $4.08, out; DOCTOR PARRISH, out.

RICH WIDOW slowly improved position with a loss of ground, came to outside of leaders when straightened in stretch and, taking the lead a sixteenth out, held RETORT safe in hard drive. Latter saved much ground and, racing strongly on inside through stretch, gradually disposed of DOCTOR PARRISH, but faltered slightly near end. DOCTOR PARRISH went into the lead at the start and held on courageously to the final drive, where he weakened slightly. JEAN VALJEAN, in close quarters first part of it, responded gamely when clear on far turn and, racing stoutly through stretch, just failed to get up for third place. RACKETEER was always outrun.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:32. Winner, J. N. Camden's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MINDORA, $5.32, $3.00, $2.68; DARK SIMON, $3.60, $3.10; MISS ELIZABETH, $5.00.

MINDORA, much used when reserved until reaching far turn and easily disposing of leaders when shaken up, drew out through stretch and was being eased at the end. DARK SIMON, forward from start, raced SOUTHLAND BELLE into defeat and, although holding on gamely, was no match for the winner. MISS ELIZABETH moved up steadily on outside after reaching far turn, continued well through stretch to close a good gap. SOUTHLAND BELLE was done after reaching the stretch turn.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:57. Off at 4:59. Winner, C. C. and G. Y. FLORHI began slowly and badly outrun first seven furlongs, moved up stoutly entering stretch and, wearing leaders down, rapidly got up in last few strides. BIG SANDY worked way up steadily while saving ground, took a short lead midway of the stretch, but could not withstand the winner's game challenge near end. NEVERMORE loomed up dangerously midway of stretch, then weakened badly last hundred yards. HIGH STORM was taken back when in close quarters on the turn and was used up racing back into contention; tired badly last sixteenth.

OLD BILL was always close up, but weakened. The others were always outclassed.

PUNKIE came from far back in last three furlongs and, under pressure, disposed of MYSTERY BALLOT in last stride. Latter, close to early pace throughout, only weakened at end. ROCKY WAY held on well after being hard ridden all the way. BOBBY BASIL stopped badly in last furlong after being a keen factor. INDIAN GUIDE ran as if he disliked the going, was blocked at stretch, but tired when in heavy going.

PRINCESS PEROXIDE, away fast, displayed most speed throughout and held others safe to finish. LAURA NEGLEY, closest in contention throughout, held on gamely through stretch drive, but was not good enough. MISS NOAH ran evenly. MASTER HALLIGAN had no excuses.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. The Springfield. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:20. Off at 4:20½. Winner, J. J. FASCISTE, away well, came on inside to win going away when HEAD COVER tired. KING AT ARMS ran well, followed pacemaker throughout, holding on determinedly in final stages. HEAD COVER went wide on first turn, opened up a long lead, but could not sustain it, tiring badly in stretch. ED REES had no excuses. WATER FOWL was never a contender.

MAX SMILES AFTER HARD TRAINING

Schmeling Is Jabbed by Lighter Sparring Partners.

my right and that is one worry off my mind. As the training goes on day by day you eliminate one worry or problem after the other. I have my feet strengthened and my wind taken care of. I have my right punches hard and well. I have my shoulder and back muscles strengthened. Now, all I need is that important left.

Does Not Aim to Look Good.

I hooked Petrin once with it and as the days go by the average will increase. If I wanted to look good all the time, I would keep fellows like King Solomon in there. I once used Solomon for my sparring partner and had to let him go.

Working with clever men takes the monotony off the daily grind. Each afternoon I can now look forward to a fast interesting round with men who can protect themselves and put up a real contest. Then I can mark my improvement, yes?

Benny Leonard No Match For Sharkey in Workout

Orangeburg, N. Y., May 20 (A.P.).—An old-timer, Benny Leonard, the retired lightweight champion, volunteered as a sparring partner for Jack Sharkey today and got his nose nicely reddened with left jabs in a one-round bout. Leonard, weighing 163, still had much of his old skill for a round, but was easily outboxed by the Boston sailorman.

Leonard plans to box with Sharkey for a week. Jack boxed a round each with Johnny Grosso, Paul Cavalier and King Soloman and his work was impressive. He weighed under 200 pounds today for the first time since he started training for his fifteen-round championship bout with Max Schmeling June 12 in the Yankee Stadium.

DRAWINGS FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY TO BE MADE TODAY

U.S. Net Stars In Strenuous Workouts

Mexicans End Drills for Tomorrow's Zone Play.

Mangin, G .U., Aids U. S. Players in Preparation.

DRAWINGS will be made today to determine the order of the individual matches of the Davis Cup match between the United States and Mexico teams which opens tomorrow on the courts of Chevy Chase Club. The drawings will be conducted at the club at 12:45 p. m. by Abner Y. Leech, referee of the match, and the two captains, Fitz Eugene Dixon and Manuel Llano.

In spite of the prospect of an overwhelming victory, the United States players practiced industriously yesterday, going through two sessions, one before noon and the other between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The Mexicans also practiced and announced afterward that they will not swing their racquets again until the match opens at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mangin Participates In Practice.

Gregory Mangin, Georgetown University junior, and the tenth ranking singles player of the country, visited the scene to give some opposition to the doubles team of Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn during the workouts. Mangin paired with Berkeley Bell, who is being carried as a substitute, and dropped two closely contested sets.

John Doeg and George Lott, contrary to a report, also were present and played in a singles match. They will be relied on to score in the singles against the Mexicans.

The opening program tomorrow will consist of two singles encounters and an exhibition doubles match in which Mangin and Bell will oppose a pair from the United States squad yet to be named. On Friday the scheduled doubles match of the series will be followed by another exhibition. There will be an exhibition on Saturday also, in addition to the regular program.

High School Students Get Reduced Price for Tennis

Public high school students holding athletic association cards to the number of 250, will be admitted to the Davis Cup matches tomorrow at Chevy Chase Club for the reduced price per person of $1.00, it was announced last night by the committee in charge.

PITCHING OF LISKA IS HIGHLY PRAISED

addition to the natural advantage he has in being the only underhanded pitcher in the American League, making his offerings different from what opponent batsmen see except when facing him, Liska's shoots are all low ones with a decided dip. This accounts for the fact that batters, even those who like low balls, continually top their shots and get comparatively few past the infield, Liska himself always getting more than the average number of chances for his position.

Liska held the slugging Mackmen to but three scattered hits and shut them out last Friday. While nothing like this is expected of him today, it will be most surprising if he does not turn in his third victory of the season, for the Sox batters figure to be just the type against whom Adolph's subway shoots should be most effective.

Jones will be shooting for his fifth consecutive triumph. He was not particularly effective in his first three starts and failed to last the route, although being credited with victories, but his last time out found him with all of his stuff and indications are that, from now on, he can give any team a battle.

Two more games will make up a second bargain-day bill against the Beaneaters here tomorrow, Irving Hadley and Bob Burke being due to do the hurling in these engagements. If Hadley's performance against the Middies at Annapolis Monday is any criterion, he has "arrived" and will bring a lot of grief to all teams facing him from now on. While granting no hits against the Navy team, Irving fanned five in a row at one stretch, looking faster than he ever has been. Spots are being picked for Burke and Johnson believes that his young southpaw, who easily set down Chicago in his last start, should repeat tomorrow.

Catcher Mickey Cochrane, of the Mackmen, has turned scribe and each day publishes a masterpiece in one of the Quaker City papers. About three weeks ago, he discoursed at length on the relative ability of the Nationals and Mackmen, calling attention to the fact that the A's last season won enough games from the natives to give them the lion's share of the series before the end of June. "This is impossible this season," Mickey wrote, "because the schedule is so arranged that we don't meet the Washington Club enough times to do the stunt again this season." Is that the only reason, Mickey?

a runner on third, he didn't forget to cover the plate for Dick's throw after a quick recovery which showed the runner that it was safer to stay on his bag.

In fact, Dick's showing behind the bat was equally as admirable as his family's mate performance on the mound, the young receiver exhibiting a trusty throwing arm that proved fatal to alien base-runners on more than one occasion yeserday.

Even at bat, the pair showed the results of past associations, Dick three times driving his brother home. On base twice as the result of solid singles, Jack scored once on Dick's one-bagger and another time on a long sacrifice fly, while after he had walked in the second, Dick immediately sent him around on a base knock.

Outside of the antics of Cooke and Cooke, there wasn't much to interest the crowd. Central more than won the game in the first inning when it scored four times after two were out on an error, a walk to Thompson, and hits by Deveau and Cumberland. Freeman's triple, scoring Owens in the second, was the closest Western ever came to a tie.

In addition to the pleasure of a well-played game, another prayer was answered yesterday. Through the kindness of Mr. Charles E. Hart, principal of Eastern High School, the scoreboard of that institution was erected in center field and the correct status of the game was never in doubt. Hats off to Mr. Hart!

for the 100-meter dash on two occasions in his tour of Europe last year. De Hart Hubbard, former Michigan Negro star, was added to the list of those certified as having done 9 3-5 for the 100-yard event.

American hopes for world record recognition for the broad jump mark made in the national championships of 1928 by Ed Hamm, of Georgia Tech, were dashed when it was shown that Silvio Cator of Haiti, had beaten Hamm's mark by an inch with a jump of 26 feet ⅛ inch in a post-Olympic meet in Paris. Hamm's best was 25 feet 11⅛ inches in the Olympic broad jump championship. Hamm was first, with Cator a good second.

Paavo Nurmi added to his store of immortality in the record book with several fine performances recognized, among them a 10-mile running record that displaces a 26-year-old figure set by an old British star.

C. U. BEATEN BY HOPKINS ON TRACK

Quadruple Meet Fails to Materialize; Score, 72-54.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20.—What was to have been a quadruple track and field meet this afternoon at Homewood, resulted in a dual set of games, with Johns Hopkins defeating Catholic University, of Washington. The score was 72 to 54. Loyola College and Gallaudet failed to compete.

Eight track events were held and the Black and Blue won, five to three, and in the six field contests, the locals took two, Catholic University three and a tie for first resulted.

Stafford was the only two-time winner for Hopkins. He won both hurdles. Lockard, who ran the century in 10 1-5, could have won the 220, but for the fact that he eased up so that Linck could carry the varsity colors to the tape first.

C. U. Stars in Distance Running.

Catholic University shone to advantage in three of the four distance races. McGuigan won the quarter, Hickey the half, and Farris the 2 mile. Kelly, Hopkins, prevented a rout by galloping off with the mile. Krick won two firsts for the visitors in the field events. He took the running high jump and the running broad. McGrath scored a first in the discuss. Neither competing institution could furnish a winner in the pole vault. Quirk, Hopkins, and Quinn, Catholic University, reached 11 feet and called it a day.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Stafford (Hopkins); second, Hershey (Hopkins); third, Gerth (Catholic). Time, 16 seconds.

Sigma Nu Wins Frat Title at Maryland U.

A two-base hit by Bill Luney, a sophomore, formerly of Western High School, scored the two runs that gave Sigma Nu a 7-6 victory over Sigma Phi Sigma and the championship of the Maryland University Inter-Fraternity League yesterday at College Park. Luney inserted his timely blow in the seventh inning when Sigma Phi Sigma was leading, 6 to 5.

Warren Rabbitt, another former Western High athlete, also contributed to the Sigma Nu triumph with a sensational relief pitching performance. He relieved Zerkel in the first inning and held the losers to one run over the balance of the route.

American U. Defeats C. U. Netmen, 6 to 3

American University successfully closed its first tennis campaign when it defeated the Catholic University Team, 6 to 3, on the Congressional Country Club courts yesterday.

Mrs. Merrill was 2 up and 2 to play, but Mrs. Brand evened the match. The struggle thereafter continued until, on the twenty-seventh hole, Mrs. Brand lost by taking three strokes from off the green. First round results yesterday were:

Mrs. Hume Wrong defeated Mrs. Granville Fortescue, 6 and 5. Mrs. J. M. Carlisle defeated Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, 2 and 1. Miss Susan Hacker defeated Mrs. Arthur Foraker by default. Mrs. John F. MARYLAND U. NINE PLAYS MIDDIES

Batson Expected to Hurl Old Liners to Victory.

MARYLAND UNIVERSITY hopes to succeed where Georgetown University failed when the Old Line Baseball Team tackles Navy this afternoon at Annapolis, starting at 4 o'clock. A small army of Maryland athletes and students will take part in the invasion of the Middie stronghold, the varsity tennis team being billed to engage the Navy racqueters and the freshman tossers listed for a game with the plebes.

Maryland, with "Black Jack" Batson, star right-handed pitcher, ready to perform, is confident of at least giving the Middies a strenuous argument. Georgetown went to Annapolis last Saturday strongly favored by the dope, but bowed to the embryonic admirals by a score of 5-3. Their own misplays had as much to do with the Hoyas' defeat as anything that the Middies did.

Batson, who has won six games while losing none for Maryland this year, is probably as good a pitcher as there is in college ranks hereabouts. And since it is a generally accepted belief that a good college pitcher is better than a good college batter it is logical to assume that Batson will afford the Middies plenty of trouble, winning or losing.

Given even fair support afield and at the bat, "Black Jack" should hurl the Old Liners to a much-prized victory. Last year the Tars rallied in the ninth to nose out the Old Liners, 11 to 10.

CLOSING RALLY AIDS STOCKS IN RECOVERY

Steel and General Motors Lead Late Upturn in Active Turnover.

UTILITIES PROVE HEAVY

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—Under the impetus of extensive operations on the short side, stock trading resumed more familiar proportions today. It was largely a bears' market, although substantial buying orders, as well as short covering, during the last hour served to cancel earlier losses of 3 to 5 points in most of the leaders, which were lifted moderately above the previous close.

The day's sales totaled 3,526,400 shares, the best volume in nearly a fortnight, but strenuous and persistent short selling was required to shake the list out of its recent rut. U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric and others were liquidated freely until the late dealings, when signs of an oversold condition appeared and purchases of stock on the scale-down were swelled by large buying orders for the prominent shares. As the shorts covered, the market rallied rapidly and closed strong.

Steel and General Motors led the late upturn. The former, which had been shoved down to 166⅛, only ⅜ above its low for the year, came back to 170⅛, where it finished with a 2-point net gain. Motors, bought in blocks of 5,000 shares or more, moved from just above 47 to 50 for a 2½-point advance. General Electric recovered a 3-point decline.

Trend Professional One.

The price movement was clearly professional. Selling of Steel was accelerated somewhat by unofficial reports that the industry's ingot production this week had dropped to an average of 75 per cent of capacity, against 76 per cent last week, 96 per cent a year ago, and was slightly less than 82 per cent at this time in 1928.

Other items in the news, including a few unfavorable dividend actions, seemed to lend strength to bear sentiment, although the belief was expressed in some quarters that pessimism, as well as optimism, could be overdone. However, few observers were willing to revise their opinion that the market was facing a period of marked irregularity during which profits would be readily taken on rallies and stock accumulated on declines. Uncertainty over the tariff appears to be an important factor just at present.

Calumet & Hecla Consolidated Copper declared a dividend of 50 cents, or half the previous disbursement. Gotham Silk Hosery omitted the quarterly payment of 62½ cents, announcing that in view of unsettled conditions in the industry the directors had deemed it advisable to preserve the company's financial position, which was said to be strong. Mergenthaler Linotype failed to declare the customary extra.

Credit Rates Unchanged.

The credit situation remained unchanged. Call money was plentiful at 3 per cent and there were some concessions from that rate on the outside, but the demand for funds was slow. Time money was steady.

Utilities, as a group, were heavy, and the rails dull, although Union Pacific moved up 5 points despite a reduction of about $600,000 in April net operating income, as compared with last year's figure for the same month. J. I. Case went through one of its wide moves, advancing 7 points before the directors declared only the regular dividend and failed to make an anouncement concerning a split-up. The stock then dropped 17 points from the top, but recovered to 328 for a 3-point net gain. American Tobacco B lost several points and then rallied, to finish 4½ points higher. A large list of stocks made only small net changes.

Grain prices declined. Wheat sold offf 1⅛ to 1½ cents on bearish Oklahome and Canadian crops news. Corn eased 1 to 1¼ on bearish Illinois crop reports. Sugar was quiet and irregular. Cotton closed steady, 5 to 12 points higher.

European currencies were firmer, with sterling cables up slightly.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 20 (A.P.).—Creating a precedent, oats today temporarily became the price leader of the grain trade, and pulled values down all around. A selling flurry to stop losses on the part of holders of oats futures resulted in new bottom prices for the season on every oats future except May.

Stop loss selling spread from oats into wheat, and had a bearish influence on corn. Favorable crop prospects for oats started the selling, and revealed that the oats market was without any aggressive support from buyers.

All grain closed weak at practically the day's lowest level, with oats and wheat both 1⅛@1½c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1@1½c down, and provisions varying from 2c decline to an equal gain.

Oats took their greatest plunge in the final hour of trading. Throughout the day, however, wheat and other grain showed more or less tendency to sag owing to auspicious crop news in this country and Canada. Besides, export demand for wheat gave no evidence of any significant activity, and quotations on Argentine offerings abroad were reduced. On the other hand, wheat exports from France were quoted higher.

Except for reports that black rust has developed in wheat on bottom lands near Minneapolis, Kas., and Abilene, Kans., the general tenor of domestic wheat-crop advices, especially Southwest, was favorable. A leading Chicago field observer wired from Woodward, Okla., that a gradual improvement of the crop prospect has been noticeable on his entire trip, and there were authoritative Canadian advices at hand describing the Canadian crop outlook as excellent for at least the time being. European dispatches, however, said unseasonable cold and excessive rains were prevalent and that in France and Italy danger of damage by rust is evident, should a rise in temperatures take place.

Corn values were heavy from the start owing to better weather over the corn belt. Besides, country offerings of corn were larger, though mostly above the market.

Provisions were easy, responsive to downturns in hog values and in grain.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—Cotton prices here today again showed a disposition to move contrary to the weather news. There was an early decline in the new crop positions of 5 to 8 points under moderate liquidation, based on a decided improvement in the weather, but yesterday's selling had apparently left the market in a firmer technical position, and prices later worked up rather easily on covering and trade buying. July advanced from 16.30 to 16.34 and closed at 16.30, an advance of 8 points, while new October advanced from 14.74 to 14.92 and closed at 14.87, an advance of 8 points. The general list closed steady at 5 to 12 net lower.

The opening was steady, 7 higher to 4 lower, and early in the day was under moderate selling, due to generally clearing weather conditions over most of the cotton belt and to an absence of rainfall in the flooded districts. Offers were not large at any time and the market throughout the day failed to develop any notable activity. Trade buying of the old crop months, with more or less covering in the May position for last trading day on Friday, gave these positions a show of stability, and the new crop months, after declining moderately, rallied. Closing quotations showed only moderate declines from the best of the day. New Orleans and Liverpool interests bought moderately and there was a fair commission house demand, evidently in expectation of an unfavorable weekly crop bulletin tomorrow. May advanced from 16.10 to 16.22 and new December from 14.82 to 15.02.

There were 142 May notices reported issued, and in addition 4,900 bales were said to have been delivered in the Savannah market under an agreement with the buyer. The Liverpool market was easier, although it was said that liquidation and Egyptian selling had been absorbed by Continental buying and calling.

Exports today were nil and for the season totaled 6,409,121. Port receipts, 18,279. U. S. port stocks, 1,710,787.

ADVANCES IN BONDS HEADED BY CARRIERS

Despite Lazy Start Active Sales Impart Firmer Tone to Market.

SHARE ISSUES RECOVER

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—The bond market made an indifferent start, but a good finish today. The languidness displayed for many days was minimized as trading was accelerated, imparting a firmer tone to standard issues, particularly rails.

The volume was considerably above that of the past few sessions and accumulations were most extensive in the high grade domestic group and convertibles. The latter, which have been strongly reactionary of late reflecting the bull share market, were able to recover most of their lost ground.

Another notable feature was the improvement in United States Government bonds. Broad trading continued in foreign bonds, but on the whole, price changes were small.

Erie 5s Lead Rails.

Banks and corporations appeared to have come into the market today more extensively than they have for some days. The heaviest demand among rail issues was for Erie 5s, and Pennsylvania 4½s, which gained more than half a point each, and St. Louis, San Francisco 4½ and 4s, which ended more than 1 point higher. Gains of ⅛ to ½ were made by many others, while recessions were generally on thin sales. St. Paul 5s, one of the most active issues, lost ¾ of a point.

Widest fluctuations were shown by industrials. Cuba Cane Products 6s sagged 1 point to a new 1930 low at 25. American Beet Sugar 6s lost 2½; Colorado Fuel & Iron 5s gained 1½. East Cuba 7½s rose 2 points.

Japanese Group Strong.

Foreign bonds moved within narrow limits. Argentine, Chilean and Brazilian governments were little changed, and western European governments, particularly German 7s and Belgian 7s, showed an upward tendency. Japanese bonds as a group were strong the new government 5½s and Tokyo Electric Light 6s moving up, the latter more than a point, on a good turnover.

Trading in American Telephone 4½s was the heaviest in many days, the convertible moved irregularly, dropping 2½ points, but closed only ½ lower. General Theaters 6s of 1040, International Telephone 5s of Philadelphia, Reading Coal & Iron 6s were steady to firm at the close.

United States Governments showed new life and gained good fractions. Liberty 1st 4¼s, an inactive issue, led the group with a gain of 1 12-32s on the sale of two bonds.

Time Tested Shoes

WHEN Government chemists wanted to know the wearing qualities of shoes tanned by a certain process, they enlisted the aid of Washington postmen. The men were instructed to keep a record of the length of time a pair of shoes was worn. As postmen are known to be hard on shoes, accurate knowledge of this particular tanning process was obtained.

The time test can be used to find out the merits of investments, too. For instance, when First Mortgage Notes have been issued for more than sixty-one years without loss to an investor, there must be a scientific factor that makes such a record possible. What makes these First Mortgage Notes secure—safe and sound—is that they are used to finance some of the finest properties in Washington, where the demand for better housing facilities is always on the increase.

Time tested by a record of more than 61 years, these notes yield the unfailing income of 6 per cent annually and are now available in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and upwards.

ECONOMIST IS HEARD AT BROKERS' EVENT

Successful Trusts Depend Upon Common Sense, Says Ray Vance.

FOUR TESTS ADVANCED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

"The future of investment trusts in general or of any particular trust depends upon the application of business experience and of everyday common sense." This was the most pertinent comment of Ray Vance, economist, in his address for the fourth annual convention of Associated Stock Exchanges in Minneapolis.

Addressing the organization, of which Eugene E. Thompson of this city is president, and the Washington Stock Exchange, a member, Mr. Vance emphasized the fact that investment trusts in the United States are still in the stage of development, but he also stressed the point that common mistakes made by trusts of this country in the past have been generally corrected and it can safely be said that investment trusts business in this Nation today is in an enviable position.

In summary, the following tests for an ideal investment trust management were set forth by Mr. Vance:

Wide Experience Stressed.

1. Some individuals in it should have records long enough to establish their efficiency as investors under the conditions created by the great bull market panics, wars, long depressions and sweeping changes in financial or commercial methods or in industrial processes and public tastes.

2. They should have had direct experience with the peculiar problems of investment trusts.

3. The experience should include familiarity with international conditions for these affect even a portfolio of exclusively American securities.

4. The number of the qualified individuals should be great enough to insure continuity of management policies and efficiency in case of the death, disability or resignation of any one man.

Data on Railroads.

The railroads of this country in the first three months this year made capital expenditures for new equipment and additions and betterments to railway property totaling $223,772,000. This was shown by replies just received from the class I railroads of this country by the American Railway Association as a result of a special questionnaire sent to them for the purpose of determining the extent to which the rail carriers have cooperated with the policy of President Hoover to maintain employment and business progress in this country.

Capital expenditures actually made in the first quarter of 1930 were $11,772,000 above the estimate of $212,000,000 for that period submitted by the railroads at the conference of industrial leaders held in Washington last December at the instance of President Hoover.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on May 10 totaled 933,931 cars the car service division of the American Railway Association announced yesterday. This was a decrease of 8,968 cars under the preceding week and a reduction of 115,029 cars below the same week in 1929. It also was a reduction of 68,480 cars under the same week in 1928.

Curb Review

New York, May 20 (A.P.).—The curb market was awakened from its drowse today with a rapid churning about of prices, which piled up total sales of more than 1,000,000 shares for the first time in several days, and left stocks irregularly higher.

Leading issues sold off sharply in the early hours of trading, then rebounded even more swiftly in the last half hour in sympathy with the sharp upturn on the big board. Most of the more active shares fluctuated over ranges of 2 to 5 points.

Electric Bond & Share dropped 3 points, then rallied to close fractionally higher. American Superpower and United Light A were also firm at the close. American Gas and American Light sold off 4 and 3 points, respectively, then reduced their losses to 1 point each.

In the natural gas group, Duquesne, a comparatively newcomer, was well bought, reaching a new high record level at 17. United Gas, Appalachian, Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line and Memphis moved in narrow ranges.

Oils were highly irregular. Vacuum dropped about 2 points to a new low for the year and made partial recovery. Cities Service, after selling off about 2 points, closed down ¾ The Indian Territory issues were off about a point at the finish. Humble was up 2, and Gulf down 2⅝.

In the specialties Louis Phillipe A stock sold up a point to 22, equalling the year's high, in response to the announcement of a consolidation with Neet, Inc., and another cosmetics manufacturer, but Neet failed to make notable response.

Cooper Bessemer was a firm spot in the industrials, rising a couple of points to a new high, evidently in response to a favorable analysis by a private statistical agency. Driver Harris rallied about 5 points. Deere sold up about 5, lost its gain, and closed up 2½. Aviation stocks were largely dull, although Irving Air Chute was again in fair demand.

In the investment trusts All-America General sold up a couple of points, evidently in response to report of a merger with Atlas Utility, but lost part of its gain when the report was denied by the management. Atlas sagged.

Potatoes Selling At Steady Prices

Cost of Beets and Carrots Rise as Lettuce and Tomatoes Drop.

Firm markets for potatoes and cabbage are features of the producing regions, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics announced yesterday. Strawberries were reported selling slightly lower with the time of heaviest supply nearing. Prices of tomatoes and lettuce were declining under heavy carlot movement. Cucumber shipments were active and prices of beets and carrots advanced slightly.

The 1930 watermelon season opened the second week of May with two cars from Florida. Shipments from southern Texas are expected to begin during the third week of May, but heavy movement from that State probably will be during the first week of June. Acreage in Georgia and South Carolina will be increased.

Though acreage of potatoes was increased about 9 per cent in the nine early States, yields may prove less than expected on account of the drought. A total crop of 21,332,000 bushels is expected in this group of States this season, an increase of only 2 per cent over last year. Condition of the early crop in seventeen States was 83 per cent of normal on May 1, an increase of 3 per cent over condition on April 1 and about the same as at the same time last spring.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

Standard Brands.

E. R. C.—Will you kindly forward me your analysis of Standard Brands?

Answer—Dividends of 37½ cents quarterly, or $1.50 annually, are now being paid on the shares. Net income for first four months since organization of company, to December 31, 1929, was $5,268,252, equal to $37.09 per share on preferred and 39 cents per share on common. Net income for full year 1929, including income of predecessor companies, was $18,344,391; equal, after preferred dividend requirements to $1.37 per common share.

Combined earnings for year ended December 31, 1928, of predecessor companies were $22,388,679. At end of 1929 current assets were over ten times current liabilities, reflecting strong financial condition.

Packard and General Motors.

Miss M. L. R.—I desire some information on Packard Motors and General Motors common and an opinion on both these stocks. How are they regarded?

Answer—Not only on account of the present dividend of $1 a share annually, but more particularly because of the seemingly bright outlook for the Packard Motor Co., that stock is very well thought of as a low-priced speculative investment. It is anticipated that the company will derive a vast amount of benefit, in the way of increased revenues, from the steadily growing use of the Diesel type of engine now being so generally installed in aircraft.

Operations of General Motors Corporation for first quarter of 1930 resulted in net income, excluding equity in subsidiary results, of $44,980,197, compared with $59,807,011 in March quarter of 1929. Net income, including equities in undivided profits of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated for March, 1930, quarter amounted to $44,968,587, equivalent, after preferred requirements to 98 cents per common share, compared with $61,910,987, or $1.37 a share, in first quarter of 1929. Notwithstanding the falling off in earnings, the stock is very highly regarded from a speculative-investment viewpoint.

Mavis Bottling.

S. F.—I would greatly appreciate your opinion of Mavis Bottling at prevailing quotations. Do you think that with warm weather approaching, there might be a rise in this stock?

Answer—This column never ventures to make predictions concerning future market movements in any stock. Considering that Mavis Bottling has never issued any statement of earnings, has paid no dividends, and according to balance sheet of December 31, 1929, had an excess of current liabilities over current assets of $192,105, the stock is by no means attractive

Seaboard Mortgage Co.

R. H. S.—Can you give me any information concerning the Seaboard Mortgage Co. of Baltimore, Md.? I understand they have stopped paying the quarterly dividend since the stock market crash.

Answer—Company evidently publishes no statement of income account, as none is available. It is therefore impossible to determine cause for the suspension of dividend payments on common and preferred shares, latest disbursement on which took place March 31, 1929.

Austin Nichols; American Piano.

A. S. R.—Kindly give me information on the stocks of Austin Nichols & Co., and the American Piano Co. Please give me an outline of the plans of reorganization of these companies.

Answer—Under date of April 29, 1930, preferred stockholders of Austin Nichols & Co., Inc., were notified that, in accordance with recapitalization plan providing for exchange of one share of prior A stock and one and two-tenths shares of new common for each share of preferred held, stock was to be deposited with Guaranty Trust Co., New York, in order to be exchanged. Letter added company intended to place a prior A stock on $3 annual dividend basis and would inaugurate dividends on quarterly basis beginning August 1, 1930. Holders of common stock were notified to deposit their old certificates with Guaranty Trust Co., New York, which would issue new common stock in exchange.

Under reorganization plan of American Piano Co. it was announced that for each share of preferred stock deposited in assent to plan there would be issued without payment therefor three shares of new class A stock and a warrant entitling holder upon payment of $10 to receive $10 face amount of new debentures, one share of new class A stock and voting trust certificates for eight shares of new class B stock.

These warrants would be issued at a date fixed by the reorganization committee and would expire 15 days thereafter. Their exercise was not obligatory. Each share of common stock of American Piano Co. upon payment of $1 would be entitled to receive $1 face valdue of new debentures and one-tenth of a share of new class B stock. April 15, 1930, was fixed as the final date for holders of preferred and common stocks to deposit their shares with the committee. The Irving Trust Co., of New York, is the depository.

Eastern Utilities Investment.

H. B. S.—I have held Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation class A stock for some time, and would like to know what the dividend prospects are?

Answer—The A stock is thought to be selling considerably below its intrinsic, when figured from earnings and "bake-up" value. Security holdings of this company are chiefly those representing public utilities and properties allied with that industry. From the list of directors, it would appear that the bankers for the company and its management are high grade, as are its investment holdings, which now approximate $80,000,000.

The A stock is entitled to a $1 priority dividend before the class B stockholders receive a cent. The 1929 earnings available for the A stock amounted to $2.28 per share, and if the management pursued the same stock dividend policy of other utility investing companies, earnings would have equaled $2.49 per class A share. Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation appears to have considerable attractiveness, in view of the earnings, for payment of a dividend on the class A stock.

MONTGOMERY ROAD PLANS PROGRESSING

Estimates Near on Cost of Poolesville-Sycamore Highway Project.

COUNTY PERMITS ISSUED

Estimates of the cost of construction of the Poolesville-Sycamore Landing road are now being prepared, it was reported yesterday to the Montgomery County Commissioners. The survey of the road has been completed by the State Roads Commission and it is believed that the road will be under construction within a short time. The cost of the highway will be paid for with the proceeds of a bond issue which will be assessed against the district in which the improvement is made.

Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, was instructed to write to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad officials and urge them to hasten the construction of the Boyd underpass. The funds from a $25,000 bond issue are on hand to pay for the construction of the underpass which is to be built by the railroad. The commissioners were assured some time ago that the railroad would begin construction within a short time.

The commissioners issued permits for the operation of an amusement park at Chevy Chase Lake and for the continued operation of the Roma Gardens on the Rockville pike as a restaurant and dancing pavilion. Appointment of Lee Jones, of Silver Spring, as a county constable was approved by the county commissioners.

The preparation of the annual levy is in the last stages, and it is expected to be ready for signing about June 1. It is not believed that the tax rate will be changed, but this can not be definitely ascertained until the levy is completed.

The annual dinner of the Rockville Volunteer Fire Department is to be held tonight and tomorrow night in the firehouse. The dinner is one of unusual interest in Rockville and environs and large crowds are expected to attend, especially as Rockville is known for its whole-hearted support of fire department activities. The Ladies Auxiliary is playing an important role in the preparation of the dinner.

Trio Hurt in Crash Of Army Airplane

Second Craft Also Forced Down Near in Vicinity of Uniontown.

Uniontown, Pa., May 20 (A.P.).—Motor trouble forced an Army airplane to earth in a heavily wooded section of the Allegheny Mountains near here today. The three occupants of the craft were injured and the plane was badly damaged.

The ship, flying from Washington to Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, was occupied by Capt. J. A. Hill, pilot; Lieut. Frank Phillips and Midshipman W. S. Harper. They were brought to Burgess Field, Army field here, to continue to Dayton by plane later in the day.

All three were taken to the Uniontown Hospital for treatment and examination. Lieut. Phillips was believed the most seriously hurt, suffering sever lacerations of the face and undergoing examination for possible broken bones. Another Army plane, carrying Lieuts. James Powden MacQuisen, was forced down at Bennet Field near here because of the low ceiling existing at the time.

Judge Walter M. McCarthy of the Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday appointed Thomas R. Keith, John W. Rust and Fred D. Richardson as a committee to examine candidates planning to take the State bar examination this year, as to their moral character and fitness.

Henry T. Magarity, of McLean, was reappointed special policeman for Fairfax Couty outside of incorporated towns, on motion of Sheriff E. P. Kirby. He was required to post a bond of $1,000.

NEW ZONING BOARD TAKES OFFICE OATH

Members Select Brewer as Chairman of Arlington Group.

MOTORIST FINED $14.25

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The new Arlington County zoning appeal board, composed of J. Hammond Brewer, jr., Knox Julian, Maj. F. H. Goff, William P. Ames and Thomas J. Crack took the oath of office yesterday in the county clerk's office before Deputy County Clerk Ralph Remington.

Having taken the oath of office, the board met and perfected an organization with the election of J. Hammond Brewer, jr., as chairman; Knox Julian, vice chairman, and Maj. F. H. Goff, secretary.

This board will sit at the county courthouse from time to time to hear appeals which may result from the decisions of the county board of supervisors.

With this appointment made by Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy, all necessary machinery to carry out the provisions of the county zoning ordinance recently adopted by the county board of supervisors is completed.

Mrs. O. C. Rauh was elected president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Cherrydale School at the meeting held in the school auditorium last night. Other officers elected were: Charles Toone, vice president; Mrs. Fred Bortsback, secretary, and Mrs. C. Peck, treasurer.

The president announced that owing to this being the last meeting of the present school year, that the personel of the standing committees will be announced at the September meeting.

The association went on record as being unalterably opposed to the old Cherrydale School Building or any building that is adjacent to any public school building being used as a house of detention.

The Woman's Club of Lyon Village will hold its monthly meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Herbert F. Smith, 104 Virginia avenue. Mrs. A. M. Dawson will act as cohostess.

The Arlington District Council of Citizens Associations, meeting last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, at Clarendon, unanimously indorsed the proposed bond issue for a modern county-wide trunk-line sewerage system at a cost of $2,173,089, which the voters of Arlingon County will vote on Monday, June 9.

The secretary was instructed to send copies of the action taken to all affiliated associations and urge them to go to the polls on the day of the special election and support the bond issue.

Recognizing the need of bringing to the voters of the county all information possible not only on the bond issue for sewers but also for schools, plans for the holding of a mass meeting jointly with the Ballston Citizens Association on the night of May 27 at Ballston were completed.

WATER PLANT ROW IN ANNAPOLIS ENDS

HARMONY IS RESTORED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 20.—The tie-up of affairs of the Annapolis Water Co. through a political controversy that has seriously hampered general conduct of business for nearly two months, and caused more or less friction between its board of directors and members of the city council, has been amicably adjusted.

A harmony movement launched several days ago reached a climax when, at a special meeting of the water company directors, a resolution smoothing over all differences from both the Democratic and Republican viewpoints, was unanimously adopted. The net result is that the personnel of office and plant officials who served under the late Democratic administration will hold office until the first Monday in July, the regular period, to which they claim they were entitled, and all actions taken by the new Republican regime, as well as their predecessors, have been erased, it being agreed that neither had proper standing

Prior to the action taken by the water board, the city council also held a special meeting and adjusted certain matters of detail that paved the way for the final adoption of the harmony program. The water board resolution was in line with the spirit of harmony and bestowed high praise upon the incumbent officials for their long period of faithful service. These officials will resign formally in July.

The situation now is that the Republican administration will select a new set of officials. It is generally understood that Charles H. Sherman will be retained on the new slate as secretary and treasurer.

It develops that the law has never been strictly adhered to in the matter of naming a licensed plumber and licensed engineer, for the positions of superintendent and engineer, respectively, of the water works.

The legislative committee will be composed of George L. Turner, chairman, of Richmond; J. E. Peck, of Richmond, J. E. Hawkins, of Portsmouth; R. M. Mosley, of Danville, and Mrs. M. M. Walker, of Lynchburg.

Danville Is Selected.

Honorary officers, vice presidents of the Virginia Federation of Labor, elected this morning are T. N. Coleman, Alexandria; C. E. Arnold, Clifton Forge; Mr Kick, Danville; J. B. Jackson, and Alfred Hasse, Petersburg; James Gilgallen, Hopewell; Mrs. Jessie Campbell and W. M. Coleman, Lynchburg; M. L. Lathram, Fredericksburg; Henrie Robin and John Ross, Hampton; O. C. Moore and Walter Miles, Norfolk; C. E. Coltram, F. M Atkins, Sam Marrow, Newport News; P R. Benett, Portsmouth; W. D. Anderson, Richmond; B. C. Witt and R. L. Jefferson, Roanoke.

R. T. Bowden was elected delegate to the national convention of the American Federation of Labor to be held in Boston next October.

Danville, Va., was selected for the 1931 session.

The federation was addressed by the retiring president, R. T. Bowden, who was followed by Paul J. Aynon, president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, of Chattanooga. His subject was "Southern Organization of Federation of Labor." He was followed by Mr. Harwell, of Petersburg, a fraternal delegate from the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. He pledged the cooperation of the transportation brotherhood with the aims and objects of the State federation.

Women's Labor Reform.

The next speaker, who made the principal address of today's session, was Francis J. Gorman, a member of President Green's Southern organizing committee. He stated that the textile works of the South are coming into the union from Virginia to Alabama and that since the campaign started hours have been shortened, wages increased and working conditions have been improved.

There was a suggestion from the floor that the president be instructed to purchase for the federation a silver loving cup to be presented to Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, as a token of appreciation of the services he has rendered the federation. The suggestion was unanimously adopted.

An eight instead of ten-hour day for women workers was advocated in a resolution, instructing the legislative committee to have drafted and introduced in the 1932 General Assembly a bill to amend the present law which provides ten working hours a day for women.

Indorsement of the principles of the State insurance fund for workmen's compensation, as offered in a resolution, is expected to be adopted.

Tribute Paid to Rapp.

The Draftmen's Union presented a resolution asking that maximum retirement pay be increased from the present sum of $100 a month and the retirement age for draftsmen be the same as for mechanics. Also they asked for resolutions favoring four hours' work on Saturdays, all year round, with full day's pay for same, for all Federal employes.

A resolution for the indorsement of the George Washington Bicentennial program in 1932 was presented which asked that the invitation to participate be accepted.

At the banquet last night J. D. Rapp, of Clifton Forge, member of the executive board of the federation, was presented with an engraved jewel insignia of the Railway Carmen, which organization he has served for 25 years. The jewel was presented by Commissioner of Labor Hall, who is a past president of the Virginia Federation of Labor.

A movement is on foot to organize the teachers of Virginia under the American Federation of Teachers.

Following the threatened 10 per cent salary cut in Richmond, this movement to organize in locals, such as been established at Atlanta, Memphis, Raleigh, Columbia and many northern communities, is of much interest throughout the State.

Another resolution offered this morning relative to illiteracy indorses the principle of the George Hammer bill, now before Congress, which would grant to the States Federal money to combat illiteracy and which securely guards and maintains the administration of education as a State function.

Front Royal Plans Power Expansion

Council Agrees to Enter Into Contract With Electric Plant.

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., May 20.—At a special meeting of the town council, held Saturday, it was unanimously agreed to enter into a contract with the Page Power Co. to furnish to the Town of Front Royal all the electric energy needed by the town for its own uses or for the purpose of resale in the town and adjacent territory, at a lower and more favorable price than has been in effect heretofore.

The contract provides that the price per kilowatt-hour become less as the amount of electric energy purchased by the town increases. The contract is to run for the period of ten years, beginning November 1.

The Town of Front Royal owns its own plant, but the plant has proved to be inadequate. For the last several years the town has been compelled to purchase additional electric energy both for its own uses and for the purpose of resale from the Northern Virginia Power Co. Under the new contract the Town of Front Royal will save approximately 50 per cent on its purchase of current.

Prisoner Faces Charge Of Being Drunk in Jail

John Perry, serving time in the Alexandria jail, woke up yesterday morning to discover that one of those rare charges that bob up at long intervals on police blotters had been slapped against him. He had been booked overnight as "drunk in jail."

Perry left the jail Monday morning to labor all day with the city chain gang. He returned to the jail in an unmistakably inebriated condition, according to the jailor, who said that somebody evidently slipped the man a drink of liquor.
